ANNEXURE

In the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act filed by Shri Abdul Sattar, Token No. 2, L. J. New Shed No. 1, Weaving Department, B. Shift, a workman of Messrs. Kesoram Cotton Mills, against the aforesaid Company in connection with G.O. No. 2899-I.R./IR/8L-14(A)/61, dated 3rd June 1961.

BEFORE THE FIRST INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri S. N. GUHA ROY, Judge, First Industrial Tribunal.

Appearances:

For the applicant: Shri Patit Paban Pathak and Shri Arun Sen.

For the Company: Shri S. K. Basu and Shri K. P. Mukherjee.

This is an application under section 33A, Industrial Disputes Act, by Shri Abdul Sattar, a permanent workman working as Line Jobber in New Shed No. I, Weaving Shed of Messrs. Kesoram Cotton Mills Ltd. He claims to have been working in the Mills for more than 25 years. The application was filed on 3rd January 1962, when an industrial dispute between the Mills on the one hand and a Union of its employees was admittedly pending. Admittedly also Abdul Sattar was not permitted to work with effect from 18th December 1961.

The applicant's case is that he was dislodged from his usual place of work and forced to work in other places for some time. He brought this to the notice of the Factory Manager who instead of considering his grievances asked him in a letter, dated 9th November 1961, to get himself examined by the Medical Officer of the Company on 11th November 1961 because old age and infirmity rendered him unable to discharge his normal duties. The applicant went to the Medical Officer at about 9 a.m. on 11th November 1961, but the Medical Officer did not give him any certificate. He sent to the Company an application, dated 13th November 1961. The Company wrote to him another letter, dated 15th November 1961, telling him that unless he submitted the medical certificate asked for within two days, it would deem him medically unfit and his service would be terminated with effect from 18th December 1961. The applicant once more protested against this to the Factory Manager and told him again that the Medical Officer did not give him any certificate. In his application, dated 18th November 1961, he claims to have told the Company that if he were not allowed to work after 17th December 1961, he would deem himself wrongfully dismissed and would be compelled to take necessary action. Then from 18th December 1961 the applicant was refused work and was told that his services had been terminated.

In paragraph 9 of the application, the action of the Company in terminating his service is alleged to have been in contravention of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, without any indication of the part of the section contravened.

The Company in its written statement makes the case first, that there being no contravention of section 33, the application is not maintainable and secondly, that the applicant failed repeatedly to comply with the Company's repeated directions to get himself examined by its Medical Officer so as to compel it to tell him that if he failed to produce the medical certificate asked for, it would consider him unfit for work and terminate his service from 18th December 1962. The Company claims to have, in view of the report, dated 21st September 1961, from the applicant's departmental-in-charge about his inability to discharge even light duties with normal efficiency on the ground of his old age and infirmity, called upon him twice to get himself medically examined by the Company's Medical Officer once on 25th September 1961, and again on 13th October 1961. The applicant failed to comply on both occasions. Then he was given another chance by the Company's letter, dated 9th November 1961, to get himself examined on the 11th November 1961. Again he failed. In veiw of these repeated failures of the applicant, he was told by the Company's letter, dated 15th November 1961, that if he failed to produce the certificate he would be deemed to be unfit for work and his services would be terminated with effect from 18th December 1961.

The first question for consideration in this case is whether it has been proved that Abdul Sattar did present himself before the Medical Officer of the Company as he was asked to do and as he claims to have done.

The only witness examined for the applicant is the applicant himself, and two witnesses were examined for the Company, namely, Dr. Bhawani Das Bhattacharji, the Medical Officer of the Company and Shri L. N. Sharma, the Weaving Master, B shift.

Exhibit C is the report, dated 21st September 1961, from Shri L. N. Sharma against Abdul Sattar who, according to the report, worked as a line jobber till 14th May 1961 and was given lighter duties thereafter as he could not, because of his old age and infirmity, perform the normal work of a line jobber. The report then goes on to say that after a trial for three or four months Abdul Sattar was found incapable of performing even the lighter duty of a two-loom helper on the ground of his old age and infirmity. The report accordingly suggested his medical examination for finding out how far in the existing condition of his health, it was safe for the Mills to continue to employ him in the job.

Exhibits 1 to 5 are the original letters written to the applicant by the Factory Manager. These were produced by Abdul Sattar and marked on admission. In Ext. 1, the Company called upon Abdul Sattar to appear before its Medical Officer on 25th September 1961. Abdul Sattar does not mention in his application any letter from the Company earlier than the letter, dated 9th November 1961, i.e., Ext. 4. In his examination-in-chief he says, without mentioning any specific letter that the Company gave him a letter for going to the Mills' doctor. He did go to him and then there was a second letter from the Company to the same effect and he had other letters. He says he altogether appeared before the Mills' doctor thrice including the first occasion. In his cross-examination he says that he does not remember when he first appeared before the Mills' doctor nor when he last appeared before him, and that on the first occasion he examined his eyes, his pulse and chest. In his examination-in-chief he also says that every time the doctor examined him, he asked him to go to work.

As against this, there is the evidence of Dr. Bhattacherji, the Company's Medical Officer, who says from his out-patient register from 17th January 1962 to 10th March 1962 that Abdul Sattar did not turn up before him for treatment or for medical examination on the 25th September, 13th October and the 11th November 1961 and that he does not remember to have examined Abdul Sattar or to have told him to go to work. From his cross-examination it transpires that there was another doctor in the Mills also named Dr. Bhattacheryya from 25th September 1961 to 12th February 1962 but that he was no longer in the employ of the Mills. It further transpires that he was the R.M.O. and acted as M.O. only when Dr. Bhawani Das Bhattacharyya, the M.O., was absent on leave, but as he himself made entries in the register on the dates he spoke of, he could not have been absent on leave. This register admittedly does not contain any specific column for entries regarding persons sent for medical examination and this doctor admits having made such entries in the space at the top of the page allotted to the date on which a particular person happened to be examined. Shri Pathak on behalf of the workman laid considerable stress on these things in support of his contention, that the doctor could not be believed and that after all, Abdul Sattar might have appeared before the other doctor of the Company. The fact, however, remains that Abdul Sattar did not get a certificate from any of the Mill doctors. It is difficult to understand why a Mill doctor should refrain from giving a workman a certificate to say whether he was fit or unfit for work, specially when he was asked to do so by the Mills. That alone makes Abdul Sattar's evidence doubtful at best. Secondly, there is no mention at all in any of the two letters proved on his behalf, Exts. 7 and 6, that he ever appeared before any of the doctors of the Company in compliance with its orders. Exhibit 7 is dated 1st November 1961. It is silent about any order by the Company for his medical examination, although Exts. 1 and 3 called upon him to appear before the doctor on 25th September 1961 and on 13th October 1961 respectively. His application also maintains the same discreet silence about these two letters and about what he did or did not do in compliance therewith. In Ext. 6, which is in reply to a letter of the Company, dated 5th February 1962, after the filing of the application under section 33A, he expressly refrains from entering into any further controversy with the Company on this matter. Abdul Sattar says in his examination-in-chief that he wrote to the Company three letters after he had been asked to go to the doctor first. He annexes to his application a copy of his letter, dated 13th November 1961, to the Factory Manager in which he says he went to the doctor on 11th November 1961 and asked him to examine him but did not do anything beyond asking him if he had any physical complaints. Curiously enough, Abdul Sattar says in his examination-in-chief itself, as already stated, that the doctor examined him on the first occasion but not on the other two and in his cross-examination, he says that the doctor examined his eyes, his pulse and his chest on the first occasion. Of course, he does not say what the date of his first examination was. Since he has nowhere mentioned his appearance before a doctor of the Mill on any date other than 11th November 1961, his case may reasonably be taken to be that he appeared for the first time on 11th November 1961. The Company in paragraphs 9 and 11 of its written statement distinctly denied having received annexures C and D to Abdul Sattar's application and no atempt was made on his behalf to prove any of these letters. In these circumstances, it cannot but be held that Abdul Sattar did not in fact turn up at all before any of the two doctors of the Mills, as directed by the Company.

The question next arises whether the Company was entitled under its Standing Orders to refuse to employ him on the ground that Abdul Sattar was incapable, by reason of his age and infirmity, of doing his normal work with normal efficiency. Abdul Sattar of course still maintains he is quite fit to do his work, while it is the Company's case that he is not. Abdul Sattar in his application says that he joined the Mills more than 25 years ago which, if it means anything at all, must mean that he joined not less than 25 years ago and only one or two years more than 25 years ago. He claims in his evidence to have entered the Mills when he was about 14 or 15. That makes his present age 42 at the most. But as far as one can say from his looks, he would be not less than fifty-five or sixty. If that is so, he must have joined the Mills either about 40 years ago or at a much later age of, say, 28. In either case, he would be nearing an age when physical fitness can no longer be presumed but has to be proved The Company in Ext. 5, dated 15th November 1961, distinctly told Abdul Sattar that if he did not produce a medical certificate from its Medical Officer that he is capable of doing his normal work with normal efficiency, it would deem that he was medically unfit and his service would be terminated with effect from 18th December 1961 under clause 18 of the Standing Orders. In Ext. 7, dated 1st November 1961, he deliberately refrains from saying anything about the Company's letters Ext. 1, dated 22nd September 1961 and Ext. 3, dated 11th October 1961. That he produces these letters shows he received them in time. That he says nothing about them in his application and that he does not say anything specifically as to whether he appeared before the Mill doctor on 25th September 1961 or on 13th October 1961 would show that he has no explanation to offer for his non-appearance before the doctor on either of these dates. His non-appearance before the doctor is itself a confirmation of the management's supposition that Abdul Sattar was not capable of doing his normal work with normal efficiency. The matter, however, does not rest there. There is the evidence of L. N. Sharma, his departmental-in-charge and there is also his report Ext. C, dated 21st September 1961, the contents of which have been already set forth. The point to be remembered about this report is that it speaks of Abdul Sattar having been tried on lighter jobs and found wanting even there and that it is this report which first suggested Sattar's medical examination. Exhibit B is a statement of Sattar's wages and duties. According to Sharma, the work of the Head Erector is lighter than that of a line jobber and that of a pair loom helper lighter even than that of a Head Erector. In Ext. 7, dated 1st November 1961, Abdul Sattar protested against his transfer to these jobs but that was only after he had been called upon twice to appear before the Company's Medical Officer. Shri Sarma says he transferred him to such jobs only when he agreed thereto. This statement of his was not challenged in cross-examination. The fact that though he was transferred from the work of line jobber on 22nd August 1960, he did not protest against this till 1st November 1961 would at once indicate the truthfulness of Sarma's statement on this. Thus, the fact that Abdul Sattar had to be transferred to lighter work from 22nd August 1960 with his consent shows that he was not capable of doing his normal work with normal efficiency.

Shri Pathak has laid considerable stress on the facts that Abdul Sattar earned efficiency bonus in the third week of August 1961 just on the eve of his transfer and that the bonus he earned exceeded that of another worker Shio Sankar [Exts. 13 and 13(1)] in support of his contention that Sattar's efficiency had not suffered in any way. Sarma was questioned by him on this point and his answer is as follows: Whether a man is of low efficiency or not is not determined by whether he gets efficiency bonus or not, but in comparison with other shifts.

"Efficiency bonus has no connection with the basic wages but it is paid at a fixed rate according to the percentage above the norm. The total production of a workman during a week divided by the number of days worked gives the normal outturn of a man for each day in that week. If that is above the daily norm fixed for a particular class of workmen, he is entitled to efficiency bonus. But low efficiency is determined by the fact whether in one shift a particular loom produces more or not. If in one shift a loom produces less and in another more, then the man operating the loom producing less will be a workman of low efficiency. We have produced no records relating to the A or C shift of any week".

Shri Pathak has also stressed the fact of the non-production of any records by the Company to support its case that Sattar's efficiency suffered by this test.

The question whether or not the test applied by the Company is sound it is difficult for me to say. Prima facie, however, it cannot be summarily pronounced upon as unsound, for the simple reason that efficiency bonus is devised in a manner to stimulate more production by prescribing a somewhat low norm which a large majority of a class of workmen is capable of attaining, while low efficiency or high efficiency for a line jobber like Abdul Sattar depends on the production of each loom in each shift. A comparison of the production of each loom in different shifts seems to me to be a much better yardstick for the measurement of efficiency than the earning of an efficiency bonus. But whether that is so or not, that is the test which the Company applied and there is nothing before me to suggest that it was unjust in any way. The Company's non-production of any record to prove Sattar's low efficiency does not, however, prove his high or normal efficiency. As already stated, there are enough materials to show that he was no longer capable of doing his normal work with normal efficiency.

Rule 18 of the Standing Orders, Ext. E, provides for the termination of the services of a workman on his being found to be medically unfit. In this case, the Company repeatedly asked Sattar to appear before its Medical Officer and Sattar, as already found, failed to comply on any of these occasions. The Company even after he had filed this application told him in Ext. E, dated 5th February 1962, that it was prepared to give him another opportunity and called upon him to appear before the M.O. on 12th February 1962. Exhibit 6, dated 12th February 1962, is Sattar's reply to the effect that he had already moved the Tribunal and could not comply. At the hearing, he appears to have changed his mind and said he was prepared to face a medical examination by the Medical Officer of the Mills. It is difficult to take at its face value this belated readiness of his to appear before the Medical Officer of the Mills. The Company had distinctly told him in Ext 5, dated 15th November 1961, that if he failed to obtain the requisite certificate from the Medical Officer of the Mills, it would deem he was medically unfit and would terminate his services with effect from 18th December 1961. Abdul Sattar's non-compliance gave the Company a certain amount of justification for this threatened presumption when in spite of it he refrained from appearing before the Medical Officer, as already found.

On behalf of the workman, reliance was placed on two cases, namely, workmen of the Bangalore Woollen Cotton and Silk Mills versus Its management, 1962-1, L.L.J. 213 and Swadeshi Industries Ltd. versus Its workmen 1960-II, L.L.J. 78, while on behalf of the management, the second of these two cases and another, namely Chartered Bank, Bombay Chartered Bank Employees' Union and another 1960-II, L.L.J. 222 were relied upon. In the first case, the workmen demanded bonus at a certain rate for every year of service for all the workmen with long service but discharged as being no longer required. There was a consent award for payment of gratuity according to the terms of Ordinance 5 of 1953 which was replaced by Act 43 of 1953. The workmen discharged on the ground of ill-health demanded gratuity under this award. The Tribunal negatived this claim on the ground that such workmen could not be said to have been retrenched. The Supreme Court upheld that view. I do not see how it helps the workman. In the second case, relied on by both the parties some workmen were dismissed summarily as the result of a strike, found to be not illegal and there was nothing to show that these workmen were guilty of acts of violence during the strike. The reinstatement of the dismissed workmen was accordingly directed. I do not see how this case either can help either party. In the only other case, relied on by the mangement, an Assistant Cashier, appointed on the guarantee of the Chief Cashier who alone furnished security for the work of the Cash Department had his service terminated under paragraph 523(1) of the All-India Industrial Tribunal (Bank Disputes) Award of March 1953 on the withdrawal of the Chief Cashier's guarantee in his favour. The Supreme Court disagreed with the Appellate Tribunal's view that the Bank's termination of his service was a colourable exercise of its power under that paragraph. In other words, the Tribunal according to this decision is entitled to interfere with an employer's termination of the service of a workman only when it amounts to a colourable exercise of its power.

In these circumstances, it must be held that the Company was justified on the merits in refusing to give him work from 18th December 1961 and that this refusal on the Company's part was the result of Abdul Sattar's own failure to comply with its directions. It does not amount either to a dismissal or discharge to which alone the proviso to section 33(2)(b) is applicable. Consequently, there was in this no contravention of any of the provisions of section 33A.

My award accordingly is that there has been no contravention of the provisions of section 33 by the Company in refusing to give Abdul Sattar work from 18th December 1961, that it was justified on the merits in so refusing to give him work and that the application is, therefore, not maintainable.

By order No. 407-I.R.|IR|7L-58|61, dated the 6th February 1962, the Government of West Bengal. in the Labour Department, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Alliance Jute Mills, post office Jagatdal, 24-Parganas, and their workmen represented by Bengal Chatkal Mazdoor Union, Kankinara Branch, B.L. No. 10, post office Kankinara, district 24-Parganas, regarding the matters specified in the schedule, to the Third Industrial Tribunal, constituted under section 7A of the Industrial Disputes Act, by notification No. 808-I.R.|IR|3A-2|47, dated the 11th March 1957, for adjudication.

Issue

Whether the action of the Management in withdrawing the benefit enjoyed by the mistries for working on weekly rest day is justified? To what relief, if any, are the workers entitled?

This reference was received from the Government for adjudication of an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Alliance Jute Mills of Jagatdal in the district of 24-Parganas (hereinafter be referred to as the Company) and their workmen represented by Bengal Chatkal Mazdoor Union (hereinafter be referred to as the Union).

Immediately after receipt of the reference notices were issued to both parties who in pursuance thereof entered appearance and filed their respective written statements.

The Union's case in the written statement is that Messrs. Alliance Jute Mills is one of the "A" Class Jute Mills under the management of Messrs. Mc I eod Company Ltd. There are about 500 mistries in the employ of the mill and from time immemorial the mistries of the mill were getting 48 hours wages by doing 44 hours work in a week. But the Company all on a sudden curtailed the aforesaid benefit by issuing a notice on the 26th September 1961. The stopping of the long enjoyed benefit was without any reason. So, conciliation was started but to no effect because of the unyielding attitude of the Company. Hence the reference.

The Company in their written statement has given general denials to the Union's allegations and has partially admitted that the practice of payment of wages for 48 hours work to the mistries for actually doing 44 hours work, was in vogue from May 1957. But according to them no longer there will be any justification for the special consideration to a section of the workmen only. Hence the practice has been discontinued by a notification, dated 26th September 1961. But the workmen not only protested against this but also started to create trouble by resorting to "go slow" and "strike". Ultimately, therefore, the Company had to come to an understanding with the workmen on this subject and there was an agreement on 14th March 1962 arrived at between the Company and the workmen pending the adjudication of the dispute by this tribunal. According to the Company there will be no justification for continuing the practice and thereby showing special favour to a particular section of the workmen which may look like discrimination.

Decision

Both parties on their own accord did not examine any witness, but relied on admitted facts and documents.

The workmen involved in the present dispute are mechanics and mistries only numbering about 300. So, their work is to attend to the plants and machines. It is also admitted that the first day of the week which is usually observed as a rest day is no longer Sunday but it is Monday with the present concern as also in the similar industry of the region in view of the staggered supply of electrical energy. So, it is admitted that Monday being the first day of the week, is observed as a rest day for the workmen in general of this factory. But the Company is interested in employing the mistries on Monday which is the common rest day for all other workmen of the factory. The reason is quite obvious. On the working days, i.e., from Tuesday to Sunday, all the plants and machines remain in operation. The machines seldom come to rest on working days unless there is breakdown or shortage of men and materials, because it is admitted by the Company that three shifts are working in the factory. Therefore, the plants and machines can be attended to properly, effectively and expeditiously only when they will be at rest, i.e., on the weekly rest day for all workmen (on every Monday) in the present concern. Naturally, therefore, the Company introduced the system of employing the mechanics and mistries on the 1st day of the week (Monday) which is rest day for all other workmen of the factory. The Company also from their experience found this practice not only very convenient but also gainful in the sense that the machines are better attended to and more effectively repaired on the rest day than on any working day. Workmen operating any defective machine need not be kept idle for the purpose of repairing it on a working day but the work may proceed unhampered and production to remain unaffected. Therefore, to employ the mechanics and mistries on common rest day would certainly be to the advantage of the concern, otherwise the Company would not have allowed these particular class of workmen to get wages for 48 hours labour by actually working for 44 hours only.

Normally the Company is entitled to get 48 hours work in a week from each adult worker as provided in section 51 of the Factories Act, 1948, but in that case each and every workmen should be allowed to enjoy the normal weekly rest day along with all other workmen of the factory. Admittedly at present the normal weekly rest day with this concern is Monday which is a holiday for all workmen of the factory excepting these particular class of workmen. There is nothing to show that these particular class of workmen received any special consideration either in respect of their wages or any other financial benefits excepting 48 hours wages by actually working 44 hours in a week. It has been contended by the Company that the workmen are allowed to enjoy a holiday on one of the three days immediately before or after the first day of the week which is common rest day for all other workers of the factory. But by granting this holiday the Company is not showing any special favour to the workmen who are legally entitled to this holiday under section 52 of the Factories Act, 1948. As I have already observed it is certainly to the advantage and benefit of the Company to employ the workmen on the common weekly rest day for the workmen of the mill in order to better utilise their services with a view to get more useful and effective result of their work on a common rest-day for the mill when all other workmen enjoy holiday to the exclusion of these workmen. Therefore, this category of workmen of the Mill are deprived of enjoyment of the common holiday. No doubt they are given a holiday on any day of the 3 days immediately before or after the common rest-day, and in that sense it may appear that there is not much difference. They enjoy one holiday in a week though not the common holiday enjoyed by all other workmen of the Mill. But so far as the Company is concerned it may be quite apparent that they are definitely gainer by employing these workmen on a common rest-day for the Mill. Therefore, it seems to me that the Company in that consideration was paying to these workmen 48 hours wages for 44 hours work and it was a voluntary payment by the Company, as there is no material to show that the system was introduced by the Company under any pressure. The practice continued for several years, then all on a sudden there was an attempt to introduce the change by a notification, dated 28th September 1961 (vide Exts 1 and A), without assigning any reason therefor. The Company's contention is that by paying these workmen 48 hours wages for 44 hours work, the Company is showing some amount of special favour to these workmen which looks like a sort of discrimination and as such it must be avoided. But there is no evidence to show that this special concession enjoyed by this class of workmen has ever been objected to or has been made a ground for increase of wages by the other workmen of the factory. These workmen are being employed by the Company a bit differently from the other workmen. They are to work on the common weekly rest-day when all other workmen enjoy holiday. They are to do it at the desire and dictate of the Company and it may be said mainly for the benefit and interest of the concern. Therefore, there was justification for the special concession so long enjoyed by them on being voluntarily conceded by the Company. According to the Company the workmen have been in enjoyment of this benefit from time immemorial. Company, of course, does not admit this. But it is admitted by the Company that the workmen have been in enjoyment of this benefit at least from the year 1957. The Company has not put forward any reason for withholding the benefit so long enjoyed by the workmen on being voluntarily granted by the Company and it has already been found that the benefit so granted to the workmen was for good and sufficient reason. Therefore, there is hardly any justification for the proposed discontinuance of the benefit. Even the Company's notice (dated 26th September 1961—Exts 1 and A) in this regard does not show any ground for introducing the change. It only appears in the Company's letter, dated 31st January 1962 (Ext C), addressed to the Assistant Labour Commissioner, Barrackpore, that the Company apprehends labour unrest on account of this concession being granted to a section of the workmen. But it is nowhere in the Company's correspondence or in the written statement that the other workmen of the factory ever raised any such plea. If any such plea be ever raised by the other workmen that may be dealt with by the concern on merits, if and when, arises but it will be very clear that their claim will in no way be identical with the claim of these workmen who are doing some special and peculiar type of work, and as such it stands on a different footing. Therefore, it was not at all a good ground and the Company has not adduced any evidence to support the alleged ground mentioned in their letter to the Assistant Labour Commissioner on the eve of an agreement with the workmen in respect of the present dispute. There was an agreement between the parties on 14th March 1962 (Ext B) which shows that the Company had to face some amount of unrest and unpleasantness by attempting to introduce the change by discontinuing the concession so long enjoyed by the workmen of the particular section for some years.

Therefore, regard being had to all the facts and circumstances, I am of opinion that there will be no justification to discontinue the concession voluntarily granted to the workmen and enjoyed by the workmen for so many years specially when there is no good ground for introducing the change. However, if the Company want to get 48 hours work in a week from the workmen concerned as they are legally entitled to, in view of the provisions of section 51 of the Factories Act, they may do so. But in that case these workmen should be allowed to enjoy the common weekly rest day, i.e., the first day of the week which is admittedly Monday every week along with all other workmen of the factory. But if they want to deviate from the normal position of work in the factory by insisting on these workmen to work on the common weekly rest day, in that case they must continue to grant the concession voluntarily granted to the workmen by the Company and enjoyed by the workmen undisturbed for so many years. I have already found that there was good reason for the concession being granted to this particular class of workmen, and I have already observed that there is no good ground for introducing the change or discontinuing the long enjoyed concession of these workmen of a particular category. There will be no justification to withdraw the benefit if the workmen are employed on the weekly rest day for all other workmen.

This is my award.

Appeances.

For the Company: Shri K. B. Bose, Counsel.

For the Union: Shri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate.

The Government of West Bengal by its Labour Department order No. 1333I.R./IR/10L-16/60, dated 28th March 1960, and subsequent Corrigendum No. 2782I.R./IR/10L-16/60, dated 3rd June 1960, referred to this Tribunal an industrial dispute between Messrs. Philips India Ltd., 19 Convent Road, Calcutta-14, (hereafter referred to as the Company) and their workmen represented by Philips Electrical Co. Workers' Union, 249 Bowbazar Street, first floor, Calcutta-12 (hereafter referred to as the Union) for adjudication under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The only issue referred to this Tribunal for adjudication runs as follows:—

Whether the employees of Radio Service and Stores Department are entitled to any incentive bonus?

AWARD

The dispute in this case arises in the following way. It is the common case of both the parties that in the last part of the year 1958 the Company introduced an incentive bonus scheme in its Radio Factory. But this scheme was not extended to Radio Service and Stores Department. The contention of the Company in this connection was that this Radio Service and Stores Department was a separate entity and not a part of the Radio Factory of the Company. So, it was urged that the workmen of this Radio Service and Stores Department were not entitled to the benefit of the incentive bonus scheme. The Company refused to extend this bonus scheme to the Radio Service and Stores Department in spite of repeated requests on the part of the workmen of the said department. All conciliations in this respect having failed, the dispute has been referred to this Tribunal.

Decision

After the reference the Company raised a preliminary objection that this Tribunal was not empowered to extend the incentive bonus scheme to the workmen of the Radio Service and Stores Department, as this particular department was a separate entity and not a part of the Radio Factory, practically a separate industry. This objection was originally raised before my learned predecessor-in-office, and he by his order No. 10, dated 22nd July 1960, directed that the matter of jurisdiction would be considered after taking evidence in this case. But the Company was not satisfied with this direction, and the matter went up before the Hon'ble High Court at the instance of the Company. There was contested hearing before the Hon'ble High Court and the High Court at last discharged the rule with certain directions. So, this point was separately heard by this Tribunal in accordance with the direction of the High Court, and the objection has been considered and decided by this Tribunal in its order No. 22, dated 29th August 1962.

This order will show that this Tribunal failed to accept the contention of the Company, and it has been decided that the Radio Service and Stores Department cannot be treated as a separate and independent unit from the Radio Factory. In this view of the matter, it is for this Tribunal to decide at present whether the said incentive bonus scheme should be extended to this department also, and if so from what date. The accepted principle of law by now is that a Tribunal is not empowered to introduce for the first time any incentive bonus scheme in any industry. But if the scheme is already there in a part of the industry, the Tribunal is authorised to extend the same to other departments also of the same industry, if facts and circumstances so justify. In this connection, I may at once observe that there is hardly any doubt that the work load of the Radio Service and Stores Department is also bound to rise when the production in the Radio Factory Industry goes up in view of the introduction of the incentive bonus scheme, in the productive portion of the factory. In this view of the matter, there is no reason whatsoever why this incentive bonus scheme should not be extended to the Radio Service and Stores Department as well. In fact, the Company has already extended this scheme to certain other non-productive sections of the Radio Factory. For identical reasons, I have no doubt that the Company should also extend the benefit of this scheme to the Radio Service and Stores Department. It is also conceded by the learned representative for the workmen that the workmen of this department cannot legitimately claim equal treatment with the productive workers as provided for in the scheme itself. They quite fairly press for application of that portion of the scheme which is meant for the non-productive workers. I appreciate this position of the learned representative of the workmen, and I am at one with him that the workmen of the Radio Service and Stores Department should at least get that benefit which was intended for the non-productive workers.

The next contention of the workmen is that this incentive bonus scheme should be extended with retrospective effect from 1st December 1958, because the Company unjustifiably deprived them of the benefit of this scheme since that time in spite of their repeated demands in this connection. I have carefully considered this submission made on behalf of the workmen concerned. But my considered opinion is that if retrospective effect be given to the extension of the incentive bonus scheme to this department, various complications may arise. In fact, such retrospective effect cannot be given for other reasons also. This Tribunal is not in a position to assess the financial implication of giving retrospective effect to this scheme from 1958, i.e., about 4 years back. It is not difficult to understand that the Company or its Management might have a bona fide doubt as to whether this Radio Service and Stores Department should at all be considered as a part of the Radio Factory, because in fact originally this particular department was situate elsewhere and was apparently treated as a part of the Head Office Establishment. So, without further discussion, I hold that no retrospective effect of the incentive bonus scheme can be given to the Radio Service and Stores Department, and only prospective effect of the said scheme can be allowed for this department. Accordingly, I find that the employees of the Radio Service and Stores Department are entitled to incentive bonus scheme in accordance with the provisions laid down in the scheme by the Company for the non-productive workmen in its Radio Factory. The Company shall give effect to this scheme in respect of this department within one month of the publication of this award

This is my award.

By order No. 2690I.R./IR/10L-103(A)/61, dated the 17th May 1961, the Government of West Bengal, in the Labour Department, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the industrial dispute between Messrs. The Indian Hume Pipe Company Ltd., P.O. Barakar, district Burdwan, and their workmen represented by Barakar Hume Pipe Workers' Union, P.O. Barakar, district Burdwan, regarding the matter specified in the schedule, to the Third Industrial Tribunal, constituted under section 7A of the Industrial Disputes Act, by notification No. 8081.R./IR/3A-2/57, dated the 11th March 1957, for adjudication.

Issue

What should be the quantum of profit bonus for the year 1959-60?

This reference was received from the Government in May 1961 for adjudication of an industrial dispute regarding the quantum of profit bonus payable for the year 1959-60. The dispute was raised by the workmen represented by Barakar Hume Pipe Workers' Union (hereinafter be referred to as the Union) against their common employer, viz., Messrs. The Indian Hume Pipe Company Ltd. of Barakar (hereinafter be referred to as the Company).

As usual immediately after receipt of the reference notices were given to both parties, who entered appearance in pursuance thereof and filed their respective written statements. Parties having completed all other immediate steps, the case was ripe for hearing. The Union pressed hard for hearing of the case at Asansol, but owing to pressure of work it was not possible for this Tribunal to proceed promptly to Asansol to take up this case at Asansol. However, I am happy to note that the parties have since settled up the dispute amicably and they have come to agreed terms of settlements and have embodied them in the memorandum of settlement signed by the representatives of both parties on 6th December 1962. The said memorandum of settlement has been made an annexure to the joint petition filed before this Tribunal on 15th December 1962 by which they have jointly prayed for an award in terms of the settlement arrived at and embodied in the memorandum of settlement, dated 6th December 1962.

I have considered the terms of settlement which are found to be fair, reasonable and proper. Accordingly, I accept them and give an award on compromise in terms of the memorandum of settlement, dated 6th December 1962, which has been annexed to the joint petition filed before this Tribunal on 15th December 1962. Both of them do form part of the compromise award.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, filed by Sm. Ram Peari, Dai, against her employer Messrs. Shamnagar Jute Factory Co. Ltd., Shyamnagar. (Case No. 76/33A/62.)

BEFORE THE FIFTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri N. B. CHAUDHURI, Judge,,
Fifth Industrial Tribunal.

For the Company: Shri S. C. Sen, Advocate of Messrs. Orr Dignam & Co.

For the applicant: Shri Biswanath Ash, Advocate.

AWARD

This is an application purported to be under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act by Sm. Ram Peari against her employer Messrs. Shyamnagar Jute Factory Co. Ltd. (North Mill), post office Bhadreswar, district Hooghly (hereafter referred to as the Company). The complaint of Sm. Ram Peari against her employer is that they had terminated her services prematurely during the pendency of an industrial dispute referred to this Tribunal under Government order No. 1114-I.R./IR/7L-15/61, dated 9th March 1961. The applicant's case is that the Management by its letter No. 101, dated 27th October 1961, purported to retire her from the Company's service with effect from 26th October 1961 on the alleged ground of her being found unfit for further service in the Company after alleged thorough medical examination conducted by the Mill Medical Officer. The contention of the complainant is that this allegation of unfitness is not bona fide, and her premature retirement was actually tantamount to dismissal or discharge of her from service without any sufficient reason.

The Company's case, on the other hand, is that the present application is not maintainable, because it was really a case of superannuation on medical grounds, and so this retirement cannot be treated as discharge or dismissal from service within the meaning of law. It is further stated by the Management that during the year 1961, it received frequent verbal complaints that the complainant Sm. Ram Peari was physically unfit to carry on her normal duties. So, on 25th October 1961 she was thoroughly examined by the Company's Medical Officer who found her unfit for further service due to old age, debility and senile cataract in both the eyes.

So, the points for consideration in this case are—

(1). Whether the Company is guilty of contravention of any provision of section 33 of the Act?

(2). Is the allegation of physical unfitness of the applicant true?

Decisions

Points 1 and 2: Before considering the question whether the present application under section 33A is at all maintainable, I would like to consider the evidence of the parties in respect of the alleged unfitness of the complainant. In this case only two witnesses were examined, one being on each side. The complainant examined herself in this connection. She states in her deposition before this Tribunal that as a Dai (mid-wife) her duty was to record temperature of the patients, prepare medicine for them, do dressing in accident cases involving cut wounds and burns, etc. and other similar duties. She asserts that she is even now quite competent to carry on her normal duties, and that she can see all right and can read thermometer also quite easily. On the other hand, the Management examines the Medical Officer concerned who examined her on 25th October 1961. The Medical Officer swears that he thoroughly examined the complainant in presence of his Compounder for about half an hour. He also swears that for some time past he received verbal complaints against her from the Company's workers and also from the Chief Medical Officer of the Company. The learned Medical Officer swears that Ext. A is the report he submitted before the Management after examining the complainant, and that this report is quite correct. If the learned Medical Officer be believed, there is no escape from the conclusion that, in fact, the complainant was incapable of rendering further active service for which she was meant. The complainant no doubt asserts that she is quite fit for the job. But her opinion, I am afraid, cannot prevail against the expert opinion of the Medical Officer. There is no contrary medical opinion before this Tribunal also So, the complainant being personally interested in this case, her opinion cannot be accepted in preference to that of the Medical Officer, specially when the complainant herself admits that the Medical Officer has no grudge or enmity against her. So, prima facie it must be held that at the relevant time the complainant was found unfit to carry on her normal duties on account of her age and other physical conditions. In this view of the matter, even if the Management violated the provisions of section 33 of the Act, the applicant is not entitled to any relief before this Tribunal.

I may further add that the present case does not strictly come within the purview of section 33 of the Act, because the premature retirement of the complainant in this case cannot be actually treated as a case of discharge or dismissal by way of punishment. Her services were not dispensed with for any misconduct on her part. When a workman is capable of rendering service, and in spite of it his service is dispensed with by his employer, then only the question of discharge or dismissal arises. But when a workman is incapable to carry on his normal duties and thus unfit to render further service in accordance with the contract of service—express or implied—he cannot be said to have been discharged or dismissed. In this view of the matter also, I am afraid, the application under section 33A is not maintainable. So, in any view of the case, the present application must fail, and the applicant is not entitled to any relief whatsoever in the present case.

This is my award.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act filed by Shri Dani Kanta Mitra against his employer Messrs. I.G.N. & Rly. Co. Ltd., 44 Garden Reach Road, Calcutta-24 (Case No. 77 of 1962 under section 33A.)

PRESENT:

For the Company: Shri K. B. Bose, Counsel, and Shri D. Basu Thakur, Solicitor of Messrs. Orr Dignam & Co.

For the workman: Shri Dani Kanta Mitra, O/138 Mudialy Road, Calcutta-24, Shri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate.

AWARD

This is an application purported to be under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act by Shri Dani Kanta Mitra against his employer Messrs. I.G.N. & Rly. Co. Ltd., 44 Garden Reach, Calcutta-24 (hereafter referred to as the Company). The applicant's case may be briefly stated as follows: Shri Mitra is a Clerk of the opposite party Company working at its Raja Bagan Dock Yard and was functioning previously as the Receiving Section-in-Charge. He worked in this capacity till 7th June 1962. On 8th June 1962, however, during the pendency of an industrial dispute before this Tribunal referred under G.O. No. 6085-I.R./-1R/4L-5,B)/61, dated 27th October 1961, Shri Mitra was transferred to the Ship Wright Department of Raja Bagan Dock Yard as a Clerk. It is contended that this transfer was made by way of penalty for victimising Shri Mitra. It is also urged that there was no reason for such transfer, and that the real motive behind this transfer was to humiliate and discredit him before his fellow workmen.

As against this, the Company's case is that the allegation of mala fides in this transfer is baseless, and that the transfer was made only from one section to another of the same Raja Bagan Dock Yard in consideration of the business expediency of the Company and nothing more.

Decisions

At the time of hearing of this application, the learned Counsel for the Company urges before this Tribunal that the alleged complaint under section 33A of the Act is not at all maintainable in view of the fact that there has been no contravention of any of the provisions of section 33 of the Act. On the request of the Company, this preliminary objection was heard at first. So, the real point to be considered at this stage is whether the application is at all maintainable under section 33A of the Act. I may at once observe that it is nobody's case that an industrial dispute directly relating to or connected with Shri Mitra was actually pending at the relevant time. It is not the contention of the applicant that the Company actually violated the provisions of section 33(1) of the Act by failing to obtain previous permission for effecting mala fide transfer. The learned Advocate for the workman very fairly concedes that the violation, if any, has been in respect of the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 33 of the Act. There is no doubt that there has been a transfer. The only contention for the workman is that this transfer was a mala fide one and was effected as a penal measure against Shri Mitra for some real or imaginary misconduct on his part. But it is not the case of the learned Advocate for the workman that for such mala fide transfer, if any, the Company was bound to seek the approval of this Tribunal under the proviso to sub-section 2(b) of section 33 of the Act. The learned Advocate for the workman contends that this mala fide transfer was really an alteration of the condition of service of Shri Mitra, and thus this alteration comes within the purview of clause (a) of sub-section (2) of section 33 of the Act. His contention is that this transfer has not been specifically provided for in the Company's standing orders, and so the Company is not entitled to effect a transfer during the pendency of an industrial dispute, though the said dispute was unconnected with the present transfer. In this connection, I may at once point out that it is nobody's case that there was an agreement between Shri Mitra and the Company that he would not be transferred to any other section of the Dock Yard at any time. So, in the absence of any such agreement, the employees of the Company are in the ordinary course of business liable to be transferred from one section to another, from one place to another of the Company's establishment. In fact, no concern would possibly run if it has no right to transfer its employees from one branch to another. Shri Mitra may feel that his transfer from the Receiving Section to the Ship Wright Department may cause some inconvenience to him. But I may at once observe that such transfer even if it causes some inconvenience is a normal incident of service and the employees are bound to suffer this inconvenience, unless there is some stipulation in their conditions of service that they will remain at same branch or place of business throughout their service life. It needs hardly to be stated that the liability to be transferred is a normal incident or condition of service in any concern, and it does not necessarily involve punishment. So, under normal circumstances, the Management has got every right in law to transfer an employee from one branch to another which are under the same management.

If there be bona fides in this transfer, and if it is in the interest of the business itself, the employees can have no legitimate grievance against such transfer. Of course, it may be true that mere colourable exercise by the employer of his power to transfer a workman from one establishment at one place to another in a different place can always be the subject matter of an industrial dispute, and thus a reference can be made under section 10 of the Act. But where prima facie there is no stipulation to the contrary and apparently there is nothing mala fide in the transfer from one branch to another at the same place, no question of violation of the provisions of section 33(2) does arise. In the present case, the only contention of Shri Mitra is that he was discharging his duties in the Receiving section quite efficiently and that his transfer to a less important department like the Ship Wright Department had no justification. It is also contended that by such transfer, he loses the chances of early promotion. But I may point out that Shri Mitra has not been reduced in rank in any way by this transfer. For reasons best known to the Management, it was of opinion that Shri Mitra should better work in the Ship Wright Department, and this cannot be presumed to be a mala fide conduct on the part of the Management. Be that as it may, even if I assume for argument's sake that there might be some mala fides in this transfer and in a sense it may be penal too, I am afraid, there is no question of violation of the provisions of section 33(2) of the Act. In fact, section 33(2) authorises the Management in taking certain actions without the approval of the Tribunal. The present transfer is such an authorised act of the Company. So, no question of seeking approval does really arise in this case. Had Shri Mitra been directly connected with the pending industrial dispute and if previous permission would have been necessary for inflicting a penal transfer, then only the question of violation of the provisions of section 33 would have arisen. For a mere transfer, no such permission or approval is contemplated, as the transfer was unconnected with the pending industrial dispute. The learned Advocate for the workman contends that no transfer can be made during the pendency of an industrial dispute, unless there is provision in the standing orders in this respect and the transfer is actually made in accordance with the standing orders applicable to the workman concerned. But I am afraid provision for such transfer in the standing orders of the Company is not a pre-condition for such transfer during the pendency of an industrial dispute. Section 33(2) and section 33A have been explained by their lordships of the Bombay High Court in a case between Bipatbeni and Sawarkar (P.D.) reported in 1962 I L.L.J. page 61. It has been observed by their lordships in that case that section 33(2) could only mean that during the pendency of any such proceedings in respect of an industrial dispute, the employer may (and) in accordance with the standing orders (if any) applicable to a workman concerned in such dispute, ..... It is clear from their decision that if there be any standing orders, only then the penal imposition, if any, must be done in accordance with those standing orders. But if there be no such standing orders on any point, that does not preclude the Management from taking action when thought fit. It appears there is provision for transfer, in the standing orders also of this company. So, my considered opinion is that the Company cannot be deemed to have violated the provisions of section 33(2) of the Act, simply because the alleged mala fide transfer was made during the pendency of an industrial dispute unconnected with the transfer in question of the workman concerned. If Shri Mitra is aggrieved by the alleged mala fide transfer, his remedy appears to be under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act. But he cannot directly complain under section 33A of the Act on the allegation that no approval was sought for before this tribunal or that the impugned transfer was not duly provided for in the Company's standing orders. In this view of the matter, I think, the present application under section 33A is not maintainable in law. So, this application must fail for technical reasons.

This is my award.

For the Employer: Shri N. K. Mukherjee, Advocate, and Shri B. Ash, Advocate.

For the Union: Shri Ram Sen, Trade Unionist.

This is a reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act of 1947 by Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 1809-I.R./IR/10L-4/61, dated 12th April 1961, for determination of the issue, namely,—

1. Revision of wages.

After usual notices were given to the parties they put in their respective appearances and completed all necessary tadbirs. Ultimately the case was fixed for hearing on 14th December 1962. On that date both parties put in a joint petition stating and agreeing that since the only issue involved in the present case is covered by a Major Industrial Dispute between 1,208 Engineering concerns and their workmen, referred to the Seventh Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal, under Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 3537S-I.R./IR/10L-97/62, dated 6th August 1962, and since the employer and the workmen of the present case are parties to the said major industrial dispute, it is desirable and in the interest of the parties to have the issue settled by the Seventh Industrial Tribunal before whom the relevant adjudication proceedings are now pending, the present case should be disposed of in the above light and the present case may be transferred to the Seventh Industrial Tribunal for disposal.

There is no question of transfer of the present case to the Seventh Industrial Tribunal by me. At the same time, in the circumstances stated, it is quite proper and desirable that the point at issue, which is covered by the said industrial dispute, should be finally disposed of by that Tribunal. Subject to this, I pass a "no dispute" award in the present case without prejudice to any party.

Decision

This reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act is in respect of discharge of 18 workmen said to have been employees of Messrs. R. P. Pandey & Co. of 13|A Tikiapara Road, Salkia, Howrah. The workmen are represented by the Railway Godown Workers' Union, 4 Nityadhan Mukherjee Road, Howrah.

The Union's case is that the Company was a Railway Contractor engaged in a contract to load and unload wagons at the Howrah Railway Station and the Company started doing the work from 1st August 1959. Originally Messrs. Kundu & Co. and after that Messrs. Bird & Co. was the Railway Contractor who was succeeded by Messrs. R. P. Pandey & Co. The Union alleges that the Company gradually absorbed the old employees of the contractors and these 18 workmen under reference were working as employees of the Company under a Sirdar who was a Benamdar for the Company, that after the Sirdar and the workmen had worked for three months they were suddenly discharged in the first week of November 1959 and the Company never gave any reason whatsoever for their discharge and the Union now prays that the workmen may be reinstated with all their back wages during the period of their forced unemployment.

It is the case of the Company that it obtained the contract and started loading and unloading railway wagons in the Parcel and Goods Shed at Howrah Railway Station from the Zero hour of 1st August 1959. The Company denies that it ever employed any Sirdar or that these 18 persons said to have been employees of the Company were ever given employment by it. It is the case of the Company that these 18 persons under reference were never the employees of the Company and there could therefore have been no dispute between the Company and these 18 persons.

It is the common case of the parties that Messrs. R. P. Pandey & Co. were railway contractors for loading and unloading of railway wagons in the Parcel and Goods Shed at the Howrah Railway Station. It is also admittedly a fact that Messrs Kundu & Co. and after that Messrs. Bird & Co. were the railway contractors doing the same work prior to the contract being given to Messrs R. P. Pandey & Co. This Company started work from the 1st August, 1959. The Union alleges that the 18 persons named in the reference were employed as labourers of the Company who were working under a Sirdar who was a Benamdar for the Company. The Company denies this allegation and it is the case of the Company that no Sirdar was ever appointed and these 18 persons under reference were never the employees of the Company. The Union in its written statement says in paragraph 8 that the Company absorbed about 18 old workmen through a Benamdar Sirdar. Curiously enough the Union never mentioned the name of the Sirdar. The Union examined only one witness P.W. 1 Shri Paramatma Koiri who says that he was known to Shri Sarma for a number of years and that his name is known to Shri Sarma. But it is not understood as to why his name was not mentioned in the written statement as being a Benamdar for the Company under whom the 18 persons named in the reference were said to have been working as employees of the Company. P.W. 1 says that he was an employee of Messrs. Kundu & Co. and that he had also served under Messrs. Bird & Co. He next said that he never served under Messrs. R. P. Pandey & Co., the last labour contractor. He admits in his cross-examination that he has nothing to prove that he worked under Messrs. Kundu & Co. or under Messrs. Bird & Co. He again says that he served under Messrs. R. P. Pandey & Co. and he was given an appointment letter at the time of his appointment. But this document has not been produced although he says that he made over the document to the Union. He again admits: "I have no paper or any proof to show that I had ever worked under Messrs. Kundu & Co. or Messrs. Bird & Co. or Messrs. R. P. Pandey & Co." None of the 18 persons named in the reference was examined in this case. P.W. 1 says: "the labourers under reference could not be found on search either in Calcutta or Howrah and I cannot say whether any of them can be found. It may be that they have left for their native village." None of the 18 persons ever appeared and I have already said that none of them was examined in this case. The Company has produced the Muster Rolls and the names of the 18 persons named in the reference could not be found in the Muster Rolls. O.P.W. 1 Shri R. P. Pandey one of the Partners of the Company and C.P.W. 2 Shri K. S. Srivastava, the Manager of the Company, were examined in this case. They deny having seen P.W. 1 and both of them deny that these 18 persons named in the reference were ever the employees of the Company. I have considered the evidence adduced in this case and I must say that there is no proof at all that the 18 persons named in the reference were ever the employees of the Company. So the question of their discharge from service does not arise at all. The issue must therefore be answered in favour of the Company with the finding that the 18 persons named in the reference being never employees of the Company are not entitled to any relief. This is my award.

By Order No. 795-I.R./IR/11L-45/59, dated the 24th February 1960, the Government of West Bengal, in the Labour Department, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Hindusthan National Glass Mfg. Co. Ltd., Rishra, Hooghly, and their workmen represented by the Glass Employees' Union, Goalapara Lane, P. O. Rishra, district Hooghly, regarding the matters specified in the schedule, to the Third Industrial Tribunal, constituted under section 7A of the Industrial Disputes Act, by notification No. 808-I.R./IR/3A-2/57, dated the 11th March 1957, for adjudication.

Issue

1. Wage increase for workmen not covered by the Agreement, dated 29th August 1958.

2. Dearness allowance for workmen not covered by the Agreement, dated 29th August 1958.

This reference was received from the Government for adjudication of an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Hindusthan National Glass Mfg. Co. Ltd., Rishra (hereinafter be referred to as the Company), and their workmen represented by the Glass Employees' Union (hereinafter be referred to as the Union).

Notices as usual were given to both the parties who entered appearance and filed their respective written statements. Some time after the filing of the written statements by both the parties the original order of reference was amended by a corrigendum, dated 8th June 1960. So, after the amendment both parties were given fresh opportunities to file written statements. They also were given opportunities to complete all intermediate steps. The parties from the very beginning were very keen to settle the present dispute amicably in view of the fact that all other disputes in respect of majority of the workers have already been amicably settled and the terms thereof are embodied in the memorandum of settlement dated 29th August 1958, copy whereof has been made Annexure 'A' to the Company's written statements.

In view of the joint prayer for a settlement, some adjournments were given to them and I am glad to note that ultimately they have been successful in their mission and the disputes under reference have been amicably settled out of Court. The terms of settlement have been embodied in a memorandum of settlement which has been made Annexure "A" to the joint petition of compromise filed before this tribunal on 19th December 1962. There are two issues involved in the present reference and I learn from the representatives of both parties that in arriving at the terms of settlement both the issues received consideration of the parties concerned in arriving at the settlement. Therefore, regard being had to the circumstances, I consider the terms as fair and reasonable, and accordingly an award is given on compromise in terms of the joint petition of compromise and the memorandum of settlement forming Annexure "A" to the joint petition, dated 19th December 1962, which documents do form part of the compromise award as annexure thereof.

This is my award.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Krudd Industries Ltd., 20/21 Stephen House, Calcutta-1, and their workmen represented by National Union of Engineering Workers, 7/B Rani Rashmoni Road, Calcutta, referred under G.O. No. 4861.R./IR/10L-17(A)/62, dated 13th February 1962. (Case No. VIII-37/62.)

BEFORE THE FIFTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri N. B. CHAUDHURI, Judge.

Appearances:

For the Company: Shri J. R. Jain, Labour Adviser.

For the Union: Shri Lelin Roy and Shri Madan Saha, Advocates.

The Government of West Bengal by its Labour Department order No. 4861.R./IR/10L-17(A)/62, dated the 13th February 1962, referred to this Tribunal an industrial dispute between Messrs. Krudd Industries Ltd., 20/21 Stephen House, Calcutta-1 (hereinafter referred to as the Company) and their workmen represented by National Union of Engineering Workers, 7/B Rani Rashmoni Road, Calcutta (hereinafter referred to as the Union), for adjudication under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The only issue referred to this Tribunal for adjudication is as follows:—

Issue

Whether the termination of the service of Shri S. K. Ghosh is justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

AWARD

After receipt of notice from this Tribunal both the parties have entered appearance and filed their respective written statements. The workman's case in short is this:

The present Company employs about 25 to 30 heads in its head office at Stephen House and nearly 200 and odd persons in its factory. This Company was a proprietory concern previously and one Shri G. Ahmed was its proprietor. In the year 1948, this Company was sold with its assets and liabilities as a going concern to Shri Ballav Das Agarwal. All the workers existing at the time of this transfer of the undertaking were transferred and taken over by Shri Agarwal with continuity of service and existing conditions of employment without alteration. Shri S. K. Ghosh, the workman concerned, was employed by the Company in the year 1939 and Shri Agarwal also retained his services with pre-existing conditions of employment. This concern, however, was converted into a Limited Company lately and the services of Shri Ghosh were retained as before on same terms and conditions without any break Lately Shri Ghosh became an active member and a votery of the National Union of Engineering Workers and thus, incurred the wrath of the Company, Accordingly, Shri Ghosh was discharged by a letter, dated the 30th of March 1961, on the plea of retrenching him for economy, with an offer of one month's notice pay only. It is urged that this retrenchment is invalid as the requirements of tion 25F of the Industrial Disputes Act were not fulfilled. The requisite notice also has not been served on the appropriate Government. The Company has violated the provision of section 25H of the Act as he was not given the chance to offer himself for re-employment when the Company recruited fresh hands. At the time of discharge Shri Ghosh was coerced to sign a voucher purporting to show as if he had foregone all his outstanding claims. It is contended that this document should not be taken notice of. Shri Ghosh accordingly asked for reinstatement in service and in the alternative a big sum of compensation.

The Company's case on the other hand is that the present reference is bad in law as the dispute is not an industrial dispute but an individual one. There is no Union in the Head Office of the Company for its workmen and the persons employed at the Head Office have not espoused the cause of the workman concerned. So, the individual dispute of Shri Ghosh has not been converted into an industrial dispute. Of late, the financial condition of the Company is very unsound and it has been incurring huge losses year after year. So, the services of Shri Ghosh had to be terminated simply with a view to effect economy. Shri Ghosh's discharge was valid, proper and justified as it did not violate any provision of law. Shri Ghosh accepted Rs. 600 in full and final settlement of all his claims including that of his reinstatement. So, there is no dispute any longer between the workman and the Company. The Company has not recruited any person in his place after his discharge.

Other facts will appear from the body of the award that follows.

From what I have stated above, it will be clear that the Company raises a preliminary legal objection before submiting its case on the merit of the disputed termination of service. It is not in dispute that Shri Ghosh was an employee of the Company at its Head Office. According to the written statement of Shri Ghosh, the Head Office of the Company employs about 25 to 30 men. But it is also in evidence that at the relevant time, about 16 persons only were employed in the Head Office of the Company. The Head Office is situate at Stephen House at Calcutta, whereas the Company has a factory employing about 200 persons at Panihati. It is not very much in dispute that Shri Ghosh entered in service of this concern in 1939 when it was only a proprietory concern At that time, the factory of the Company was situate at Howrah. The concern, however, has since become a Limited Company and the factory also has been shifted to Panihati some time in 1951-52. It appears that Shri Ghosh worked in this Company's Howrah Factory till 1948-49 only.

Thereafter he was transferred to Company's Head Office at Calcutta and till the date of his discharge, he continued to be a Head Office employee. It is the common case of both the parties that Shri Ghosh has been discharged apparently on the ground of economy. He was not dismissed on account of any misconduct on his part. So, this appears to be purely a case of retrenchment from Head Office staff. But Shri Ghosh concedes that not a single workman of the Head Office of the Company has taken up his cause. On the other hand, there is an affidavit sworn by one of the Head Office employees to show that the workmen of the Company at its Head Office had not either jointly or separately espoused the cause of Shri Ghosh. It is not the case of Shri Ghosh also that any workman of the Head Office supports his case. So, there is not an iota of doubt that Shri Ghosh's dispute is not supported by any one of the employees at the Head Office. Shri Ghosh's contention is that some of the workers of the Company's factory at Panihati have taken up his cause and his case is being espoused by the National Union of Engineering Workers which represents him before this Tribunal and the appropriate Government. It is the accepted position of both the parties that no worker of the Head Office is a member of this Union. Shri Ghosh, of course, contends that he alone became a member of this Union some time before his retrenchment. I shall discuss hereafter how far his allegation of membership of this Union is correct. I may presently mention that it is accepted by Shri Ghosh also that none of the factory workers also of the Company are members of the said National Union of Engineering Workers. Thus, it is absolutely clear that no other worker either of the Head Office or the factory of the Company is actually a member of the National Union of Engineering Workers. Hence it is at once clear that support of the National Union of Engineering Workers cannot convert the present individual dispute into an industrial dispute. Shri Ghosh also admits in his deposition that he failed to enlist the sympathy of anyone of his co-workers at Head Office. So, after termination of his service, he once went to the Company's factory at Panihati and approached the Krudd Industry's Union for its factory workers. It is also conceded by Shri Ghosh that this Union of the factory workers also refused to take up his case or cause. However, when Shri Ghosh failed to enlist the sympathy of these factory worker's Union also, he says, he approached the National Union of Engineering Workers which had no connection whatsoever with he present industry or its workers of any branch. Shri Ghosh tries to add that several days later, some of the workers of the factory held a meeting and they agreed to espouse his cause and accordingly, they signed a letter and thereby requested the President of the National Union of Engineering Workers to take up the cause of Shri Ghosh. Hence it is sought to be urged that Shri Ghosh's cause or dispute being taken up by a section of the factory workers and he being represented by the National Union of Engineering Workers, his dispute has been transformed into an industrial dispute. But I have already pointed out that National Union of Engineering Workers has no loco-standi to convert his individual dispute to an industrial dispute because the members of this Union are not in any way connected with the Company or the employer of Shri Ghosh. They are not substantially interested in Shri Ghosh because their terms of employment or conditions of service are evidently different from those of Shri Ghosh. It has been repeatedly held by their Lordships of Supreme Court that the person regarding whom the dispute is raised must be one in whose employment, non-employment, terms of employment or conditions of service, the parties to the dispute have directly and substantially interested. Simply because Shri Ghosh might have enlisted him as a member of this Union, shortly before the order of his discharge, the Union is not competent to raise his dispute because the employees of the Company concerned have no connection whatsoever with this Union.

Next, it is sought to be urgued that the individual dispute of Shri Ghosh has been transferred into an industrial dispute because of the alleged support of his cause by some of the factory workers. It is the contention of the Company that even the factory workers do not support his cause. So it is for the workmen to prove that his case has been actually taken up by the factory workers as alleged. I may point out that none of the factory workers has actually deposed before this Tribunal. The Assistant Secretary of Messrs. Krud Industries Workers' Union has been examined before this Tribunal by Shri Ghosh. But this Assistant Secretary is not a workman of the Company's factory. This Assistant Secretary concedes that his Union could not espouse Shri Ghosh's cause as he was not a member of the Union. This Assistant Seceretary, however, tries to add that some of the factory workers wanted to help Shri Ghosh and expressed readiness to sign papers for the purpose, and accordingly, some workers affixed their signatures to a paper at the factory gate on a certain date (vide Ext. 3). Thus the Assistant Secretary's deposition also is clear enough to show that the fatcory workers' Union did not take up the cause of Shri Ghosh. It is simply urged that some individual workers wanted to support him and they affixed their signatures to Ext. 3. In these circumstances, I have great doubt if the factory workers really wanted to identify themselves with Shri Ghosh's cause. In fact, the question of their identifving with Shri Ghosh's cause did not arise at all because the terms and conditions of employment of Shri Ghosh at Head Office are not surely same with those of the factory workers at Panihati. All that appears to me that Shri Ghosh prevailed upon some of the workers to affix their signatures to a certain paper, purporting to appeal to the President of National Union of Engineering workers to take up the case of Shri Ghosh. So I am afraid, the support of these factory workers did not really convert the individual dispute of Shri Ghosh into an industrial dispute. Assuming for argument's sake that a section of factory workers really decided to espouse the cause of Shri Ghosh, let me see if such support was sufficient enough to transform Shri Ghosh's individual dispute with the Management into an industrial dispute. In this connection I may refer to the Supreme Court decision in a case between Bombay Union of Working Journalists and others and "Hindu", Bombay, and another (21—FJR 207)

The decision of their Lordships in this connection is—

> "The dispute which is prima facie an individual dispute can become an industrial dispute for the purposes of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, only when it has been established that it has been taken up by a trade union of the workmen of the employer or by an appreciable number of the workmen of the employer. The persons who seek to support the cause of the workmen must themselves be directly and substantially interested in the dispute. The persons who are not employees of the same employer cannot be regarded as so interested.".

In the present case, the workers who purport to take up Shri Ghosh's case, cannot be said to be directly and substantially interested in Shri Ghosh or his non-employment, because the terms of employment and conditions of labour at the factory are not same as those of the Head Office. So, in spite of support, if any, of some of the factory workers, the present dispute remains an individual one and the reference must be held to be invalid in that view of the matter

Before I proceed further I may also mention that it is highly doubtful if Shri Ghosh at all became a member of the National Union of Engineering Workers as alleged by him. His services were terminated sometime in the last part of March 1961 and his allegation is that he became a member of this Union in January 1961. But peculiarly enough there is not a scrap of paper to show that Shri Ghosh was actually enrolled as a member of this Union. He has no receipt to show that he paid any subscription of the said Union. No member or officer of that Union comes before this Tribunal to say that Shri Ghosh actually became a member of this Union. The fact appears to be that Shri Ghosh failed to annex sympathy of his co-workers. Then he approached the Union of the factory workers of this Company. The factory workers' Union also did not agree to oblige him. So, he tried to prevail upon some of the individual workers of the factory and with their assistance he got a letter addressed to the President of the National Union of Engineering Workers. I am afraid, it is difficult for any body to believe that he is connected with the National Union of Engineering Workers. The plea of his membership of this Union appears to be an eye-wash and not a reality. Anyway, his membership or otherwise of this Union does not help him much against the technical objection raised on behalf of the Company. In view of the circumstances already discussed, the dispute remains an individual one in spite of his being represented by the National Union or supported by some of the workers of the factory of this Company.

The next contention of the Company is that Shri Ghosh has no longer any right to re-agitate the matter before this Tribunal in view of the fact that he has already accepted a certain amount of money in full and final satisfaction of all his claims against the Management. In this connection, the Company refers me to Ext. A. From this Ext. it will be clear that Shri Ghosh received Rs. 600 on 3rd April 1961 in full and final settlement of all his claims and he clearly stated therein that he had no further claims against the Company in any respect including that of reinstatement. Thus, this bipartite agreement or waiver gives a quietus to the dispute, if any, between the Company and the workman concerned Shri Ghosh. In fact, this fact of payment and execution of Ext. A is admitted in Shri Ghosh's written statement also. All that he tries to allege is that he was coerced by the Management into signing this voucher with all the terms and conditions mentioned therein. But the Management categorically denies the allegation of coercion. So, Shri Ghosh has to prove that this Ext. A was the result of coercion or compulsion as alleged by him. But there is only oath versus oath on this point and I am afraid, Shri Ghosh has hopelessly failed to substantiate his allegation of coercion in this respect. Shri Ghosh is highly educated and sufficiently intelligent and I refuse to believe that he could be coerced like that to sign a document like Ext. A, if he would not really agree to do it. I fully believe that for certain reasons he at first executed Ext. A and accepted the money paid by the Management. Later, he changed his mind and tried to re-agitate the matter of reinstatement. So, he fabricated the story of coercion as an afterthought only. He was not the only man to be discharged at about that time by the Management for economic reasons. All other retrenched workers also similarly accepted certain amounts of money in full and final settlement of their claim. I believe, Shri Ghosh also for similar consideration accepted the payment without protest or objection. Subsequently he somehow formed the idea that he could get higher amount of compensation according to law. So, he tried to raise an industrial dispute with the help of other persons who were not his colleagues.

It is now urged before me that the Management did not give any notice to the appropriate Government in the prescribed manner and that it failed to pay full amount of compensation to Shri Ghosh in accordance with section 25F of the Act before he was actually retrenched, and so, his retrenchment should be deemed as void. Of course there is nothing before this Tribunal to show that any notice under section 25F(c) of the Act was sent to the appropriate Government. It is also a fact that Shri Ghosh received Rs. 600 on 3rd April 1961 whereas, his services were terminated on the 30th of March 1961. But I may point out that these objections must be deemed to have been waived by Shri Ghosh by the document marked Ext. A. Moreover, Shri Ghosh was paid one month's wages in lieu of notice and so, non-payment of his dues before 30th of March did not make the retrenchment illegal, specially when the payment was accepted without objection by Shri Ghosh on 3rd April 1961. However, this technical objection on behalf of the workman need not be considered finally in this case in view of the fact that the reference itself was invalid on account of its being an individual dispute and not an industrial dispute. So, in any view of the case, Shri S. K. Ghosh is not entitled to any relief before this Tribunal.

This is my award.

AWARD

The above dispute over the issues given in the order of reference and reproduced below was referred for adjudication to this Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 18051.R./IR/11L-133/60, dated the 17th May 1962.

Issues

(1) Is the closure of the house with effect from 16th August 1961 till reopening under a lessee justified? What relief, if any, are the workmen entitled to?

(2) Is the termination of service of the workmen by the original proprietors (i.e., Messrs. Provash Ch. Dhur & Bros. who are now said to be Landlords, justified? To what relief, if any (including continuity of service under the present lessee), are they entitled to?

The genesis of the present dispute as raised by the Union and the relevant contentions of the parties may be briefly described as follows. Messrs. Provash Ch. Dhur & Bros., a firm, used to carry on business of public exhibition of Cinema films in the Queen Cinema House at Budge Budge. About 30 employees used to work in this Cinema business in different capacities. Since July 1961, the workers started agitation for implementation of the Government notification for minimum wages in respect of workers of cinema industry. From 14th August 1961 the workers started hunger-strike in the Cinema House in support of their demands. On 15th August 1961 the workers served a notice upon the proprietors intimating that they would go on general strike from 16th August 1961. The notice was served on the Manager of the Cinema business, Shri A. B. Das Gupta, on 15th August 1961 at 5-45 p.m. (Ext. 12). On 16th August 1961 the proprietors issued a notice closing the Cinema with effect from that date (Ext. 9). The workers served anotheer notice on the Manager at 2-45 p.m. on 16th August 1961, withdrawing their previous strike notice (Ext. 7). The hunger-strike by the workers in the Cinema House continued in spite of all these notices till 30th October 1961. There was no Cinema show in the house from 16th August 1961. On 30th October 1961 the proprietors issued a notice under section 25FFF, Industrial Disputes Act, stating that the business had been closed from 16th August 1961 and that the services of all the employees stood terminated, with effect from the said date (16th August 1961) and asking the employees to take payments to their legal dues from the office of the business (Ext. 4). After issue of this notice, 13 out of 30 workers employed in the Cinema, took payments of their legal dues from the Company and intimated the fact to the Labour Commissioner by a letter, dated 27th February 1962 (Ext. 1). Exhibition of Cinema films in the House commenced again from 9th February 1962. Shri S. M. Solaiman alleging himself to be the lessee of the Cinema House with all its fittings, fixtures, furniture and equipments, started Cinema show in the House from 9th February 1962. He claimed that he had started his own independent business of exhibition of Cinema films in the House after taking lease of the House with its fittings, fixtures, furniture and equipments. The former proprietors, Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. also supported this position. It was alleged that Shri Solaiman had become a monthly tenant of the House with its fittings, fixtures, furniture and equipments by virtue of a lease which became effective from 1st February 1962 and it was created by exchange of letters (Exts. A and B). Shri Solaiman employed only 3 or 4 of the former employees of Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. in connection with the Cinema show which started in the House again from 9th February 1962 and the remaining workers were not employed. The workers took up the position that the alleged closure of the Cinema business by Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. on and from 16th August 1961 was really a lock-out of the House and it was resorted to in a vindictive spirit against the workers because they had been agitating for their lawful demand of implementation of the Government notification for minimum wages. They further took up the position that the alleged closure was not real or bona fide and the alleged lease to Shri Solaiman was not also a real and bona fide lease, but it was a pretended lease and the same Cinema business of Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. was continuing from 9th February 1962 under the garb of the pretended lease. They contended that the business was being carried on with the good-will in the shape of the name of "Queen Cinema" and under the same licence granted to Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. and as such, there was identity between the Cinema business which was purported to have been closed on 16th August 1961 and the Cinema business which was purported to have been started by the pretended lessee, Shri S. N. Solaiman. They also took up the position that in any case, Shri S. M. Solaiman as the lessee and successor-in-interest of Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. was legally bound to employ them in his Cinema business with continuity of service under the law. They, therefore, claimed that they were entitled to be reinstated in the Cinema business said to be carried on by Shri Solaiman with continuity of service and to be paid all their back wages for the period of unemployment. The dispute arising over these claims was taken up to the Labour Directorate and after an unsuccessful attempt at conciliation, the same dispute was referred to this Tribunal for adjudication. I have already reproduced above the issues referred for adjudication in connection with the disptue.

I have shown above the respective contentions of the parties to the dispute in regard to certain material facts which constitute the merits of the case. These contentions will be dealt with and decided when the merits will be taken up for decision. Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. and Shri S. M. Solaiman have also raised some preliminary objections against the maintainability of the present reference. Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. have raised the contention that after the closure of the business with effect from 16th August 1961, there was no relationship of employer and employee between them and the workers of this Cinema and as such, the former workers are not competent to raise any industrial dispute in regard to the closure against them and so, it is not an industrial dispute. They have also contended in common with Shri S. M. Solaiman that the order of reference showing the existence of a dispute between Messrs. Queen Cinema and their workmen is untenable and illegal, because Queen Cinema is merely the name of the Show House and is not a juridical body or person capable of employing any persons.

I first take up the preliminary objections raised by Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. and Shri S. M. Solaiman. There is no substance in the first objection raised by Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. that it is not an industrial dispute because after the closure of the business with effect from 16th August 1961, the workers ceased to be employees of the business and as such, they had no right to raise an industrial dispute. It cannot be gainsaid that in spite of the closure as alleged by Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros., the workers employed under them were fully competent to raise an industrial dispute about the closure itself by challenging it as not real and bona fide and claim appropriate reliefs on that basis. The whole case of the workers practically rests on that footing in the present dispute. They have challenged the closure as unreal and mala fide and further contended that the alleged lease to Shri S. M. Solaiman was not also real and bona fide and the same business has been re-opened under the garb of the lease. Such a dispute is certainly an industrial disptue capable of adjudication under a reference made by the Government under section 10(1), Industrial Disputes Act. This objection is, therefore, rejected.

The next objection that the reference showing the existence of a dispute between Messrs. Queen Cinema and the workmen employed in the Cinema is not maintainable, because Queen Cinema is not a juridical body or person with whom there can be any industrial dispute. It appears that Queen Cinema is the name of the House where the Cinema business is carried on and it has no meaning beyond that. It further appears prima facie from the order of reference itself that Messrs. Provash Ch. Dhur & Bros. were the original proprietors of the business and now Shri S. M. Solaiman is the lessee. Evidence also prima facie points to that direction. Both Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. and Shri S. M. Solaiman are also named as parties to the dispute. According to the prima facie position arising out of the order of reference itself, the reference relates substantially to a dispute between Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros., the original proprietors, and Shri S. M. Solaiman, the present lessee, as the employers, and the employees of the cinema business. So, the employers' side is fully represented in the order of reference and it does not matter that the name of Queen Cinema is also given in the order of reference. In view of this position, I hold that the reference is not illegal or invalid on ground that Messrs. Queen Cinema named as a party to the dispute is not a juridical person or body. So this objection is also rejected.

Both the issues referred for adjudication in the present case are closely inter-connected and interdependent and hence these should be taken up together for decision. The first issue relates to the question of justifiability of the closure of the Cinema House with effect from 16th August 1961 and the second relates to the question of justifiability of termination of service of the workers by Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. on the basis of the closure and the reliefs to which they are entitled including reinstatement under the present lessee with continuity of service.

The first issue as referred to this Tribunal takes the closure of the House with effect from 16th August 1961 as a fact and for decision of the question whether it was justified. The Union in the written statement filed on behalf of the workers has tried to make out the case that it was really a lock-out and not a closure. But the issue as it stands clearly excludes the consideration of any question of lock-out. In any case, I am satisfied from the evidence produced that it was a case of closure of the business and not a lock-out. I have already described above, the undisputed background circumstances leading to the action taken by Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. in declaring the House closed with effect from 16th August 1961. There was agitation by the workers for implementation of the Government notification for minimum wages from July 1961, and the agitation culminated in the starting of hunger-strike by the workers in the Cinema House from 14th August 1961 and finally in the strike notice by the workers on 15th August 1961. It appears that Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. were not willing to implement the Government notification for minimum wages as it stood then and they considered the agitation resorted by the workers including hunger-strike as an attempt to coerce the Management to submission in the matter of implementation of minimum wages. In this view of the matter, Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. issued notice of closure, Ext. 9. It was clearly intimated in the notice that the Management was obliged to close down the Cinema as it was not possible to run the show and there was apprehension of breach of the peace and security of the properties might be in danger. Of course, it is also an undisputed position that the workers issued another notice withdrawing the strike notice, but the evidence is that this withdrawal notice was received by the Manager at 2-45 p.m. on 16th August 1961 (vide Ext. 7). It further appears that since 16th August 1961 the Cinema House remained completely closed and there was no Cinema show in the House by Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. and after more than five months the Cinema show was again started in the House by Shri S. M. Solaiman as lessee. This long stretch of stoppage of business by Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. may be taken as clearly indicating that they really closed the business on their part in view of the agitation of the Cinema workers for minimum wages to which they decided not to submit. The proprietor of a business has the fundamental right of closing down his business or not to continue his business further if he finds that the circumstances are such that he cannot carry on the business in his own way. In the present case, the proprietors thought, and I think rightly, that they could not carry on the business unless they submitted to the demands for minimum wages under the Government notification as it stood then, but they did not consider it proper to submit to the demands. Ext. H, the audited balance-sheet with profit and loss account for the year ended 17th April 1961, which stands unchallenged and uncontradicted, proves that the firm had already suffered a loss of Rs. 24,393.38 nP. for the said year. The proprietors could reasonably apprehend further and greater trouble from the employees if they continued to carry on the business without submitting to the workers' demand for the alleged minimum wages. The evidence discloses that after notice of closure on 16th August 1961, Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. returned the Cinema films already booked and completely stopped the Cinema show and on the same date they asked their Manager Shri A. B. Das Gupta to continue to look after their properties in the Queen Cinema only (Ext. J). On 30th October 1961 the proprietors Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. issued the notice under section 25FFF, Industrial Disputes Act, referring to the closure of the Cinema by notice, dated 16th August 1961 and asking them to take all their legal dues under section 25FFF from them. In this notice, they also categorically denied the employees' contention that it was not a closure but lock-out, as raised in their letter, dated 26th October 1961. Considering the conduct of the proprietors Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. in the light of the prevailing circumstances created by the workers' agitation, it cannot be said that their action in closing the Cinema business altogether from 16th August 1961 was not real or bona fide. If the proprietors found that they could not run the Cinema business smoothly and in peace on account of the strong agitation on the part of the workers going to the length of hunger-strike in the Cinema House itself, they were certainly entitled to close down the business and avoid all further trouble and conflict with the workers. If the Proprietors thought that they could not properly carry on the business by submitting to the workers' demands for minimum wages and they would rather close down their business, they had, in my view, every legal right to do so. I have referred to the notice, dated 30th October 1961, under section 25FFF by the Proprietors asking the workers to take all their legal dues under that section. This shows that they had decided upon final and absolute closure of the business and had accordingly offered to pay the statutory compensation for the closure. It does not matter that the notice was not issued simultaneously with the closure from 16th August 1961 or very shortly after that. There is nothing in the Industrial Disptues Act making the issue of such notice or the offer of legal compensation payable to the workers upon closure a condition precedent to the closure. All that section 25FFF lays down is that when an undertaking is closed down for any reason whatsoever, the workers shall be entitled to notice and compensation in accordance with the provisions of section 25F as if the workers had been retrenched. This section has been interpreted to mean that loss of service on account of closure of an undertaking is not strictly retrenchment but it is to be treated as retrenchment for the purpose of payment of compensation only. If one month's notice as required by section 25F(a) is not given, the workmen shall be entitled to wages for the period, but non-issue of the notice will not completely invalidate the closure. In the notice under section 25FFF Industrial Disputes Act, given by the Proprietors in the present case, such notice wages were offered to the workers in addition to the other legal compensations. I am satisfied from the evidence produced before me that no business was at all carried on by Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. in the Cinema House from 16th August 1961 and finally they left out the House with its fittings, fixtures, furniture and equipments to Shri S. M. Solaiman with effect from 1st February 1962, and thereafter Shri Solaiman started his own Cinema business as lessee from 9th February 1962 on the basis of the Cinema exhibition licence already held by Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. by a special arrangement between them and this arrangement was to hold good till Shri S. M. Solaiman got independent licence in his own name. This special arrangement is a term in the lease itself as evidenced by the letters of the lease, Exts. A and B. It has been contended on behalf of the Union that the carrying on of the Cinema business by Shri S. M. Solaiman on the licence of Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros., shows that it was not a new business but a continuation of the old business and if there was lease, there was lease of the entire business. It has also been contended that under the law, the Cinema exhibitions licence issued to a particular person is non-transferable. No doubt under the provisions of the West Bengal Cinemas (Regulation of Public Exhibitions) Rules, 1956, a Cinema exhibition licence is not ordinarily transferable and it is ordinarily restricted to the person to whom it is granted (vide Rule 19). In the present case, there is strictly no transfer of the licence by Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. to Shri S. M. Solaiman, but there is only a temporary agreement authorising Shri S. M. Solaiman to carry on his own Cinema business in the House on the basis of the licence till he gets a licence in his own name and evidence is that he has already applied for a licence in his own name and the licensing authority, the District Magistrate of 24-Parganas, has entertained the application and has called for certain papers which have been submitted. Even assuming that such use of the Cinema exhibition licence by Shri S. M. Solaiman is illegal, and also penal, this cannot do away with the fact of the lease of the Cinema House with its fittings, fixtures, furniture and equipments to Shri S. M. Solaiman and the further fact of his carrying on his own business in the same House. If he is carrying on the business on an invalid licence, he may be prosecuted and punished, under the law and the business may be stopped by the proper authority. In these circumstances, the fact of the carrying on of the Cinema business by Shri S. M. Solaiman on the licence issued in the name of Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. cannot and does not establish ipso facto the identity of Shri S. M. Solaiman's business with the business of Messrs P. C. Dhur & Bros., nor the taking of lease of the business of Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. by Solaiman. Shri S. M. Solaiman has impressed me as quite an independent person capable of carrying on the Cinema business. He is a contractor under Messrs. Burmah-Shell Oil Co. It has not at all been suggested that he is a man of straw and he is not financially competent to start and run a Cinema business of his own. Exhibits A and B are the letters exchanged between Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. and Shri S. M. Solaiman for creating the lease. Ext. C is a rent receipt granted to Shri S. M. Solaiman upon payment of the monthly rent of Rs. 2,500 for August 1962. Ext. D shows that Shri Solaiman has submitted six rent receipts and the letters of lease to the Licence Department of the office of the District Magistrate, 24-Parganas, and his evidence is that he has submitted these papers to District Magistrate's office for getting a licence in his own name. I see no reason to disbelieve him. Shri A. B. Das Gupta was the Manager of the Cinema business under Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. I have already referred to the fact that after closure of the business on 16th August 1961, he was only asked to look after the properties of Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. in the Queen Cinema House. It appears that Shri Solaiman appointed Shri A. B. Das Gupta as the Manager of his Cinema business at the Queen Cinema Hall. Ext. G is the appointment letter. It was quite natural that after starting an independent Cinema business of his own, he would appoint the former Manager of this business as his Manager. This was certainly in line with business practice. I am unable to hold that the appointment of Shri A. B. Das Gupta as Manager shows that the alleged closure by Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. was not real but it was a pretended closure and then the business was resumed by Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. under a pretended lease in favour of Shri S. M. Solaiman. It is never suggested on behalf of the workers that Shri Solaiman is a man under the control of Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. or in any case, he has such relations with Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. that he has obliged them by simply lending his name as the lessee for the purpose of re-opening the Cinema business. Much has been made of the fact on behalf of the Union that the Cinema business is still being carried on in the name of Queen Cinema and leaflets are being issued accordingly simply with a note that Shri S. M. Solaiman is the lessee. Queen Cinema is nothing but the name of the Cinema House. It is not certainly the name of the business, though as a matter of practice, the name of the House is printed in letter heads. The use of the name of "Queen Cinema" by Shri S. M. Solaiman in his letter heads does certainly indicate and prove that he has taken the good-will of the business in the name of the Queen Cinema. He is nothing but the lessee of the Queen Cinema House for the purpose of carrying on his own Cinema business there and, necessarily, the name of the Cinema House would find a place in the printed letter head. The evidence clearly indicates that Shri S. M. Solaiman is not the lessee of the business under Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros., but he is simply the lessee of the Queen Cinema House with its fittings, fixtures, furniture and equipments and he has started his own business there and it is quite an independent business. In the above view of the entire facts and circumstances bearing on the points of closure of the Cinema business by Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. from 16th August 1961 and the re-opening of the Cinema business in the House from 9th February 1962 by Shri S. M. Solaiman,

I hold that closure of the business by Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. from 16th August 1961 was real and bona fide and was justified and after the closure, Shri S. M. Solaiman has started a new Cinema business of his own in the same House after taking lease of the House with its fittings, fixtures, furniture and equipments from Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. and there is no identity between the former Cinema business of Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. and the new Cinema business of Shri S. M. Solaiman, notwithstanding that the Cinema business is being carried on in the same House with the same equipments. As the closure of the Cinema business by Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. is found to have been justified, the resultant termination of the services of the workers employed in that business is also held to be justified.

Let us now examine what would be the legal position if it is assumed that the business of exhibition of Cinema films now being carried on in the Queen Cinema Hall by Shri S. M. Solaiman is nothing but a leasehold business and Shri S. M. Solaiman is nothing but the lessee of the business, In that case, it may be said that Shri S. M. Solaiman would be the successor in interest of Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. in respect of the business under a transfer by lease. The Industrial Disputes Act has been amended by inclusion of section 25FF to provide for such a case and this section lays down the reliefs to which workmen of the business would be entitled to in the successor business. This section has also extended to the workmen the same reliefs in regard to compensation as are admissible to workmen in an undertaking which is closed down under section 25FFF. The workmen shall be entitled to notice and compensation in accordance with the provisions of section 25F as if they had been retrenched. There is a proviso to section 25FF making the provision of this section as to compensation in applicable to workmen under certain conditions and the conditions are that the services of the workmen have not been interrupted by the transfer, the terms and conditions of service applicable to the workmen after such transfer are not less favourable than those in the previous business and the new employer is under the terms of the transfer or otherwise legally liable to pay compensation to the workmen in case of retrenchment on the basis of continuous service and not regarding the transfer as interruption. If the whole section including the proviso be read together, the legal position laid down by this section comes to this that if the workmen of the former business are given continuous service without any change in the terms and conditions of service and without possibility of suffering any loss in respect of retrenchment compensation, if there is retrenchment, on the ground of interruption of service by the transfer, they would not be entitled to any compensation from the former owners of the business, but if the protections as to service conditions referred to in the proviso is not given by the successor-in-interest, or secured by the terms of the transfer, they would be entitled to compensation in the same manner as if they had been retrenched. It did not lay down that successor in-interest must supply the old workmen. In the present case, the workmen would be entitled to compensation in the same manner as if they have been retrenched because the conditions of the proviso have not been fulfilled and they have not been kept in service by the successor-in-interest and there is no provision in the terms of the lease for their employment under the lessee on the same terms and conditions as before and for protection against loss of retrenchment compensation. The decision on this point in the case of Ankapalla Co-operative Agricultural and Industrial Society versus its workmen and others [(1962(II) LLJ., page 621], clearly supports the aforesaid position. So, even if it is held that Shri Solaiman is successor-in-interest to Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. in respect of the Cinema business he is now carrying on, the workman would not be entitled to reinstatement or re-employment in his business, but they would be entitled to compensation in the same manner as if they have been retrenched under section 25FF, Industrial Disputes Act, from the former owners of the business, Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. It may be mentioned here that they would also be entitled to same compensation from Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. on the basis that there was closure of the business by Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. from 16th August 1961. Accordingly, I hold on the basis of the interpretation of section 25FF by the Supreme Court in the case referred to above that even if it is held that Shri S. M. Solaiman is the lessee of the business of Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros., the workers employed under Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros., who are now employed by Shri S. M. Solaiman, would not be entitled to reinstatement or re-employment under Shri S. M. Solaiman, but they would be entitled to compensation under section 25FF in the same manner as if they have been retrenched.

On all the findings and for the reasons given above, I hold under Issue No. 1 that the closure of the House, with effect from 16th August 1961 was justified and the concerned workmen are only entitled to the relief of getting compensation under section 25FFF, Industrial Dispute Act, as offered by Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros.; and under Issue No. 2. I hold that the termination of services of the workmen on account of the closure of the business by Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. with effect from 16th August 1961 was justified and the workmen are not entitled to any relief except the relief of compensation under section 25FFF, Industrial Disputes Act, from Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. and they are not entitled to re-employment or reinstatement in service under Shri S. M. Solaiman. As it is proved that 13 of the former workmen under Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. have already accepted legal compensations under section 25FFF paid to them, the remaining workmen formerly employed under Messrs. P. C. Dhur & Bros. would get their legal compensations under section 25FFF including one month's notice wages from Messrs.

P. C. Dhur & Bros. and these compensations are to be paid within 15 days from the publication of the award. No other relief is admissible to any other workman.

I further make it clear that compensations shall be paid under section 25FFF(1) and not under the proviso to that section because it cannot be said that closure was due to unavoidable circumstances beyond the control of the employers. I award accordingly.

AWARD

This is an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, filed by workman Surendra Nath Das complaining against his employer Messrs. Hindusthan National Glass Manufacturing Co. Ltd., in contravention of the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act in the matter of his dismissal from service. His case in the petition was that following a domestic enquiry into the charges against him he was dismissed from his services by the Company for some alleged misconduct without compliance with the provisions contained in the proviso to section 33(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act. Hence his claim was for reinstatement after setting aside the order of dismissal.

The Company opposed the application by filing written objections. They denied the alleged contravention of the provisions of section 33(2)(b) proviso.

The workman since after filing of this complaint did not take any further step in the proper prosecution of the case. He did neither appear on the dates fixed for hearing nor did take any step whatsoever. On the contrary, the Company was regular in attendance at the hearing of the case. The learned representative of the Union was, however, contacted to ascertain the correct position, but he has intimated this tribunal that he is not in touch with the workman, who has not also sent any instruction to proceed with the complaint. In the circumstances, I have no other alternative but to dismiss the complaint for dismissal and for want of proper prosecution.

BEFORE THE SECOND INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri P. C. PAL, Judge.

Appearances:

For the applicant: None.

For the opposite party: Shri N. M. Dasgupta, Advocate.

This is an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act of 1947 by Sarbasree Matru Harijan and Chhangur Ram against opposite party's order of dismissal passed against them for cancellation of that order and for reinstatement of the petitioner with back wages, etc.

The allegations contained in the appplication are as follows. The petitioners served as workmen in the Company's factory at Dum Dum Road honestly and efficiently. They were active members of the Union, against which the Company, opposite party, started various offensives in order to crush the Union and resorted to unfair labour practices to harass, victimise and punish the workmen on false pretext. The Company dismissed the petitioners from 9th December 1961 during the pendency of the main dispute before this Tribunal, without applying for Tribunal's approval of its action, and thus violated the provision of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. The order of dismissal was passed summarily without any enquiry and by violating the principle of natural justice, on the ground that the petitioners were convicted with a fine of Rs. 10 each by the Police Magistrate of Sealdah on 2nd December 1961 on charge of assaulting some workers of the contractors outside the gate of he factory. The alleged incident of assault had no relation with the factory, and the very allegation of assault is untrue. There was no sufficient reason of dismissal of the petitioners, nor were they given any reasonable opportunity to explain their conduct and defend themselves. Their dismissal was illegal, mala fide, vindictive and unjustified.

In the written statement of the opposite party the following averments are made: The application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is belated, unmaintainable and misconceived. The story of harassment and victimisation of workers by the Company is absolutely untrue. The petitioners committed gross misconduct by committing criminal offence in relation to the factory establishment and matters connected therewith. Their assault on men of the Company's contractor working in the establishment is true and established fact, and they were rightly convicted in the Criminal Court. Workers named Nimai Halder, Yusuf and Musa refused to become members of the Union for which the petitioners not only threatened them in the factory premises but on 15th July 1961 when those workers were coming out of the factory the petitioners, with the help of one Badal Chatterjee, caught hold of those workers and assaulted them. The allegation of violation of principle of natural justice is untrue and untenable. The Company was justified in dismissing the petitioners for their misconduct.

When the case came up for hearing on 4th December 1962, the applicants remained absent though their lawyer was present. The Company was ready with evidence for purpose of the final hearing. The applicants' lawyer was unable to proceed with the case in their absence and so the case was taken up for ex-parte hearing against the applicants under rule 21 of the West Bengal Industrial Disputes Rules of 1958.

The legal objection taken in the application is that the Company violated the provision of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. An application under section 33A is maintainable when section 33 is violated, otherwise not. The proviso to clause (2) of section 33 enjoins that no workman shall be discharged or dismissed during the pendency of an industrial dispute unless he has been paid wages for one month and an application has been made by the employer before the Tribunal concerned for approval of the action taken by the employer. In the present case there is nothing to show that the Company complied with the provisions of the proviso. Thus there was violation of the legal provision and hence the application under section 33A is legally maintainable.

As regards merits of the case, there is nothing to say in favour of the applicants and the Company's case appears to be fully established. The applicants were prosecuted in the Criminal Court at Sealdah and convicted with a fine of Rs. 10 each for having assaulted three workers (Nimai, Yusuf and Musa) of the Company's contractor on 15th July 1961. That incident of assault was established in the Criminal Court which convicted the petitioners as stated above under section 323 of Indian Penal Code, vide Ext. A (certified copy of the judgment of the criminal case). In the application it was contended that the said incident of assault had no connection with Company's factory. This contention is invalid and unacceptable. Certainly the assault had concern with the factory establishment not only in view of the contention of the Company but also in view of the Judgment of the Criminal Court inasmuch as the occurrence arose over Union membership and as the assaulted persons, though men of the Company's contractor, were indirectly connected with the Company's establishment. In the circumstances the Company was quite justified in dismissing the petitioners for gross misconduct even without issuing any formal charge-sheet and without holding any formal domestic enquiry. Such formalities would not serve any useful purpose in the face of the Criminal Court Judgment. There is therefore no question of violation of any principle of natural justice.

In view of the above findings, the applicants' case cannot stand and is hereby rejected.

Award is passed accordingly.

Compared to December 1961, the index number for Dooars for the month of January 1962 remained steady at 101. The index number, however, moved up, gradually to 104, 105 and 107, respectively, in the months of February March and April. The rising trend continued and the index number stood at 109 and 110 in the months of May and June 1962 respectively. Rise in February, March and April was principally due to rise in the prices of rice and paddy and the same in May to rise in the prices of rice, paddy and kalai and that in June to an upward movement in the price of rice, kalai and potato.

Whereas for the purpose of the construction of a Superhighway connecting the Dum Dum Airport with Calcutta the Corporation has applied to the Government of West Bengal for the acquisition under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, of the piece or parcel of land containing 45.5095 acres or thereabout situate in the villages of—.

in the district of 24-Parganas and more particularly described in the schedule hereto and delineated in the *plan hereunto annexed.

And whereas the said Government of West Bengal, being satisfied by an enquiry held under section 40 of the said Act that the proposed acquisition is needed for the aforesaid purpose and that the said work is likely to prove useful to the public, has consented to acquire on behalf of the Corporation the piece or parcel of land hereinbefore described.

*Not printed but may be inspected in the office of the Special Land Acquisition Officer, Alipore, 24-Parganas.

And whereas the said Government of West Bengal has required the Corporation under the provisions of section 41 of the abovementioned Act to enter into the agreement with the Governor hereinafter contained. Now this indenture witnesseth that it is hereby agreed and declared as follows:—

1. On demand the Corporation shall and will pay to the said Government of West Bengal all and every compensation in respect of the said land tendered, paid or awarded or to be tendered, paid or awarded by the Collector under the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, or by Court to which a reference under Part III of the said Act may be made, or by the Court or Courts to which an appeal from the award of the said Court may be preferred and all costs, charges and expenses of the proceedings in the aforesaid Courts, or otherwise incidental to the proposed acquisition or payable in respect thereof under the provisions of the said Act.

2. On demand made by the said Collector the obligations of the Corporation under the last preceding clause not being thereby limited, the Corporation shall and will deposit with the said Collector such sum or sums of money as in his discretion the said Collector may in anticipation estimate to be necessary for the purposes mentioned in the last preceding clause.

3. On payment by the Corporation of all demands under the foregoing first clause, or, in the discretion of the said Government of West Bengal (on deposit by the Corporation of all estimated amounts as provided in the second clause), but not before possession shall have been taken under the provisions of the abovementioned Act, the Governor shall make over possession of the said land to the Corporation and shall execute and do all such acts and deeds as may be necessary and proper for effectually vesting the same in the Corporation.

4. The said land shall be held by the Corporation for the purposes of such a Superhighway as is hereinbefore mentioned and without the sanction in writing of the said Government of West Bengal first had and obtained for no other purpose whatsoever.

5. The said Superhighway shall be completed (and fully equipped in all respects ready for use) within three years from the date on which possession of the said land shall have been given to the Corporation.

6. Should the said Superhighway not be completed (and fully equipped in all respects ready for use) within the period stated in the last preceding clause or within such further period as in its discretion may be prescribed or allowed by the said Government of West Bengal or should the said land at any time thereafter cease for a period of twelve consecutive months, to be held and used or cease to be required for the purpose or purposes provided for in the foregoing fourth clause then and in any such case, the said Government may summarily re-enter upon and take possession of the said land together with all buildings thereon, whether such buildings were erected before or after transfer of the land to the Corporation, and thereupon the interest of the Corporation in the said land and buildings shall absolutely cease and determine.

7. On taking such possession the said Government may sell or otherwise deal with the said land and buildings as it may think proper—

(i) Should the said Government sell the land with the buildings, the said Government after deducting the expenses incurred in connection with the said taking of possession and with such sale shall pay the proceeds to the Corporation.

(ii) Should the said Government decide not to sell the land and buildings, the said Government shall retain the said land and buildings thereon in which case the Governor shall repay to the Corporation the market value as on the day of re-entry of all the buildings erected by the Corporation and all sums received from the Corporation in respect of all and every compensation as provided in the foregoing first clause (less the statutory allowance of 15 per cent. and less any amount received on account of trees and buildings which are not in existence at the time of resumption), but will not repay any sums paid and received on account of costs, charges and expenses.

(iii) Should the said Government decide to sell the buildings only upon such sale, the Governor shall, after deducting the expenses of taking possession and selling, pay the balance of the proceeds of sale to the Corporation, together with the sum received from the Corporation in respect of the compensation for the land (less the statutory allowance of 15 per cent. and less any amount received from the Corporation on account of trees and buildings which are not in existence at the time of resumption), but will not repay any sum paid and received on account of costs, charges and expenses.

8. The public shall be entitled to use the Superhighway on the terms and conditions as may be prescribed by appropriate authorities from time to time.

9. (2) All such registers shall be open to inspection, subject to the payment of a fee of Rupee one per page or part of a page of any register inspected and to such reasonable restrictions as the Custodian may impose, by any person, who in the opinion of the Custodian, is interested in any particular enemy property as a creditor or otherwise, and any such person may also obtain a copy of the relevant portion from the registers on payment of a fee of Rupees one per page or part of a page.

11. Fees for custody: (1) There shall be levied by the Custodian fees equal to two per centum of—

Provided further that the Custodian may with the sanction of the Central Government reduce or remit the fees leviable under this paragraph in any special case or class of cases.

(2) The value of any property for the purpose of assessing the fees shall be the price which, in the opinion of the Central Government or of an authority empowered in this behalf by the Central Government, such property would fetch if sold in the open market.

(4) The fees levied under this paragraph shall be credited to the Central Government.

RESOLUTION

Calcutta, the 20th January 1963.

The Governor and the Government of West Bengal have learnt with a deep sense of grief and sorrow of the passing away of Dr. Jiban Ratan Dhar, Minister for Health, West Bengal, on January 19, 1963, at 8-29 p.m. Dr. Dhar who had been keeping indifferent health for some time had undergone a major operation at the S. S. K. M Hospital. He was 74.

Dr. Dhar was an eminent physician, a renowned parliamentarian and an ardent social worker. After a distinguished career in the Indian Medical Service he relinquished his post to join the freedom movement and courted arrest several times.

After the partition Dr. Dhar moved to India from his ancestral home in Jessore, in East Pakistan and settled in Bongaon in West Bengal. He was returned to the West Bengal Legislative Assembly in 1952 and was appointed Minister of State for Jails. In 1962 he was again appointed Minister for Health.

Dr. Dhar had a charming personality and his affection and love for his fellow workers earned for him a large circle of friends and admirers to mourn his loss.

In his passing away the State and the country have suffered a great loss.

As a mark of respect to the departed soul the Government of West Bengal will observe State mourning for two days, January 20 and 21, 1963, and all offices of the Government of West Bengal, except the offices of the Registrar of Assurances and Collector of Stamp Revenue, will remain closed on Monday, January 21, 1963.

The Governor and the Government of West Bengal convey their heartfelt condolences to the members of Dr. Dhar's family.

PART IC—Awards by Industrial Tribunals and Price Index

GOVERNMENT OF WEST BENGAL

LABOUR DEPARTMENT

ORDERS

No. 147-I.R./IR/11L-535/61.—8th January 1963.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 54-I.R./IR/11L-535/61, dated the 5th January 1962, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Radhavallav Basak and Lakshmi Kanto Basak, 26A/48 Dum Dum Road, Calcutta-2, and their workmen represented by Calcutta Biri Mazdoor Union, 249 Bowbazar Street, Calcutta-12 regarding the issues mentioned in the said order being matters specified in the second and the third schedules to the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), was referred for adjudication to the Second Industrial Tribunal;

And whereas the said Second Industrial Tribunal has submitted to the State Government its award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Radhaballav Basak and Lakshmi Kanta Basak, 26A/48 Dum Dum Road, Calcutta-2, and their workmen represented by Calcutta Biri Mazdoor Union, 249 Bowbazar Street, Calcutta-12. (Case No. VIII-9/62.)

Present:

Shri P. C. PAL, Judge.

Appearances

For Radhaballav Basak: Shri P. K. Ghose, Advocate.

For Lakshmi Kanta Basak: Shri Amulya Mukherjee, Advocate, with Shri Sunil Kar, Advocate.

For the Union: Shri Parimal Dasgupta, Advocate.

This is a reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act of 1947, by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 54-I.R.IR/11L-535/61, dated 5th January 1962, for determination of the issues, namely—

1. Whether the lock-out of the Biri Rolling Centre at 39/7A Manicktalla Main Road, Calcutta, with effect from 11th March 1961 is justified?

2. What relief, if any, are the following workmen entitled to?

(1) Biswanath Basak.
(2) Radhashyam Basak.
(3) Monoranjan Basak.
(4) Netai Ch. Basak.
(5) Surja Narayan Basak.
(6) Jaidev Basak.
(7) Gopal Chandra Basak.
(8) Gour Chandra Basak (No. 1).
(9) Gour Chandra Basak (No. 2).
(10) Nemai Chandra Basak.
(11) Sambhu Nath Basak.
(12) Sunil Chandra Basak.
(13) Shyamlal Basak.

After service of notices to the parties, the Union appeared first and put in written statement. The Employers did not appear. Subsequent to service of notice personally, the employers, Shri Radhaballav Basak and Shri Lakshmi Kanta Basak, put in appearances separately and filed separate written statements of their own. Both of them raised preliminary objection against maintainability of the reference. This preliminary objecton was taken up and heard first of all.

The contentions of Shri Radhaballav Basak are these. There is nor has ever been any business concern or firm by the name Messrs. Radhaballav Basak and Lakshmi Kanta Basak, nor has there been any dispute whatsoever between these two alleged concerns and their workmen. Shri Radhaballav Basak had or has no business at 39/7A Manicktalla Main Road nor he had ever any connection with the said business. Shri L. K. Basak, entirely on his own account and with his own money, started a business for making biris in a temporary shed in 1953 in premises No. 39/7A Manicktalla Main Road. It was Shri L. K. Basak who alone took the necessary licence and permit from the Central Excise Department in his own name and carried on the said business entirely and exclusively for his own benefit, being the sole owner thereof and having no co-sharer or partner with him. Shri R. B. Basak never had any concern with or control over this business, and no business was ever carried in the joint names of Shri R. B. Basak and Shri Lakshmi Kanta Basak. No biris produced by Shri L. K. Basak at 39/7A Manicktalla Main Road were ever sold at 26A/48 Dum Dum Road where Shri R. B. Basak has been carrying his own personal business in his own name with licence obtained entirely in his own name and for his own benefit. The reference in respect of the alleged joint firm is, therefore, illegal and unmaintainable.

The objection in written statement of Shri L. K. Basak is also to the above effect.

The order of reference states about industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Radhaballav Basak and Lakshmi Kanta Basak, and their workmen. The address of the employers is given as No. 26A/48 Dum Dum Road. Issue No. 1 relates to the question of lock-out of the Biri Rolling Centre at 39/7A Manicktalla Main Road. The reference assumes two joint employers of 26A/48 Dum Dum Road having biri manufacturing centre at 39/7A Manicktalla Main Road. The employers deny any joint business in two names at either of these two addresses. They assert that only Radha Ballav Basak has his own personal business at the former address, whereas Lakshmi Kanta Basak has his own independent business at the latter address and his business was closed. This alleged "closure" is characterised by the Union as "lock-out" as assumed in the order of reference. This question touches upon the merit and is at present left out of my consideration.

Shri R. B. Basak as put in business licences granted by the Central Excise Department, and some other papers including rent receipts, to show that he alone is tenant of holding No. 26A/H/48 Dum Dum Road, and carries on his independent business there in his own name. To remove the doubt as to whether No. 26A/48 Dum Dum Road and No. 26A/H/48, Dum Dum Road, are identical or not. There was a local inspection by me on 11th December 1962 in presence of both parties' representatives and lawyers, and it was found that the two addresses were identical.

The licence and business khatas, etc., in relation to this particular address (26A/H/48-26A/48 Dum Dum Road) stand in the name of R. B. Basak alone. Shri L. K. Basak has produced his surrendered licence to show that he alone had his independent business in his own name at 39/7A Manicktalla Main Road. Admittedly, the workers, named in issue No. 2, were employees of the business at this address of Manicktalla. The contention of the employers is these workers had no concern with R. B. Basak or his business at Dum Dum Road. From papers filed I am satisfied as to the contentions of the employers. It is argued for the Union that Biris were rolled at Manicktalla address and sold at Dum Dum address. Even if that be so, still it does not necesarily prove that the two employers had or have any joint business in two names at either address. In the circumstances the reference in the name of a joint concern of two persons is defective. Shri Dasgupta, on behalf of the Union, has argued that the said defect regarding misjoinder of parties is not fatal and that the case may proceed at least against Shri L. K. Basak. He has referred to the cases reported in (i) 1952 (II) L. L. J. 365, (ii) 1959 (II) L. L. J. 84, and (iii) 1962 (II) L. L. J. 227. In the first case, there were 12 different Biri Merchants involved and the dispute was in the nature of a major dispute. In that case it was held that the question of misjoinder did not arise in the industrial dispute. In the second case, by mistake "workers" in place of "working journalists" was mentioned in the order of reference, and no objection was taken in the Labour Court concerned, and there was no proof of prejudice caused by the mistake. In the third case, there was question of "lock-out" versus "closure"., In the present case none of the principles enunciated in those cases applies. The dispute cannot proceed only in the name of L. K. Basak without proper amendment by the Government and without prejudice. It cannot in the aforesaid circumstances be held that the reference is good in the names of joint employers.

In the result I hold that the present reference in the joint names of Messrs. R. B. Basak and L. K. Basak is bad in law. The preliminary objection, therefore, succeeds and the reference is rejected.

Award is passed accordingly.

AWARD

After service of usual notices on the parties, both the parties have entered appearance and filed their respective written statements. The workmen's case in short is this: The present Company is one of the leading confectionery manufacturers in West Bengal and is an establishment of about 25 years. It employs about 65 workmen and its daily production is on an average worth Rs. 7,500. But the workers of the Company are very poorly paid. They enjoy no retiral benefits also. The Company has no certified standing orders for regulating the service conditions of the workmen. So, to ameliorate the grievances of the workmen, they formed a Union and got the same duly registered. But this formation of the Union was not viewed with good grace by the Management. However, the workers submitted a charter of demands on the 21st April 1960. But this submission of charter of demands infuriated the Management and it started victimising different workers with a view to crush the Union if possible. In pursuance of this policy, Shri Bir Bahadur was arbitrarily discharged from service without any enquiry whatsoever. Similarly, Shri Pulackdhari Ahir also was dismissed on certain pretext but really for his Union activities alone. Similarly, 12 other workmen also were discharged from service on 10th June 1960 on a false plea only. The Union moved the Labour Commissioner in this connection, but in spite of all conciliation attempts the just grievances of the workmen could not be redressed. The Union claims that the minimum wages including dearness allowance for the monthly-rated unskilled workers should be Rs. 60 and Rs. 2.31 nP. per day for the daily-rated workers. It is urged that the Company has been granting increment arbitrarily to a few workmen only. So, there should be a flat rule of increment with a yearly increment of Rs. 5 at least. It is also urged that the workmen of the factory should be declared permanent after completion of six months' service.

On the contrary, the case of the Company may be briefly stated as follows: It is pleaded that there is a valid agreement entered into between the Management and the James Lord & Sons Ltd. Employees' Union covering all points of the said charter of demands and that the said settlement is still in force. Hence, it is urged that the dispute as raised is not maintainable. The Company, it is alleged, is staggering for its existence with meagre financial resources and it is not in a position to undertake further financial responsibility. In fact, the Company is paying its casual daily-rated workers at the rate of Rs. 1.75 to Rs. 2 per diem, while the regular workers of the Company are being paid at the rate of Rs. 2 per day or Rs. 52 per month as consolidated wages. The Company never directly received any charter of demands from the said Workers' Union, but a copy of such demand was received from the Conciliation Officer only on 2nd August 1960, on which date the Company handed over a copy of the settlement already arrived at between the Management and the Employees' Union. As a matter of fact, the Company gives increment to its workmen at a progressive scale from time to time in consideration of their merit and efficiency. The workers No. (1) to (12) mentioned in issue No. 4 of the order of reference were all recruited as temporary workers due to seasonal requirement and had to be retrenched after the expiry of such requirement with due notice thereof to them. None of them completed 240 working days and so was not entitled to any retrenchment compensation. Subsequently when the Company required further temporary hands, it offered chances to the said retrenched workers, but none of them except five workers only reported for duty in response to the specific notice issued in this connection. Of the five workmen who actually turned up, three refused to accept the offer, but the other two are working even now. As regards Shri Bir Bahadur, the Company's case is that he was charge-sheeted on 30th May 1960 on the ground of commission of a major misconduct and found guilty after a proper domestic enquiry. Accordingly, he was discharged from service. Shri Pulackdhari Ahir also was charge-sheeted on different dates for misconducts and he was also dismissed from service after due domestic enquiry.

Other facts will appear from the body of the award that follows.

Decisions

Issue No. 1

By this issue as framed, I am required to determine what should be the minimum wages for unskilled daily and monthly-rated workmen. I have already shown above what was the demand of the Union in this respect. Ext. A is the copy of the charter of demands of the Union and this Workers' Union submitted same on 21st April 1960. In this charter of demands the claim of the workmen was that the minimum monthly wages should be Rs. 60 and daily wages Rs. 2. By the time this case was heard before this Tribunal, the Company practically accepted a portion of this demand and daily wages were raised to Rs. 2. But the Company is paying Rs. 52 as the minimum monthly wages to unskilled workers. Of course, it is conceded by both the parties that the Company is paying consolidated wages and dearness allowance, if any, is not separately shown. It appears that there is another Union for the workers of this Company and that Union goes by the name of James Lord & Sons Ltd. Employees' Union. Exhibit B shows that on 2nd August 1960 there was a bipartite agreement between this Employees' Union and the Management and the minimum wages for the daily-rated factory workers were fixed at Rs. 1.75 nP. to Rs. 2 per diem consolidated as per suitability with effect from 1st August 1960. The rate of monthly-rated workers was not altered by that agreement, the previous rate being fixed at Rs. 52 per month.

So, the question arises what should be the minimum wages for the unskilled daily and monthly-rated workmen. The learned representative for the workers contends at the time of hearing that about two years have passed since the submission of the said charter of demands and there has been a further rise in the cost of living index. So, something more should be added to neutralise the rise in the cost of living in the meantime. On the contrary, it is urged on behalf of the Management that the financial condition of the Company is not at all sound and that it is not capable of bearing further financial responsibility. The workmen's side has examined five witnesses, whereas the Company has examined seven witnesses before this Tribunal on different points. There are documentary evidences also. The Company has filed its balance-sheet for the year 1960 to show its financial position. The balance-sheet, of course, does not show that the Company is making a huge profit. Be that as it may, the fact remains that the minimum wages cannot be conditioned by the financial position of the Company. No Company has right to exist unless it can pay the minimum desirable wages to its workmen. So, in this view of the matter, I think, the question of financial condition of the Company is not very much important so far as the present issue is concerned. Of course, it must also be remembered that minimum wages of the Company should be determined with an eye to the cost of living index as well as in consideration of the minimum wages paid by other similar units of similar industry in the same region. It is urged on behalf of the workmen that Kolay Biscuit Company and Lily Biscuit Company are two other concerns manufacturing similar foodstuff and that these two Companies have been paying much higher wages. On the contrary, the Manager of the present Company asserts that these two concerns though much bigger than the present concern are not really paying higher wages as alleged by the workmen. Thus practically there is only oath versus oath. No worker or any competent person from Lily Biscuit Company or Kolay Biscuit Company has been examined by either side. It appears from the statement of different witnesses examined by the workmen that their deposition in this respect is based mainly on hearsay and so I am not in a position to attach much importance to their statement. The Company's Manager no doubt contends that the said two Companies are also members of the All-India Confectionery Manufacturers' Association like this Company, and as such the Manager is in a position to say that the daily-rated worker in Lily Biscuit Company gets Rs. 1.75 nP. only as minimum daily wages. Be that as it may, after carefully considering the evidence on record, the financial condition of the Company, the present cost of living index and also the rate of wages given by similar industries in the region, my considered opinion is that the minimum wages for unskilled daily-rated worker should be Rs. 2.25 nP. per diem, and the minimum wages for monthly-rated unskilled workers should be Rs. 60 at least. I think, in these very hard days of inflation, no workman can possibly live with poorer wages.

Before I conclude, I may add that the bipartite agreement between the Employees' Union and the Management does not bind the workmen represented by the Workers' Union. They might have accepted the wages offered by the Company in pursuance of the agreement entered with the Employees' Union, but that does not preclude them from placing their own charter of demands, because their demand itself was made at the time when the agreement was not concluded. It may be urged that the original demand made in the charter of demands asked for Rs. 2 only per diem for daily-rated workers. Of course, at the time the written statement was filed the Union raised its claim for daily wages at Rs. 2.31 nP. per diem. I think, this Tribunal is not absolutely bound by the charter of demands, if any, which was placed before the Management early in 1960. On the contrary, if monthly-rated workers be paid Rs. 60 per month, it would be unfair to pay Rs. 2 only to daily-rated workers who can at this rate earn Rs. 52 per month. So, my considered opinion is that the rates I have fixed above are expected to satisfy both daily and monthly-rated workers, and these rates should be accepted as more equitable. The issue is decided accordingly.

In this issue, the Tribunal is intended to frame some rules of increment for the workmen of this Company. But from the evidence on record, it is not possible to frame a wage structure with annual incremental scales. In fact, it is not in evidence what are the different grades and scales already existing in this Company for its different groups or categories of workers. The simple contention of the workmen is that the Management has been paying increment at arbitrary rates to selected and favourite workers only and not to all. Its demand is that increment should be allowed at a flat rate of Rs. 5 every year to every workman. But considering the financial condition of the Company, I am afraid, the workmen's demand cannot be accepted in the present financial position of the Company. I do not think that it would be proper to fix a wage structure with time scale increment at this stage. It is not in dispute that the Company has been paying some increments to selected workmen on some consideration. It is contended on behalf of the workmen that the Company is favouring those workmen only who are in the Management Group and that it ignores the just claim of increment of those workers who take active interest in Trade Unionism. But after carefully considering the evidences on record, I have no sufficient reason to believe this allegation of the workmen. I find no basis for the allegation of discrimination. When there is no scheme for time scale increment, the Management has every right to grant increment in consideration of skill and efficiency of different workmen. This selection on grounds of merit and efficiency cannot be called undue discrimination. In fact, it is clear from the workers' evidence also that they have been actually getting increment and that they were never totally deprived of the benefit of the annual increment in proper cases. So, my considered opinion is that until better days come for the Company, the matter of increment should be left to the discretion of the Management, and it is hoped that the Management shall give such increment as it is capable of bearing to all deserving and efficient workmen, and nobody should be penalised for their union activities alone. The issue is decided accordingly.

Issue No. 3

By this issue I am required to frame rules of employment of permanent, temporary and casual workers and also for confirmation of probationers. It is a fact that there is no certified standing orders as yet for this Company. But it is also in evidence that there are more than 50 workers on the roll of the Company, and so the Company is bound to have certified standing orders for guiding the service conditions of its employees. It is also in evidence that a draft of standing orders have already been submitted before the Registering Authority for approval thereof and I have reasons to believe that the standing orders yet to be certified have surely made provisions on the points mentioned in this issue. So, I think, it will not be proper for me to finalise the rules on these points at this stage, especially in the absence of sufficient evidence on the point. The parties shall get sufficient opportunity to make their submissions if any before the Registering Authority before the standing orders are finally certified. However, for the interim period I simply direct that the workers who are not taken either on purely temporary or casual basis should be treated as permanent after completion of one full year of service. Temporary and casual workers' appointment should be guided by the contracts between the parties subject to the provisions of the Factories Act and Industrial Disputes Act. As regards confirmation of probationers, I think, the period of probation should normally be six months and in no case the period of probation should be extended beyond one year. The issue is decided accordingly.

Issue No. 4

In this issue, I am required to adjudicate upon the justifiability of termination of services of 14 workmen. At the time of hearing of the case the Union conceded that it has no case to fight on behalf of worker No. (13) Shri Pullockdhari Ahir. In the written statement the Union alleges that Management wrongfully dismissed this workman. On the other hand, the Company alleges that this workman along with many others had already received payment of his dues in full and final satisfaction of all claims

P.W. 2 Shri Subodh Pal, the Vice-President of the Union, also concedes that Shri Pulockdhari Ahir received payment of his dues from the Company in full and final settlement of his claims. Thus it is more than clear that there is no longer any dispute between Shri Pulackdhari Ahir and the Management. So, Shri Ahir is not entitled to any relief whatsoever before this Tribunal.

Regarding serial (8) Shri Rama Rao, the Union's allegation is that this workman also was wrongfully discharged by the Management on a false plea. But at the time of hearing, the Union did not press its claim in respect of this workman also because admittedly this workman is actually working in this Company even now and his dispute, if any, with the Company had already been settled amicably. He has received his dues also. So, this Tribunal has got nothing to adjudicate upon so far as this workman is concerned.

Regarding serial Nos. (3), (4), (5), (9), (10) and (11), Sarbashri Dip Narayan Pandey, Uday Raj Misra, Tesu Goneri, Kamdari, Ram Bahal and Jagat Giri, respectively, the contention of the Union is that the Management terminated their services wrongfully on a false plea. The Company on the other hand contends that these workmen had to be retrenched for sufficient and bona fide reason. They were paid their full dues and the workmen accepted the payment of their dues in full and final satisfaction thereof without any protest. It is accordingly urged on behalf of the Management that there is no longer any dispute between these workmen and the Management, and in fact they have not turned up also before this Tribunal to press their claim. Of course, in spite of this allegation of the Company, the Union tries to press the claims of all these workmen. Shri Subodh Pal, Vice-President of the Union, states in his cross-examination that he does not know if all these six persons actually received their dues in full and final settlement of all their claims. Thus the Union not only keeps no information in respect of the present position of all these six workmen, but the workmen also do not press their claim before this Tribunal. On the other hand, there are documentary evidences to show that all these six persons received payment of their entire dues in full and final settlement (vide Exts. F to F-4 and F-6). So, without further discussion, I find that these six persons also have no longer any dispute with the Company and this Tribunal also has nothing to adjudicate upon in respect of them.

Regarding serial No. (14)—Shri Bir Bahadur—the Union's case is that on the 2nd of June 1961 the Management discharged him without any charge-sheet and without holding any enquiry. On the contrary, the Company's case is that he was charge-sheeted on 30th May 1960 for committing a major misconduct and was dismissed ultimately after due enquiry in his presence. The charges against him, it is alleged, were fully established before the domestic Tribunal. Shri Bir Bahadur has not appeared before this Tribunal personally. P.W. 1 Shri Dhari Pandey says that no charge-sheet was issued against Shri Bir Bahadur and consequently no enquiry also was held. But in his cross-examination, Shri Pandey had to admit that he had no personal knowledge in respect of this matter. His only contention is that Shri Bir Bahadur did not give any such report to him. So, Shri Pandey is not really competent enough to say that there was no charge-sheet or enquiry. P.W. 2 Shri Subodh Pal tries to say that there was no charge-sheet against Shri Bir Bahadur, and no enquiry was held against him. He further adds that Shri Bir Bahadur is reported to be lying ill at Jagatdal. But it is also a hearsay evidence. Shri Pal has no personal knowledge regarding the illness of Shri Bir Bahadur. Shri Pal does not explain how he came to the conclusion that there was no charge-sheet or enquiry. In his cross-examination however he is forced to admit that this was only a hearsay and not a matter of personal knowledge. Thus Shri Pal also has no competence to say anything in respect of Shri Bir Bahadur. P.W. 3 Shri Ram Dutta Kumar also pleads ignorance regarding any charge-sheet or enquiry against Shri Bir Bahadur. There is no other competent witness on this point on the side of the workman concerned. On the other hand, P.W. 7 Shri Paresh Chandra Mitra, Manager of the Company, swears that a charge-sheet was issued against Shri Bahadur and that he himself held an enquiry in respect of this charge. Shri Mitra further adds that Shri Bahadur personally attended the enquiry. Shri Mitra further swears that the recorded proceedings at the domestic enquiry were read over and explained to Shri Bahadur in Hindi yet he refused to affix his signature thereto. According to Shri Mitra, Ext. D includes the enquiry proceedings as well as the findings of the domestic Tribunal. Exhibit D bears the signature of several persons who, it is alleged, attended the enquiry. There is a written note also to show that Shri Bahadur refused to sign the proceedings. In the face of these oral and documentary evidences and in view of the fact that there is no competent denial on the other side and also the conspicuous absence of Shri Bir Bahadur himself, I cannot but find that a charge-sheet was issued against Shri Bir Bahadur and that an enquiry also was held in his presence. There is no proper evidence on record to show that the rules of natural justice were violated at the time of domestic enquiry. There were sufficient materials before the domestic tribunal to prima facie establish the guilt of Shri Bir Bahadur as mentioned in the charge-sheet. Besides above, the Management has examined some witnesses before this Tribunal also on the merit of the charge levelled against Shri Bahadur. It is the common case of both the parties that Shri Bahadur was a durwan of the factory and his normal duty was to search every man entering into or going out from the factory. It is in evidence that on several occasions Shri Bir Bahadur failed to carry on these duties and did not actually search different persons. On occasions, it appears that this fact came to the notice of the Manager also. So, considering all facts and circumstances I am unable to find that the Management decision was baseless and that the dismissal of Shri Bir Bahadur was wrongful For a durwan or a member of the Watch and Ward staff negligence or failure in discharge of duties and thus violation of security rules is a major misdemeanour. So, I am afraid. The Company was entitled to take serious view of this delinquency of Shri Bir Bahadur. So, I think, this Tribunal has no sufficient reason for interfering with the Management decision or the order of dismissal of Shri Bir Bahadur.

Regarding serial No. (7) Nibulal, No. (12) Shri Balla and No. (1) Shri Ram Deo Chowhan, it will appear from the wage register produced by the Company on the date of hearing that these three workmen were retrenched on 11th June 1960. Shri Balla entered the service of the Company on 26th October 1959, Shri Nibulal on 9th November 1959 and Shri Ram Deo Chowhan on 19th October 1959. Thus all these three workmen were not only employed as temporary workers, but none of them actually completed continuous service of 240 days even. There is little or no scope for difference of opinion that they were all appointed temporarily. Section 25B defines a year of continuous service and according to this section a workman cannot be said to have completed one year of continuous service in the industry unless he has actually worked in the industry for not less than 240 days. The words "continuous service" have been defined in section 2(eee). So, in accordance with the provisions of law, none of these three workmen has actually completed continuous service of 240 days. Hence, none of these workmen was actually entitled to notice or retrenchment compensation under the provision of section 25F of the Act. Thus on the facts disclosed by the evidences of the parties, these three workmen cannot claim any relief before this Tribunal. It is urged on behalf of the workmen that it was wrongful on the part of the Management to dismiss these three presons just on the eve of their completing 240 days' continuous service. But I cannot at once conclude from this alone that there was a mala fide motive in the conduct of the Management. This Company is a manufacturing concern mainly of confectionery articles and there is sufficient evidence on record to show that there is definite dull season for these products. So, during the lean months of the year the Company is compelled to reduce production and retrench the surplus temporary workers. Of course, it is a different question whether the Company should at all be allowed to recruit too many temporary workers at a time and retrench all or some of them at its sweet will without allowing them to complete one year of continuous service. To give any direction in this respect requires a deeper and thorough investigation in the matter, and the evidences before this Tribunal are not sufficient for this purpose. Of course, the scope of the present investigation does not permit me also to go to that length. As to the justifiability of the termination of their services, I can simply observe that there is no sufficient reason to hold that the Company had no reason whatsoever for retrenching them on a certain date. This is also clear that sometime later the Company again required some new hands and notices were sent to the retrenched workmen including the present ones. But most of the retrenched workmen did not turn up and some who had turned up did not agree to work further. So, in this view of the matter I am unable to hold that the Company has violated any provision of law. In the circumstances, I finally hold that the retrenchment of these three workmen is not without justification and they are not entitled to any relief before this Tribunal.

As to serial No. (2) Shri Basdeo Goala and No. (6) Shri Beni Goala there is little or no dispute that Shri Basdeo Goala was appointed by the Company on 25th August 1959 and Shri Beni Goala on 28th July 1959. Both of them along with others were retrenched by a notice, dated 10th June 1960, vide Ext. E, and their retrenchment was to take effect from the 11th June 1960. Thus there is little or no dispute that both of these two workmen completed 240 days' continuous service and thus technically they must be deemed to have completed one year's continuous service. In this view of the matter, both of these two workmen were entitled to retrenchment compensation along with compensation for notice as per provisions of section 25F of the Act. The notice (Ext. E) shows that these retrenched persons were asked to collect their dues from the factory office on the 10th June, the date of issue of the notice. It also appears from Ext. X which is a notice in form "P' that these retrenched workmen were asked to collect their dues by a separate notice and it is also clear therefrom that only two workmen were entitled to retrenchment compensation. Evidently, the present two workmen only were entitled to retrenchment compensation because of their completion of one year's service. It also appears that these two persons were asked to collect their dues one day prior to the date of termination of their service. Of course, payment of compensation is a condition precedent to retrenchment under section 25F of the Act, and in this case also the offer of payment was made before the retrenchment was actually effected. So, I think, there has been no violation of law regarding payment of retrenchment compensation. It further appears that the dues of Shri Beni Goala were sent to his residential address also by the Management, but he failed to accept the same for certain reasons. Shri Basdeo Goala no doubt alleges in his cross-examination that he received no payment of compensation at the time of his discharge or thereafter. But from the evidence on record I have good reasons to believe that he was also requested to collect his dues and for reasons best known to him he did not collect it. I think this tender of the dues should be treated as payment within the meaning of section 25F of the Act. If the workman concerned refused to take payment of his dues, the Company cannot compel him to receive it. So, a bona fide tender must be treated as sufficient compliance of the provisions of law in this connection. It also appears that both of these two workmen were subsequently asked to take fresh employment in this Company when the Company required new workmen, but both of them refused to accept further employment unless they were treated as permanent by the Company. In the circumstances, I am afraid, neither of these two workmen have any sufficient reasons for their insistence for recognising them as permanent workmen. It is not at all in evidence that they actually completed full one calendar year's service in the ordinary meaning of the term. So, if the Company refused to accept them as permanent worker, I think, the Tribunal cannot find fault with the Management. The real contention of the workmen appears to be that the Management is really discharging the employees from time to time simply to deprive them of the benefit of permanency in service. I have already observed that this is a bigger question, and I am not in seisin of sufficient materials for giving a definite direction in this respect. Whether such Company manufacturing confectionaries or sweets, a Company which alleges that the volume of its business rises or falls seasonally and that it should be allowed to recruit temporary hands and retrench them rather quickly as and when they find it necessary, is a much bigger question. This is a problem not peculiar to this Company alone but of many other similar industries. So, in considering the justifiability of termination of services of particular workmen on a particular occasion by the Company,

I cannot at once come incidentally to a conclusion that it was mala fide on the part of the Management to discharge workers who were actually recruited on temporary basis. All that I find is that the volume of business of this Company actually rises in certain months of the year and during these months it requires more workers. So, if the Company recruited temporary workers for the peak season, one cannot at once find mala fides on its part. I have already shown that in making the retrenchment, the Company has not violated any one of the technical provisions of law. The learned representative for the workmen argues very vehemently—why the Company should be allowed to retrench workmen for a month or so every year? If there be any slack season or lean months, why the Company should not lay off some of the workmen if it so liked? But I am afraid, this is purely a Management function; and the Tribunal, as a general rule, cannot give offhand any such direction to the Management. I fully agree that this sort of retrenchment means hardship for the workmen and betrays apparently some doubtful subjective attitude. But this is mere suspicion, and it is not sufficient for my finding that the termination of services or retrenchment in case of a particular workman is invalid or bad on that ground alone. So, in consideration of all the facts and circumstances on record, I am sorry to find that these two workmen also are not entitled to any relief before this Tribunal. From Ext. X it appears that statutory notice to appropriate Government was given by the Management on the eve of the retrenchment. So, the Company cannot be made liable for mala fides on any technical reason also. Hence, in any view of the case, the issue as a whole must be found in favour of the Company.

This is my award.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of applications under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act filed one by Shri Ramdin (case No. 1 of 1962) and Shri Jhagroo (case No. 2 of 1962), employees of Kesoram Cotton Mills Ltd., against the aforesaid Company in connection with G.O. No. 2899-I.R./IR/8L-14(A)/61, dated 3rd June 1961.

BEFORE THE FIRST INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri S. N. GUHA ROY, Judge, First Industrial Tribunal.

Appearances:

For the Company: Shri S. K. Basu and Shri K. P. Mookherjee.

For the applicants: Shri P. P. Pathak and Shri Arun Sen.

These are two applications under section 33A by two workmen of the Kesoram Industries and Cotton Mills Ltd. asking for reinstatement with full compensation for the period of unemployment. These two applications were heard together at the joint prayer of the parties. Both state in their applications that they were doffers in the Warp Spinning Department, B shift, and "have put in more than one year's continuous work in that capacity." Both were admittedly served with charge-sheets, dated 26th May 1960. Both replied to these charge-sheets denying the allegations therein and neither was informed of anything further. According to them they did not receive any notices of enquiry, no enquiry was actually held and yet they were kept under suspension without pay for a year. Evidently they claim to have treated this as their dismissal which in their opinion, is "illegal, mala fide, unjust and against all principles of justice and is a gross violation of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act."

The Company in its written statement pleads about the facts that there was a proper enquiry into the charge-sheets and on the Enquiring Officer's report, action as per letters, dated 4th June 1960, removing the names of Ramdin and Jhagru both from the list of registered badlis with effect from 13th

June 1960 was taken, and though these letters were sought to be served on them at the gate they refused to accept the same and it is further the Company's case that the application is not maintainable, because there was no contravention of any of the provisions of section 33.

In this case, the first question for decision is whether Ramdin and Jhagroo are permanent workmen or mere substitute workmen or badlis. On this point, there is no clear statement in either application, nor is there any clear statement in either of the two written statements of the Company except by implication towards the end when the action taken by the Company against them is referred to. To say the least, this is a most unsatisfactory state of affairs for which the prime responsibility must be with Shri Arun Sen who admittedly drafted the two applications under section 33A. As he did not state clearly what was the status of the workmen according to them, the Company probably did not feel called upon to state its own case about it, though it should have. For the Company, there is at least this much to be said that it indicated its case quite unambiguously when it stated what action it took against the two workmen.

The point, therefore, has got to be decided on such materials as there are before me. There were two witnesses for the workmen, namely, Shri Arun Sen, the General Secretary of the Union, and Shri Ramdin, one of the two workmen. Jhagroo not being put into the stand at all. Shri Arun Sen says nothing at all about the status of the two workmen; nor does Shri Ramdin. But the statements in the applications of the two workmen are that they had each put in more than one year's continuous service as a doffer in the Warp Spinning Department in B shift. There is no indication at all in which of the five categories of workmen either of them was taken in at first. If they had been taken in as permanent workmen, probationers or apprentices, it would be the easiest of things for the workmen to say so and in that case it would be quite irrelevant for their purpose whether they had put in more than one year's continuous work or not because the mention of this fact may be necessary only when there is some uncertainty about the workmen's status. As far as the mills are concerned, I could not see in any part of the Standing Orders any provision for a substitute being made permanent at the end of a year's continuous service. In any case, therefore, it was not pertinent. It was still mentioned probably because that was the highest at which the workmen's case could be put. From this, one may at once reasonably eliminate the possibility of either having been employed as a permanent workmen, probationer or an apprentice. This leaves for consideration three categories, namely, "badlis", "temporary workmen" and "casual workmen". The status of a badli is evidently better than that of a temporary or casual workmen, but as both claim to have put in more than one year's continuous work, they are not likely to have been just casual workmen and must have been either badlis or temporary workmen. In the cause-title of Ramdin's application, his token number is 334-S; in that of Jhagroo's application, his token number is 375-S. According to the Company, the letter "S" is an index of the workmen concerned being only "substitute". Though Ramdin does not say anything specially about his status either in his examination-in-chief or in his cross-examination, he states in his cross-examination that on 24th June 1960 Narahari Polai told him that he would get work for two or three days only, presumably in a week. Evidently this also goes to indicate that Ramdin at least must have been a substitute workman on his own showing. Narahari Polai says in his examination-in-chief that Ramdin and Jhagru had been given leave at 9-30 a.m. and yet they had not left the place. He does not appear to have been cross-examined on that point. That also suggests that they were substitute workmen. Shri Chatterjee, S.P.W. 4, the Assistant Spinning Master, Warp Spinning B shift, says in his examination-in-chief that the two badlis Ramdin and Jhagroo were brought before him on the 24th of May 1960. His cross-examination is very short and no question was put to him on this point. Shri Bepin Behari Pal, S.P.W. 5, a badli worker at that time, says in his cross-examination that the two workmen who asked him to sign the paper were also badlis and he identified Ramdin who alone was present in court as one of these two. Then there are, in addition Exts. D and D(1), dated 11th June 1960, in which the action taken against the two workmen is that their names would be removed from the list of badli workmen. On the evidence, therefore, it is quite clear that both of the applicants were substitute workmen.

The next question for consideration is whether the action taken against them was proper or not. The Company's case is that the enquiry notices were duly served on them and they duly appeared at the enquiry and made statements. But the case of the workmen is that they had no notices of enquiry and there was in fact no enquiry. The record of the enquiry proceedings and the enquiring officer's report were marked exhibits initially only for the limited purpose of deciding if action was taken on an enquiry. Shri Pathak on behalf of the workmen told me during his arguments that he wanted them to be marked for all purposes but as he still continued to argue that no notices of enquiry were served and that the workmen did not actually attend the enquiry, I told him it was no use my going into the question whether there was a proper enquiry or not, because after all, the enquiring officer was not examined and the fact remains that the workmen challenge the very fact of their presence during the enquiry so as to suggest that the record of their statements is absolutely fictitious. On the face of it such allegations require the strongest possible evidence to support them before they can be accepted and in this case, there is no more than the uncorroborated statement of only one of the two workmen to support the allegations of the two workmen in their applications. In the circumstances, I shall confine myself to the evidence before me in deciding if the charges against these workmen are proved or not.

The two workmen are charged in the two charge-sheets of which Ext. 1 is one, with the same misconduct, namely, that on 24th May 1960, they, though not on duty, remained unlawfully inside the department and were found at about 9-45 a.m. taking signatures of some workmen then on duty on a sheet of paper and spreading false rumours among them with a view to incite them and disturb the normal working and that they disobeyed the lawful and reasonable order of the In-charge to leave the department. To these charge-sheets both claim to have replied; yet Ramdin says Ext. J is not his reply. In these replies, both the workmen deny having disturbed the normal working but admit having had a petition signed for certain purpose. Probably it is this admission which made Ramdin disown his own reply. Anyway, there is nothing whatever to show that the management fabricated this reply. On behalf of the two workmen there is again only the uncorroborated testimony of Shri Ramdin, whereas on the other there is the evidence of Shri B. N. Chatterji, the departmental in-charge, Narahori Polai, the Head Mistry in Warp Spinning, B shift, and of Shri Bepin Behari Paul, a badli workman of that department in B shift at that time, but made permanent in 1960.

Ramdin now says that he took leave on that day at 9-30 a.m. and went away and he did nothing. Yet his reply Ext. J which he now disowns is that he had himself signed a petition along with others and this he did at the instance of the Labour Officer, Shri Rao, Ext. J(1), Jhagroo's reply is also to the same effect. The evidence for the management is that the piece of paper which was found on Ramdin and Jhagroo is Ext. G. It is in Hindi and its translation, countersigned by Shri Pathak as correct, is Ext. G(1). It is addressed to the Labour Officer, as a complaint of the signatories that though recruited in 1959 and working as doffers in B shift, those recruited after them were being given continuous work for 5-6 days while they were being refused for 4-5 days in a week. Evidently this means that the signatories were being refused work for 4-5 days in a week and fresh recruits were being given work for 5-6 days in a week. Shri Chatterji says he saw Ramdin moving about in the department about 10 minutes or so after he had given him leave as a surplus hand and asked him why he was moving about in the department even after that. Then there is the evidence of Narahari Palai and Bipin Behari Paul. I do not think there is really any reason why their evidence should be discarded in preference to that of the uncorroborated testimony of Ramdin alone. Shri Pathak has argued that Narahari had deposed in another case against the workmen, that Bibhuti is a workman who did not in fact sign Ext. G but merely refused to sign it and that the Company did not examine any of the signatories to Ext. G. That Narahari had to depose in another case against the workmen does not necessarily show him to be a liar. As the Head Mistry he might have been aware of the incidents to which he testified in that case as in this. Similarly, that Bibhuti refused to sign the application would not necessarily make him out to be a liar. The non-examination of any of the signatories by the management cannot raise any presumption against it for the simple reason that it was under no obligation to examine any of them.

Shri Pathak has also argued that the charge of spreading false rumours has not been made out. He evidently ignores Narahari's statement that Ramdin and Jhagroo said the paper was a letter about a meeting at Kabardanga, though it was nothing of the kind. He also ignores the statement of Bepin that they told him if he signed the paper and attended the meeting, he would get work for six days in a week. These statements are left unchallenged in cross-examination. What Ramdin and Jhagroo are alleged therein to have said are evidently mis-statements and therefore false rumours. In the circumstances, the charges against both the workmen must be held on the evidence to have been made out prima facie.

Shri Pathak has very seriously argued that whatever the status of the workmen, as they were proceeded against for misconduct under the Standing Orders, they were liable to the punishment prescribed by the relevant charges of the Standing Orders and not to a mere removal of their names from the list of registered badlis. It is true that under clause 14(b) a workman is liable to suspension for a period not exceeding four days at a time or dismissal without notice or any compensation in lieu of notice on being found guilty of misconduct. As the rule stands, it is undoubtedly applicable to all kinds of workmen. But that this is not really so or would be at once evident to any one who looks into the true nature of a suspension or a dismissal and the substantive rights of a substitute workman. A suspension is the keeping in abeyance for the time being of the relationship between the workman and his employer and a dismissal is the complete termination of that relationship. Clause 5 of the second part of the Standing Orders in Ext L, the award of which it forms part, provides that all workmen who act as substitutes for permanent workmen for more than a week shall be registered as badli workers and shall receive employment in strict rotation. This clearly shows that there is no stable relationship of employer and employee between the mills and its badli workmen except when the latter happen to be actually employed by the former and consequently, the suspension of such workmen is as meaningless as their dismissal. An enquiry, however, which gives them a chance of clearing themselves, though strictly not called for in the case of badli workmen, cannot in any way prejudice them; nor can it change the terms and conditions of their employment as badlis. Under clause 5(b)(i) of the second part of the Standing Orders, a badli workmen's name may be removed from the list of registered badlis for any of the acts or omissions listed as misconduct in the Standing Orders. This certainly constitutes a justification of the enquiry and the order passed was then quite in order.

As this now amounts to neither a dismissal nor a discharge to which alone the proviso to section 33(2)(b) is restricted, the proviso is not attracted by the action taken. Thus, there is no contravention of any part of section 33, even though a reference under section 10 was admittedly pending. The applications under section 33A are accordingly not maintainable.

My award in both these applications is accordingly first, that they are not maintainable because there was no contravention on the part of the management of any part of section 33; and secondly, that the removal of Shri Ramdin and Shri Jhagroo who were substitute workmen from the list of registered badlis is justified on the merits.

AWARD

The Government of West Bengal in the Labour Department in their order No. 3969-I.R./IR/10L-41(A)/59, dated the 28th July 1960, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the abovementioned dispute to this Tribunal for adjudication.

This dispute was previously referred to the First Labour Court, by Government order No. 5643-I.R./IR/10L-159/58, dated the 30th December 1958, for its adjudication which has been replaced by the Sixth Industrial Tribunal constituted under notification No. 3115-I.R./IR/3A-6/59, dated the 21st June 1960, and has in consequence been abolished by notification No. 3508-I.R./IR/3A-9/59, dated the 11th July 1960.

Schedule

1. Whether the suspension of Shri Ram Harak Goria from 7.7.58 to 10.7.58 is justified? To what relief is he entitled?

This reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act is in respect of a dispute between Messrs. Jessop & Co. Ltd., and their workmen represented by the Jessop's Employees' Union, relating to suspension of Shri Ram Harak Goria a Dak Peon working in the Head Office of the Company.

The Union's case is that Shri Ram Harak Goria has put in 39 years of meritorious service. He fell ill on 2nd May 1958 but came to the office with his son to apply for leave. He was refused leave and was ordered to proceed immediately to deliver letters and packages. As he was not keeping fit he could not carry out the orders immediately but when he felt better after a few hours he went out to deliver letters and packets to different addresses. He was given a charge-sheet on 3rd May 1958 to which he replied. He was called to attend a departmental enquiry and he attended the enquiry on 13th May 1958 along with the Joint Secretary of the Union. After his statement had been recorded he and the Joint Secretary of the Union were asked to leave the place. It is alleged that as he was a member of the Executive Committee of the Union the Company victimised him, that the Company held no proper enquiry, that he was given no opportunity to defend himself, that the Company violated the principles of natural justice and that the action of the Company in suspending him without pay was unjustified. The Union prays that the order of suspension be found to be unjustified and the workman be paid full wages for the four days he was placed under suspension.

The Company alleges that Shri Ram Harak Goria came to the office as usual on 2nd May 1958 and worked and left office at 5 p.m. He was asked to deliver a packet to Messrs. Heatly Gresham & Co., at Chittaranjan Avenue to effect an urgent delivery without any delay and for this a car was placed at his disposal and he had also the assistance of a cooly. But Shri Ram Harak Goria refused to obey and carry out the orders. He was then given written order but this also he refused to carry out. The Company then sent the packet through another person. Shri Ram Harak Goria was not only disobedient but was also guilty of indiscipline. He was charge-sheeted and he replied to the same. A departmental enquiry was held which he attended with the Joint Secretary of the Union and both of them were present throughout but they refused to sign the statement of the witnesses. The Company states that Shri Ram Harak Goria was given every opportunity to defend himself. He was found guilty of disobedience and act subversive of good behaviour and discipline. In consideration of the length of his service he was dealt with leniently. The Company submits that the workman is not entitled to any relief.

Decision.

It is admittedly a fact that Shri Ram Harak Goria went to the office at 9-30 a.m. on 2nd May 1958 and worked till 5 p.m. It is also a fact that he did not apply for any leave on that day. He says he was sick on that day and was examined by a doctor from Calcutta. But he did not produce any medical certificate on 2nd May 1958 nor filed any application for leave although he attended the office. There is no documentary evidence, dated 2nd May 1958, that Shri Ram Harak Goria ever reported sick to the superior officers of the Company on that day and that he was not fit to deliver letters and packets to different addresses. In fact it is admitted that he did deliver a number of letters till 5 p.m. on that date. Shri Ram Harak Goria says that he was suffering from bowel complains and he felt that he had an attack of cholera. But the doctor who came on the way from Tarak Paramanick Road at Calcutta to examine him at Howrah was of opinion, according to the statement of Shri Ram Harak Goria, that the illness was not cholera at all. There is no proof or evidence to show that that this doctor treated him for any illness or prescribed him any medicine or if any medicine was taken by Shri Ram Harak Goria. It is in evidence that the Company's doctor attends office on all days except on Saturdays, and even if the doctor attended the office for only one hour a day, Shri Ram Harak Goria, who came to the office at 9-30 a.m., could have got himself examined by him if he was really sick. But he did nothing of the kind. These facts and circumstances clearly prove that the story of Shri Ram Harak Goria's illness on 2nd May 1958 was a myth. This story was made out for the purpose of making out a case in defence as to why he did not carry out orders of his superior officer Shri Venkatesh on 2nd May 1958. He admits in his cross-examination that he went to the doctor in Calcutta on 3rd May 1958 and asked for a medical certificate as he had been charge-sheeted by the Company. So the necessity of a medical certificate arose just to make out a case in defence of the charges. The doctor, to my mind, obliged him by giving him a certificate without treating him or prescribing any medicine for any illness. Considering all the facts and circumstances described above I find that Shri Ram Harak Goria was not ill on 2nd May 1958 and that he was fit enough to do his normal duties on that date.

Shri Ram Harak Goria was charge-sheeted on 3rd May 1958 for having refused to carry out the verbal and afterwards the written orders of his superior officers, Shri Venkatesh on 22nd May 1958 when the latter asked him to make an urgent delivery of a packet to Messrs. Heatly Gresham & Co., at Chittaranjan Avenue. He was given a car and a cooly for the purpose of making quick delivery of the packet. It is a fact that he did not obey the orders. I have already said that his plea of illness was false. He, therefore, had no justified reason to refuse to carry out the orders of Shri Venkatesh or disobey him or argue with him. It is in evidence that he started arguing with Shri Venkatesh when he refused to carry out his orders. He was thus guilty of disobedience and also for acts subversive of discipline. O.P.W. 1 Shri P. B. Chakravarty, the Chief Personnel Officer of the Company, says that he held a departmental enquiry which Shri Ram Harak Goria attended along with P. W. 1 Shri Nitai Chandra Sen, the Joint Secretary of the Union. Shri Ram Harak Goria signed his statement and Shri Sen also signed the statement of Shri Ram Harak Goria. P.W. 1 and P.W. 2 say that after Shri Ram Harak Goria had been examined Shri Chakravarty asked them to go away and they were, therefore, not present at the enquiry when the other witnesses were examined. Shri Chakravarty says that P.W. 1 and P.W. 2 were present throughout the enquiry. I am unable to believe P.W. 1 and P.W. 2 that the Chief Personnel Officer of the Company held the departmental enquiry behind the back of the workman under reference. I fully believe O.P.W. 1 Shri Chakravarty that Shri Ram Harak Goria and P.W. 1 were present throughout at the enquiry and I find from the records of the proceedings that Shri Ram Harak Goria was given every opportunity to defend himself. The workman was in the service of the Company for 34 years before the enquiry and the workman admits that he was never charge-sheeted before although he was a member of the Executive Committee of the Union. There was, therefore, no case of vicitimisation. The proceedings, it appears to me, were properly conducted. There was no violation of principles of natural justice, or unfair labour practice. There was also no basic error of facts. Considering the gravity of the offence the Company dealt with the workman leniently. I hold, from all that I have discussed above, that the suspension of Shri Ram Harak Goria for four days from 7th July 1958 to 10th July 1958 is justified. He is not entitled to any relief. This is my award.

AWARD

The above dispute over the issue given in the order of reference and reproduced below was referred for adjudication to this Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 1117-I.R./IR/4L-18(A)/62, dated the 3rd April 1962.

Issue

Whether the termination of service of Shri Makhanlal Baroi, carpenter, is justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

The relevant facts of the case and the respective contentions of the parties will appear from the following discussions for decision of the issue. The undisputed position is that the concerned worker, Shri Makhanlal Baroi, was initially appointed as a temporary daily-rated carpenter by the Company on daily wages of Rs. 4 for a particular period and by subsequent orders his temporary appointment was extended from time to time for particular periods and the last extension was for the period extending up to the 30th September 1961 (vide Exts. A to H) but before the expiry of this last period his service was terminated with effect from the 18th September 1961 by the Company's letter, dated the 16th September 1961 (vide Ext. 1). By this letter, he was offered additional wages for three days on account of the leave due to him. It is an admitted position that only leave facilities admissible to permanent workers were extended to the temporary workers of this Company.

The termination of the service of the concerned worker with effect from the 18th September 1961 has been called in question in the present case and it has been contended by the Union on behalf of the worker that he was illegally, improperly and unjustifiably discharged for his Union activities. It is also alleged that he demanded increment of wages but this was not entertained by the Company and the Company did not like this conduct on his part. It is alleged that the Union submitted a charter of demands on behalf of the workers of this Company and this was not liked by the Company and after the charter of demands the Company adopted various methods to disrupt and discredit the Union and victimise its leaders and members. It has been further alleged that there was clear discrimination against and victimisation of this worker because he was discharged for his Union activities while other carpenters engaged after him were retained in service. The reliefs claimed on behalf of the worker are his reinstatement in the Company's service and payment of all his back wages for the period of unemployment since the termination of his service.

The Company has, on the other hand, contended that this worker was appointed on a purely temporary basis for some additional temporary works of the Company and his periods of temporary appointment were extended from time to time to meet the requirements of temporary works of the Company and he was finally discharged when there was no more work requiring his service. The Company has denied that he was victimised for his Union activities. The allegations of discrimination against this worker in the matter of his discharge have also been denied. It is denied that any representation for increment of wages was ever received from this worker.

I now come to the decision of the issues itself. As already indicated above, it is an admitted position that this worker was initially appointed on a purely temporary basis for a particular period and the initial period was subsequently extended from time to time for particular periods and the last period of extension was to end on 30th September 1961. This is also proved by Exts. A to H, which stand undisputed. The concerned worker, Shri Makhanlal Baroi, has also admitted in his evidence that he was taken in as a daily-rated temporary worker. Upon the admissions of the parties and also upon the evidence, it must be held that this worker was kept in appointment purely on temporary basis and the last period of his temporary appointment extended up to 30th September 1961. I am satisfied from the evidence of O.P.W. 1 Shri Narendra Chandra Chakravarty, the Secretary of the Company, that this worker as well as some other temporary workers were appointed by the Company to meet the requirements of some additional temporary works which fell on them. These carpenters were appointed mostly for maintenance and overhauling work in their aeroplanes and sometimes the aeroplanes of their customers under sub-contracts.

There was no term about increment of daily wages of this worker in his initial appointment order and by this order his emoluments were fixed at Rs. 4 per day. The subsequent extensions of his temporary appointment were always made keeping intact all other terms of his initial appointment except the term as to period of appointment which only was extended from time to time. It cannot be gainsaid that this worker worked as a temporary worker continuously from his initial period on the wages of Rs. 4 per day of work without any provision for increments. His evidence is that he demanded increment of his wages, but this was refused. He has also said that other temporary workers were given increments of wages. There is no evidence except his own uncorroborated testimony to prove that other temporary workers were given increments of wages. So, I do not accept this plea of his. The Company cannot be said to have acted improperly and illegally in refusing his demand for increased wages. No doubt the total period of temporary appointment by extension from time to time as per Exts. A to H was more than three years, but for this reason alone the worker could not claim to have become a permanent worker. It is to be noted that his initial appointment as a temporary worker was expressly extended from time to time for fixed periods. I find nothing in the Standing Order (Ext. J) in support of the position that a temporary worker kept in employment for more than a fixed period, e.g., one year, shall be deemed to have become permanent. According to the terms of his appointment, this worker must be deemed to have always been a temporary worker, notwithstanding that his total period of appointment was more than three years. From the evidence adduced on behalf of the worker, I am not also satisfied that there was any discrimination against him by discharging him on the ground of want of sufficient work while keeping other temporary workers in appointment. This point has been satisfactorily met by the particulars given by O.P.W. 1 Shri Narendra Chandra Chakravarty in his evidence. It has not been proved that any temporary worker appointed after him was retained by the Company after the expiry of his period of appointment when this worker was discharged. The concerned worker has clearly admitted in his cross-examination that he does not know if the other carpenters appointed after him were appointed as temporary or permanent workers. The plea of victimisation of this worker for Union activities has also not been proved. No doubt the Union submitted a charter of demands to the Company. This is also admitted by the Company. But the evidence is that though this charter was also submitted to the Labour Directorate, no concrete action was taken in respect of the demands made in it by the Government in any manner. The Company was, therefore, not at all affected by the submission of the charter of demands I am satisfied that the reason for discharge of this worker with effect from the 18th September 1961 was want of sufficient work. But it has also to be considered that when his last period of appointment extended up to the 30th September 1961, the Company should have waited till the end of this period before discharging him and it could not discharge him before the expiry of that period, unless he was guilty of any misconduct or any other offence. It is neither party's case that this worker was discharged with effect from the 18th September 1961 for any misconduct or any offence. In this view, the Company cannot be said to have been fully justified in discharging him with effect from the 18th September 1961, before the expiry of the last period of his temporary appointment, but the remedy against this will be that he is to be deemed to have been in service up to the 30th September 1961 and so the Company must pay him all his due wages for the period from the 18th September to the 30th September 1961, in addition to the wages for his prior days of work. As the last period of his temporary appointment has already expired, there can be no question of his reinstatement in the Company's service on account of the irregularity in discharging him before the expiry of the period. In his evidence O.P.W. 1 Company's Secretary has stated that the Company verbally offered to this worker his wages for the period from the 18th to the 30th September 1961. But this offer does not find any place in the letter of discharge (Ext. 1).

In the above view of the facts and circumstances of the case, I find that the termination of temporary service of the concerned worker with effect from the 18th September 1961 was not strictly regular and legal, because it was made before the expiry of the last period of temporary appointment of this worker without any charge involving any misconduct or any offence but at the same time the discharge was not mala fide or a case of victimisation and it was a case of discharge for the bona fide reason of want of sufficient work. I further hold that as the discharge offended against the terms of his temporary appointment, because it was made before the expiry of the last period, it was not strictly justified, but this would not entitle the workman to the remedy of reinstatement in service, because the last period of his temporary appointment has already expired and the only remedy admissible to him is that he will get his full wages according to the terms of his appointment for the unexpired portion of his last period of appointment, from the 18th to the 30th September 1961. In addition to this, he will also get the leave wages for three days, as offered in the letter of discharge.

In the result, I award that though the termination of service of the concerned worker was not strictly regular and formally justified, yet he is not entitled to the remedy of reinstatement, but he will get his wages according to the terms of his temporary appointment for the unexpired period of his last temporary appointment, from the 18th to the 30th September 1961, and he will further get leave wages for three days, as offered in the letter of discharge and the Company will pay him these wages within 15 days from the publication of the award.

(1) Instructions regarding submission of application.—Applications are to be made on the prescribed form which will be available from the office of the Public Service Commission, West Bengal, Anderson House (ground floor), Alipore, Calcutta-27, personally or on sending a large self-addressed envelope with stamps sufficient to cover the postage affixed to it. Candidates who are unable to obtain copies of the prescribed form may apply on any similar typed (not handwritten) form showing exactly the wording and spacing of the sample form published in the "Calcutta Gazette" of the 1st September 1955, provided the blanks are filled up in the candidates' own handwriting.

(2) Particulars and certificates required.—Candidates should furnish evidence of their age, qualifications and previous experience together with certificates written not more than one year prior to the date of their applications, from responsible persons, testifying to their private character.

The Commission accepts only the age of a candidate as recorded in the Matriculation or the Secondary School Final/Leaving Certificate. In the case of a female candidate whose age is not recorded in the Matriculation or School Final Certificate, any of the following evidence of age is accepted by the Commission:—

1. A certificate from the Headmistress of the school, which she last attended, showing her exact age as recorded in the school register.
2. An affidavit regarding her age sworn by her father or mother or some other person in a position to know by having been present or heard of her birth at the time of occurrence.
3. A certificate regarding her age, from a Member of the Legislature or a gazetted officer, who must have known the candidate and her family, indicating clearly the evidence on the basis of which he/she satisfied himself/herself on the point

(3) Fee.—Candidates must enclose with their applications a fee of Rs. 5 in the form of a receipted chalan from a Government Treasury or the Reserve Bank of India under the head "XXXVI—Miscellaneous—Receipts of the Public Service Commission, West Bengal". Money orders, cheques, etc., in lieu of treasury challans are not accepted. Postal order, however, may be accepted from candidates. They should be crossed and made payable to "The Secretary, Public Service Commission, West Bengal". No application will be considered unless accompanied with the requisite application fee.

Candidates abroad may deposit their application fees with the High Commissioner of India or the Embassy, as the case may be, and obtain receipts for the same, which will have to be attached to their applications to be submitted to the Commission.

Candidates in Government service should make sure before depositing fee that their applications will be forwarded by their superior officers. In no case will the fee paid with the application be refunded.

The Commission may remit fee in case of genuine indigent and bona fide displaced person from Pakistan.

An indigent displaced person shall, in the first instance, pay the application fee prescribed for a gazetted post advertised by the Commission but if he/she is selected for and appears at the interview, the fee paid by him/her will be refunded afterwards.

Note.—"(i) A displaced person claiming age concession must furnish with his application satisfactory evidence that he is bona fide displaced person from Pakistan, e.g., refugee registration card or a certificate from a gazetted officer or a Member of Parliament or State Legislature, in original.

(ii) A member of the Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe claiming age concession must furnish with his application a certificate in original from a gazetted officer or a Member of Parliament or State Legislature belonging to the Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe, specifying the particular caste or tribe to which he claims to belong.

(iii) A displaced person seeking remission of the application fee must furnish besides the evidence required under Note (i) above, a certificate (in original) from a District Officer or a gazetted officer or a Member of Parliament or State Legislature to show that he is not in a position to pay the prescribed fee."

(4) Address.—Candidates should give their present address and should communicate at once any subsequent change of address.

(5) Canvassing.—Any attempt on the part of candidates to enlist support of their applications through persons of influence or officials of Government will disqualify them for appointment. Spontaneous recommendation from persons interested in the candidates or otherwise known to them will be disregarded.

(6) Applications from candidates who are in permanent or temporary employment under any Government, a local or Statutory Body (e.g., Damodar Valley Corporation), in India will be rejected unless they are submitted through the appointing authority of their posts or service.

Candidates serving under Government or a local or Statutory Body should submit an advance copy in the prescribed form. The application fee should in such cases be attached to the advance copy and not to the original. The candidature of such applicants may not however be considered if the original applications do not reach the Commission's office within a fortnight from the closing date. Unless applications in original or advance copies with application fees are received within the closing date, late applications may be rejected.

The original list attached to the order of reference contained the names of 36 workmen. Subsequently, by an addendum, the name of Md. Karim (serial No. 37) was added.

The case made out in the written statement of the Union is as follows:

At the relevant time the working hours of the A shift had been from 6 a.m. to 11 a.m. and again from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m., and those of the B shift from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and again from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. On the 2nd March 1961, the workmen of the A shift came to work at about 6 a.m. to find to their utter surprise that the employer pasted a notice at the gate arbitrarily and illegally changing the working hours of the weavers to the effect that the working hours would be continuous with a break of only half an hour for recess for each of the two shifts. At once the workmen lodged their protest and requested the management to withdraw that notice. The management having refused to comply with the request, the workmen of the A shift went to their respective looms and stayed there till 11 a.m. when the first period of the shift expired. They then left the mill peacefully without creating any disturbances. At 11 a.m. when the B shift was to start one Alam Sardar, a sardar of the Weavers of the B shift, attempted to force the weavers who were peacefully staying at their looms to work according to the said notice. He failed to force the weavers to work according to his directions and brought false and fictitious allegations against some weavers. The workmen of the B shift also left the mill peacefully after the expiry of the first period at 5 p.m. after having peacefully stayed at their respective looms till then. Thereafter the employer illegally and injustifiably locked out the mill and sent false information to the local police against some of the weavers of both shifts alleging their having resorted to riotous and disorderly behaviour and having assaulted some of the Supervisory staff of the mill. During the period of lock-out, the management had on the 6th March 1961 sent by post stereotyped charge-sheets containing vague charges, against 57 workmen, including those named in the list attached to the order of reference, and purported to suspend them from the date of reopening of the mill. The concerned workmen submitted their written explanations denying the charges. On the 10th March 1961, a settlement was arrived at between the management and the workmen in course of conciliation proceedings relating to the lock-out, in pursuance whereof the mill was reopened on the 13th March 1961. No proper and bona fide enquriy whatsoever was held and the principles of natural justice were not at all respected by the management which, ultimately, wrongfully and illegally dismissed the said workmen on the 28th March 1961. The act of dismissal was wholly mala fide, arbitrary and perverse, and amounted to victimisation. It was also in clear violation of the terms of settlement mentioned above. For all these reasons, the Union is entitled to a declaration from the Tribunal that the dismissal of the workmen was unjustified, and for their reinstatement with all back wages. Subsequent to the addition of the name of Md. Karim (No. 37), the Union adopted the original written statement put in on behalf of other concerned workmen.

The employers' case, as per its written statement, is briefly this:

A Works Committee meeting was held on 1st March 1961 attended by the representative group of workers of the Weaving Department, in addition to the Works Committee members. A proposed change in the working hours was tabled by a worker and unanimously accepted. The workers of the Weaving Department illegally struck work from 6 a.m. on 2nd March 1961 without voicing any grievance to the management, individually or collectively. The Company did not give any notice on that date regarding change of working hours, as alleged. The workers concerned took a leading part in inciting others to be violent and led a mob of 1,200 workers resulting in the assault of workmen and members of the Supervisory Staff. It is untrue that Alam Sirdar or anybody on behalf of the Company ever forced the B shift workers to work according to the new routine. At about 11 a.m. on 2nd March 1961 a number of workers of both the shifts joined together and assumed violent attitude against the persons who agreed to work according to the resolution adopted in the Works Committee meeting on 1st March 1961. They assaulted two Sirdars, one Weaver and three managerial staff very severely. The whole situation became pandemonium and the management attempted to contact the Works Committee members who refused to see the management at that juncture. It is untrue that the workers concerned entered the mill peacefully and remained peaceful till the time they left the mill at 5 p.m. A worning notice was served upon the riotous and disorderly workers, but without any effect. The management had, therefore, no other alternative, but to call for police help and declare a lock-out. Subsequently, a preliminary enquiry was made and charge-sheets were issued against 58 persons including 36 workmen mentioned in the original list of the order of reference. After submission of explanations by the workmen concerned, a formal domestic enquiry was held, According to the agreement arrived at on the 10th March 1961 it was settled that the formal enquiry was to be completed within four weeks from the resumption of work. The enquiry held was quite proper and bona fide and no principle of natural justice was violated. The workmen were present during the enquiry and were given full opportunity to defend themselves and cross-examine the prosecution witnesses. Some members of the Works Committee also remained present. The workmen concerned were found guilty of the charges and the management, after considering the gravity of the offence, came to the conclusion that they should be dismissed. The management's action in dismissing them finally was justified and legal, as well as quite bona fide. The Union is, therefore, not entitled to any relief at all.

Regarding Md. Karim (serial No. 37), the Company adopts its original written statement in respect of this worker as well.

Decision

Admittedly, the Company runs two shifts in the mill—the working hours of the A shift are from 6 a.m. to 11 a.m. and from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. and those of the B shift are from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and again from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. The present dispute has arisen out of an alleged incident of riotous and disorderly behaviour with assaults on some workmen and officers at about 11-30 a.m. on 2nd March 1961, in which a large number of workers of the Weaving Departments of both the shifts are said to have participated. It is an admitted fact that the workers of these two shifts stopped work in their respective shifts on that particular date. According to the Union's case, the stoppage of work was by way of protest against the Company's having put up a notice at the mill gate to the effect that the workers of the weaving departments would have to work continuously for eight hours with a recess period of half an hour only. The Union asserts that the workers were unwilling to work continuously according to the new schedule of working hours and they peacefully sat idle by their respective looms, without creating any golmal whatever. The Company's case is that the story of notice being hung up at the mill gate is untrue and that the workers in a body created halla and participated in rioting and assaults, and also that the story of their remaining peaceful is absolutely untrue. It is true, as found from evidence, that on 1st March 1961, a meeting of the Works Committee was held and it was unanimously resolved that the new schedule of working hours continuously for eight hours, with half an hour recess, would take effect from 6th March 1961. The Company has put in the resolution of that meeting in support of that contention (vide Ext. B). As regards the story of the notice being given on 2nd March 1961 in regard to the new time of working hours, the evidence on the side of the Union is not only discrepant but is also incredible. On the other hand, in the evidence of Mr. Chhabra, the junior Labour Officer of the Company, he has definitely stated that no notice was given by the management on the 1st or the 2nd March 1961. In the circumstances of the case, this evidence of Mr. Chhabra (O. P. W. 1) is found to be acceptable. A question may arise that if no such notice was given at all, there could have been no uproars or disorderly behaviour by the weavers of the two shifts on 2nd March 1961. But the fact remains that the weavers stopped their work on that particular date. This temporary strike might have been due not because of giving of notice about new working hours, but because of the Works Committee resolution passed on the preceding date. It appears that the weavers were unwilling to abide by the said resolution. The question now is whether the strikers were peaceful or became rioters. I shall now proceed to deal with this aspect of the case forthwith. The Union makes out the case that the weavers of the two shifts were peaceful all through, and struck work as a protest against the new measure, and there was no rioting, no assault or anything of the sort.

It is a fact that on the date of the alleged incidents, the mill authorities sent an information to the police. In paragraph 9 of the Union's original written statement it is admitted that the police was informed. It is also an admitted fact that the management declared a lock-out since the said incidents and lifted it on 13th March 1961. According to the Union's written statement, the information to the police was falsely given, as there was no assault or rioting or the like. In the evidence adduced on the side of the Union, an attempt was made to show that no police came to the mill on the aforesaid date. This is entirely belied by the entries in the police diaries (Exts. D and D-1). Exhibit D shows that at about 5-30 p.m. on 2nd March 1961, a written report was sent to the police-station through a Durwan by the management to the effect that about 23 workers assaulted the Supervisory Staff and committed rioting being armed with iron bars, knives, etc., at about 6 a.m. on 2nd March 1961. Exhibit D-1 shows that a Sub-Inspector of Police went to the spot on receipt of information at about 4 p.m. for the purpose of investigation. Without referring to the merits of the case as per entries in the police diaries, the fact cannot but be accepted that the police went to the spot on the very date of the alleged incident for the purpose of investigations. This much can be said with reference to Ext. D that the Sub-Inspector of Police found the situation grave. These facts undoubtedly disclose that there was an incident on 2nd March 1961, and that the Union's story of workers' remaining peaceful all through is quite unacceptable. This is further evident from the evidence of the witnesses examined on behalf of the mill authorities, viz., Mr. Chhabra (O.P.W.1), Shri Baleswar Roy (O.P.W.3) and Md. Alam (O.P.W.4, a Sirdar of the B shift). The evidences of these witnesses read with the fact of information to the police on the very date of occurrence leave no room for doubt that some incidents must have taken place in the mill area on 2nd March 1961.

I am now faced with the question as to whether 37 workmen mentioned in the list attached to the order of reference really participated in the incidents and, if so, to what extent and in what way. At first the management charge-sheeted as many as 58 workmen during the period of the lock-out, say, on the 6th March 1961. Three dates had intervened between the date of occurrence and the date of charge-sheets. Mr Chhabra has explained the delay in issuing the charge-sheets by saying that it was due to the fact that correct facts and details of the incidents had to be collected from some injured workmen who were sent to the hospital and the like. The explanation of Mr. Chhabra is quite plausible and the said delay can be easily ignored in the particular circumstances of the case. The enquiry was admittedly held by Mr. Chhabra regarding those charge-sheets on several days. As a result of that enquiry, 39 persons out of 58 charge-sheeted workers were dismissed by the Company. The cases of two out of 39 dismissed persons are not before me. The Union has raised questions against the propriety and legality of the domestic enquiry. I shall deal with this matter in some detail later on. For the present it may be mentioned that there was a police case over the said incidents against 16 workmen, namely, (1) Lumkan (serial No. 11), (2) Md. Israil (serial No. 27), (3) Baijnath Singh (serial No. 3 or 15), (4) Okil Ahmed (serial No. 13), (5) Jamuna (serial No. 30), (6) Ashrafi Singh, (7) Sipahi Singh (serial No. 24), (8) Abdullah (serial No. 2), (9) Lukman (serial No. 10), (10) Md. Saddick (serial No. 25), (11) Ramdeo (serial No. 23), (12) Md. Sariff, (13) Md. Isaque, (14) Lachman, (15) Janak Goala and (16) Ramdhani (vide copy of the order-sheet of the Criminal Case—Ext. I). The learned Magistrate found Abdullah (serial No. 2), Pathag (serial No. 6) and Asharfi Singh (serial No. 22) guilty under section 148, I.P.C., and convicted them and sentenced them to suffer rigorous imprisonment for two months each. The other accused persons were given "benefit of doubt" in respect of that charge. Abdullah was further found guilty under section 324, Indian Penal Code, and convicted without any separate sentence thereunder. All others were acquitted (vide Ext. 1/A, judgment of the Criminal Court). On appeal the learned Sessions Judge of Hooghly acquitted the said convicted persons. Of course, the Company is not bound by those decisions in the criminal case and the appeal, so far as the industrial dispute is concerned. But the fact remains that the mill authority took prompt action not only in lodging information with the police, but also in bringing the criminal case. This would show the managements allegations of the occurrence against the workmen on 2nd March 1961 to be quite correct. In paragraph 7 of the written statement of the Union, it was stated that Alam Sirdar (O.P.W. 4) attempted to force the weavers on 2nd March 1961 to work according to the notice and was instrumental in making allegations against some weavers. This statement indicates as if Alam Sirdar wanted the workers to work according to the new schedule of time even on 2nd March 1961. This is entirely untrue, partly because there was no notice, as found above, and partly because the new working hours were to take effect not from 2nd March 1961, but from 6th March 1961.

So far I have considered about the Company's allegations about the incidents of rioting, assaults, etc., on 2nd March 1961, and have found that the story is quite correct. The question now arises, whether and how far the dismissed workmen were or were not really involved in those affairs on 2nd March 1961. It is an admitted fact that during the period of lock-out, charge-sheets were issued to 59 workers and that there was a domestic enquiry by Mr. Chhabra, the junior Labour Officer of the Company. As a result of that enquiry, the dismissal of the concerned workmen, along with two more, was effected. The Union challenges the domestic enquiry as being improper and against the principle of natural justice. It is not alleged that the finding of the enquiry was perverse. The only contention of the Union is that the Company's witnesses of the occurrence were examined in the absence of the charge-sheeted persons who were not given an opportunity to cross-examine those witnesses who were not produced at the enquiry for cross-examination. The Union has examined as many as 17 dismissed workmen out of 37 named in the list attached to the order of reference. They are Baijnath (P. W. 1, serial 3), Lukman (P.W. 2, serial 10), Sooba (P.W. 3, serial 18), Israil (P.W. 4, serial 27), Abdullah (P.W. 5, serial 2), Subedar Singh (P.W. 6, serial 36), Alijan (P.W. 7, serial 28), Abid Hossain (P.W. 8, serial 21), Goolab Mia (P.W. 9, serial 29), Ashrafi Singh (P.W. 10, serial 22), Md. Lumkan (P. W. 11, serial 11), Paras Nath (P. W. 12, serial 8), Suraj Prosad (P. W. 13, serial 34), Md. Zahoor (P.W. 14, serial 9), Ramdeo (P.W. 15, serial 23), Sahabuddin (P.W. 16, serial 4), and Md. Karim (P.W. 17, serial 37). The general trend of their deposition is that although they themselves were present individually during the enquiry, there was none other but the enquiring officer alone present at the enquiry, and that no prosecution witness was there and, thus, they were deprived of the opportunity to defend themselves by putting questions to and cross-examining the prosecution witnesses. Shri Roy, the Advocate for the Union, has referred me to the cases reported in 1958(II) L.L.J. 259 and 1961(II) L.L.J. 644 in support of his contention that the whole enquiry proceeding was vitiated as being against the principle of natural justice. In the first-named case, the decision of the management concerned was based on certain reports received against particular workers in their absence, and only the reports were read over to the workers concerned, and the reporters themselves were not produced for cross-examination. It has been observed in that case by the Hon'ble Supreme Court that the evidence should be taken in presence of the workers concerned and they should be given opportunity to defend themselves. If, in the present case, the prosecution witnesses were examined behind the concerned workmen, and were not really produced for cross-examination by the concerned workmen, then the omission would be serious undoubtedly. Even in view of that case the Company could have the right to adduce proper evidence before the Tribunal itself. The second case under reference is of no help in the present case, the principle enunciated being that evidence may be taken at the time of hearing in the Tribunal. It is to be seen, therefore, whether the Union's allegations of breach of the principle of natural justice in the above way is correct or not. Mr. Chhabra (O. P. W. 1) had deposed before me in length. Shri Roy has argued that Mr. Chhabra does not say that the Company's witnesses were also present at the time of domestic enquiry. According to Mr. Chhabra, the statements of the prosecution witnesses were read over and explained to the workmen and they were offered opportunities to cross-examine those witnesses, some cross-examined and some declined to cross-examine. Next, he denies that the relevant prosecution witnesses were not present for being cross-examined by the defence. In view of this evidence, it cannot be said that the prosecution witnesses were not produced at the enquiry for being cross-examined. If Mr. Chhabra asked the workmen to cross-examine the Company's witnesses, it goes without saying that such witnesses must have been produced for the said purpose.

From the enquiry proceedings it appears that the Company's witnesses named Shri Roy, Shri Sangani and Shri Ghosh were examined on 14th March 1961, Md. Sadique, Gool Mahamad, Ram Lal and Alam were examined on 15th March 1961. Shri Das Gupta on 16th March 1961 and Mr. Guild on 20th March 1961. The statements of all these persons were taken behind the back of the workers concerned subsequent to the issue of the charge-sheets. The workers concerned were examined batch by batch on 20th March 1961 to 27th March 1961 excepting 26th March 1961. Shri Chhabra appears to have submitted a general report with regard to the case as a whole concerning all the charge-sheeted persons and also submitted separate reports concerning each worker individually. According to him, the workers put their signatures in the relevant statements. The enquiry proceedings support this. The evidence on the side of the Union is that the workers had to put signatures on being told by Shri Chhabra that everything was all right and nothing would happen. The gist of this kind of evidence is that Shri Chhabra obtained their signatures in the statements on the false hopes and allurements. But no such complaint was ever made by the workers or the Union subsequent to the enquiry to any person or authority. Even the written statement of the Union is silent on this alleged specification. The written statement contains only a terse avertment that no proper and bona fide enquiry whatsoever was held and the principles of natural justice were not at all respected by the management. No case of undue advantage or compulsion has been made out in the written statement of the Union. Shri Baleswar Roy, the Weaving Supervisor of the Company, has said that only his assaulters and 4/5 members of the Works Committee were present when his statement was recorded by Shri Chhabra on 14th March 1961. Shri Chhabra's version is that the charge-sheeted persons were not present. Shri Roy, Advocate for the Union, has tried to make much of this difference between the evidences of Shri Chhabra and Shri Baleswar Roy (O.P.W. 3). The admitted position is that the statements of the Company's witnesses were recorded by Shri Chhabra in the absence of the concerned workmen. That being so, the aforesaid difference does not appear to be very fatal, particularly, in view of what can be properly gathered not only from Shri Chhabra's evidence given in the Tribunal, but also from the enquiry.

I have carefully gone through the enquiry proceedings. It shows that as many as 16 out of 37 dismissed workmen cross-examined one or other of the Company's witnesses at the time of enquiry. They are Abdullah (serial 2), Mathura (serial 5), Pathag (serial 6), Paras Nath (serial 8), Lukman (serial 10), Sulaiman (serial 12), Okil (serial 13), Md. Ibrahim (serial 17), Tabarak Hossain (serial 19), Asharfi Singh (serial 22), Ramdeo (serial 23), Sipahi (serial 24), Md. Saddick (serial 25), Alijan (serial 28), Jamuna (serial 30) and Suraj Prasad, alias Saiju (serial 34). The proceedings show that Iliyas (serial 16) first expressed the desire to cross-examine Shri Roy and Shri Ghosh, but subsequently declined to cross-examine any one. Shahabuddin (serial 4) had a witness for him. He says here that his witness was examined in his absence but he admits having signed in the statement of his witness. Md. Jahoor (serial 9) had a witness for him at the enquiry and so had each of Lukman, Abid Hossain and Ramdeo (serial Nos. 10, 21 and 23 respectively). I am not disposed to accept the Union's contention that Shri Chhabra fabricated those statements and cross-examinations. The trend of questions put to prosecution witnesses by a dozen of dismissed workmen at the enquiry would clearly suggest that the questions were their own, not from the mouth of Shri Chhabra. That being so, I could confidently and unhesitatingly hold that the relevant prosecution witnesses were produced at the enquiry for being cross-examined by the concerned workmen in their respective turns. So there is no question of the workers being denied the benefit of the principle of natural justice. They appear to have been given full opportunity for their defence. In the circumstances, I come to the conclusion that there is nothing against the propriety, legality and validity of the domestic enquiry held by Shri Chhabra. It is the Company's case, and it is in evidence as well, that when the prosecution witnesses were first examined by Shri Chhabra in presence of some members of the Works Committee, only Ahmed Hossain signed in the statements. This evidence is quite believable. This fact and the fact of production of witnesses at the enquiry for cross-examination purposes militate against the initial defect in regard to the examination of the Company's witnesses in the absence of the relevant workmen concerned.

It remains to be seen, whether, in view of the evidence given at the enquiry, the management took a possible and reasonable view as it did. Out of the Company's witnesses examined after the charge-sheets, and before the actual domestic enquiry, only Shri Roy (O.P.W. 3) and Alam Sardar (O.P.W. 4) have been examined before me. On 14th March 1961, Shri Roy named 14 workmen as being involved in the incidents of 2nd March 1961. In the Tribunal he specifies the names of Dipok, Abdullah and Pathag (serials 1, 2 and 6 respectively), and mentions generally about others who are alleged to have assaulted him. On 15th March 1961 Alam Sirdar mentioned the names of five persons as being participators in the incidents in question. In the Tribunal however, he specifies the names of Lukman Sirdar, Sulaiman Sirdar and Karim Sirdar (serial Nos. 10, 12 and 37 respectively). It appears, therefore, that at present both of them mention certain names which they omitted before Mr. Chhabra.

Saddick, Gool Md., Ramlal, Sangani, Mr. Guild, Shri Ghosh and Shri Das Gupta, who were also examined before the enquiry in the absence of the concerned workmen, but in the presence of some Works Committee members, have not been examined before me. At the enquiry Saddick mentioned five concerned workmen (serial Nos. 3, 10, 12, 14 and 37), stating that Alam was assaulted by Karim and others, while Latif (serial No. 14) hit the witness with a rod. Gool Md. mentioned three of the concerned workmen (serial Nos. 10, 14 and 37) adding, amongst other things, that Lukman (serial No. 10) held out threats. Ramlal mentioned the name of Okil Ahmed (serial No. 13) as having hit the witness with blows. Sangani mentioned the names of 14 concerned workmen, viz., serial Nos. 1, 5, 9, 12, 13, 17 to 19, 22 to 24, 26, 27 and 30, as being participators in the disturbances and assaults, adding that Sulaiman (serial No. 12) hit the witness. Mr. Guild stated that Saiju alias Suraj Prosad (serial No. 34) addressed a meeting of about 40 workmen preceding the actual assaults and uproars. Shri Das Gupta stated the name of Baijnath (serial No. 3) as having led the riotous mob. Shri Ghosh gave out the names of 22 concerned workmen (serial Nos. 1 to 4, 6, 8, 10, 13 to 16, 21, 23 to 25, 27, 29, 31 to 33, 35 and 37) giving some details of the occurrence in which those persons are said to have participated.

In view of the entire evidence given at the domestic enquiry, read with facts and circumstances as a whole, and the evidence adduced before me, I find that the case of the Company was sufficiently and convincingly brought home to the concerned workmen of the present reference, except Md. Lukman, Sooba, Alijan, Goolab Mia, Jamuna and Subedar Singh (serial Nos. 11, 18, 28, 29, 30 and 36 respectively). The evidence against the above-mentioned six persons appears to have been too meagre and weak to admit of any possible view as regards their guilt, whereas the guilt against the remaining 31 concerned workmen is proved beyond any shadow of reasonable doubt and the Union is not entitled to any relief against these 31 persons.

In the result, I hold that the dismissal of Md. Lumkan (serial No. 11), Sooba (serial No. 18), Alijan (serial No. 28), Goolab Mia (serial No. 29), Jamuna (serial No. 30) and Subedar Singh (serial No. 36) is not justified and these six workmen are entitled to reinstatement. It is accordingly directed that the Company shall reinstate these six persons to their former jobs and pay them all their back wages for the period of their forced unemployment, with continuity of service within one month from the date of publication of this award in the "Calcutta Gazette". The case of the Union in regard to the remaining 31 concerned workmen fails and is hereby rejected.

Award is passed accordingly.

No. 340-I.R./IR/10L-166/62.— 24th January 1963. Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 6744-I.R./IR/11L-227(A)/61, dated the 9th November 1961, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Hindusthan Motors Ltd., P.O. In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Hindusthan Motors Ltd., P.O. Uttarpara, Hooghly, and their workmen represented by (1) Hind Motors Employees' Union, 12 Arpuli Lane, Calcutta-12, and (2) Hindusthan Motor Workers' Union, Bhadrakali, Hooghly. (Case No. VIII-354 of 1961.)

BEFORE THE FIRST INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri S. N. GUHA ROY, Judge, First Industrial Tribunal.

Appearances:

For the Company: Shri S. K. Basu, Counsel, and Shri K. P. Mukherjee, Counsel.

For the Union: Shri Ram Sen.

In this reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act made by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, in its Order No. 6744-I.R./IR/11L-227(A)/61, dated 9th November 1961, of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Hindusthan Motors Ltd. on the one hand and their workmen on the other, represented by (1) Hind Motor Employees' Union and (2) Hindusthan Motor Workers' Union, the only issue is bonus for 1960-61. According to the directions of the Tribunal, the two Unions first submitted their written statements and then the Company submitted its written statement. The Hind Motor Employees' Union which, however, never appeared after having filed its written statement or at the hearing in spite of further notices, claimed in its written statement two months' wages as Puja bonus for the year 1960-61 payable in 1960 because in its opinion there was a sufficient available surplus for the year. The Hindusthan Motor Workers' Union on the other hand claimed one month's Puja bonus payable in 1961 before Puja festival and in addition six months' wages as bonus out of profits for the year 1960-61.

At the hearing, however, the only Union which contested the case, namely, the Hindusthan Motor Workers' Union, did not press its claim for a Puja bonus but confined itself to its claim for a bonus out of profits. The Company in its two written statements, one in answer to the written statement of each of the two Unions, made the case that Puja bonus was never paid by the Company to its workmen and that two Tribunals had previously held that no such bonus was payable and secondly that there was no available surplus in terms of the Full Bench Formula as interpreted by the Supreme Court of India particularly when the huge requirements of the Company under the head of Rehabilitation were taken into account so that no such bonus was actually payable by this Company for the year in question.

At the hearing it was conceded on behalf of the Company that as a matter of fact its own balance-sheet for the year proved that there was for the year 1960-61 a gross profit of Rs. 2,49,76,127. It was further conceded on behalf of the Company that it did not pay to its workmen what was known as a living wage. The Company thus admitted that there was a prima facie case for the Union that bonus out of its gross profits was payable for the year as an attempt on the part of the Company to bridge to some extent the gap between the actual wage it paid to its workmen and a living wage which the Company was expected but unable to pay. Accordingly the Company was called upon to lead its evidence on the different items of the Full Bench Formula in the computation of the available surplus which it is entitled to deduct and it did so. On behalf of the Company as many as five witnesses were examined and a large number of documents were marked. On behalf of the Union only two witnesses were examined and no documents were marked. On behalf of the Hindusthan Motors Workers' Union a computation of the available surplus according to the Full Bench Formula was filed. The other Union did not file any such computation at all either because it did not appear or because it claimed only Puja bonus and nothing more. In this computation certain columns were left blank, on the ground either that it was not known or that it was not shown presumably in the Company's balance-sheet. These blanks were later filled in by Shri Ram Sen, representing the Union, during his arguments, on the basis of the evidence adduced by the parties. According to its first calculation the amount of available surplus was Rs. 307.68 lakhs but according to its final calculation filed by Shri Ram Sen during his arguments on the 21st November 1962 the available surplus was reduced to Rs. 126.03 lakhs. The Company's original computation showed instead of a surplus a deficit of Rs. 776.42 lakhs which according to the Company's subsequent calculation on the basis of further quotations regarding the prices of the machineries to be replaced rose to Rs. 1,121.97 lakhs. These subsequent calculations were filed by Shri Bose representing the Company during his arguments.

Under the Full Bench Formula the starting point of the calculations is the gross profit. Both the parties accept the gross profits as shown in the balance-sheet Ext. 1 for the year 1960-61 as correct. This figures is Rs. 249,71,127 or to the nearest lakh Rs. 249.71 lakhs. The amounts to be added back to this figure of gross profits are provision for depreciation, reserve for development rebate, charity and donation, discarded fixed assets written off and expenses pertaining to the previous year. The Union's first computation agrees with the Company's computation as regards the items, provision for depreciation, reserve for development rebate, discarded fixed assets to be written off. Its second and last calculation, however, accepts as correct, the Company's figure 0.35 lakh under the heading "charity and donation" and also the expenses pertaining to the previous year. The Union, however, includes an additional item both in its original computation and in its last computation under the head "bad debt" and this amount is .04 lakh. Evidently these figures are all taken from the balance-sheet, Ext. 1. The only item over which there is thus a difference between the two parties in this part of the computation is a very small one, namely, bad debt amounting to Rs. 4,000. The bad debt written off in the balance-sheet amounts to Rs. 4,752 and the Union has taken it to be at Rs. .04 lakh, i.e., Rs. 4,000. What had to be written off as a bad debt was obviously not available during the year as a component of the available surplus and consequently there is hardly any justification for including this item amongst the items to be added back to the gross profits. This should accordingly be left out. The total after the amounts to be added back have been added to the gross profits of Rs. 249.71 lakhs becomes Rs. 353.84 lakhs.

Then under the next heading of certain deductions to be made from the figure arrived at, namely, from Rs. 353.84 lakhs, the Company's computation and the subsequent computation filed on behalf of the Union agree on two items, namely, income pertaining to the previous year and provisions no longer required, and surplus on sale of fixed assets and while the Company deducts in its computation certain amounts on two other items, namely, Home Delivery Commission and interest on fixed deposits, the Union's first or second statement does not include these items at all in the amounts to be deducted. The question, therefore, arises whether these two items should be included in the amounts to be deducted from 353.84 lakhs.

As regards Home Delivery Commission the Commercial Manager of the Company, Shri Satya Narayan Murarka, witness No. 5, says as follows:—

> "This item of home delivery commission covers the overriding commission received by us for vehicles sold by our foreign associates Messrs. Nuffield Exports Ltd., Messrs. General Motors Corporation, U.S.A., and Messrs. Vauxhall Motors Ltd. in their countries to customers in India or which have been brought down to India. the cars sold in the countries of our collaborators. namely, U.K. and U.S.A. which have been brought down to India".

In his cross-examination, this part of his statement does not appear to have been challenged at all. In the profit and loss account attached to the balance-sheet this has been shown as commission. On behalf of the Union it has been argued that this commission after all represents compensation, given by its associated companies to Hindusthan Motors Ltd. for its probable losses from a part of its potential market being supplied by them, or in other words, from the sale of the productions of its associated companies to potential purchasers of the products of Hindusthan Motor Works Ltd., and as this compensation is for a likely loss of business connected with the products of Hindusthan Motors Works Ltd., its labour may be said to contribute to the earning of the commission. Shortly put, Shri Ram Sen's argument is that labour contributes to the earning of the commission by producing the cars which might have been sold but are not, in view of the sale of their cars by its associated companies. The cars that are actually produced by the labourers of the Hindusthan Motors Ltd. are sold either in that year or in subsequent years so that whenever they are sold labour gets its due share from the sale proceeds thereof in the year of their sale. But if they are to be given a share of the commission the Company earns as a compensation for the loss of a part of its potential market, that means that they will be paid twice for the same labour. Consequently on this line of reasoning labour is not entitled to a share of this commission. It is plain, however, that this commission which the Company earns from its sister Companies for sale of their cars in India to possible clients of Hindusthan Motors Ltd. is not in any way contributed to by the labour of the workmen of Hindusthan Motors Ltd., so as to entitle them to a part of it.

The other item, namely, interest on fixed deposits, which the Company claims to deduct in its computation is Rs. 5.17 lakhs. In the profit and loss account the interest from Bank and others is shown as Rs. 5,44,696 which the Company calculates at Rs. 5.45 lakhs and from this it deducts 0.28 lakhs as interest on others. The Union claim a share of this interest on the ground that labour contributes to the earning of this interest by keeping accounts. It is at once obvious that the accrual of the interest is not dependent in any way on the keeping of the accounts relating to the fixed deposits, by the workmen of the Hindusthan Motors Ltd. in its own office. The money was in the Bank and the Bank was bound to pay the Hindusthan Motors Ltd. interest at the contractual rates. As labour does not contribute to the earnings of the interest, they are not entitled to a share of it. Where the Company gets the figure of Rs. 0.28 lakh it does not make clear Ext. 51 which is a statement of the maximum and minimum balances in the F.D. Account month by month for 1960-61 partly enables me to find out the amount of interest that accrued as interest on this account. The Company's Commercial Manager, Shri Satya Narayan Murarka, however, says in his examination-in-chief that this amount of Rs. 5.17 lakhs is the interest which has accrued on fixed deposits kept in the Bank, and he claims deduction of this amount as it had nothing to do with the efforts of the workmen. This part of his deposition was left unchallenged in cross-examination. There is thus no reason to doubt the accuracy of the figure Rs. 5.17 lakhs as representing the interest which accrued during the year on fixed deposits of Hindusthan Motors Ltd. The surplus is reduced by these deductions to Rs. 341.85 lakhs as in the Company's calculation.

With the next series of deductions to be made from the surplus so far found to be available, we enter upon items on which the parties are seriously at variance. On one of these items, however, namely, income-tax liabilities although the parties differed at first, they finally agreed. In the Union's first computation the figure against this item was left blank with the remark "not shown" but in its second computation this was calculated at the rate of 45 per cent. under the formula, Ext. 54, at Rs. 110.74 lakhs. In the Company's first computation this was calculated at Rs. 112.81 lakhs. This initial difference of a little less than two lakhs was finally bridged over by the Company, when Shri Bose frankly conceded before me by filing another computation that the figure should really be Rs. 110.74 lakhs, although the actual demand Ext. 44, a photostat copy of the original provisional assessment, amounted to Rs. 1,12,80,774, because its own calculation in Ext. 54 showed that the assessment for the year should be Rs. 1,10,74,513.

The next item on which the difference between the parties in their computations could be shortly disposed of is "return on capital", ordinary and preference. The Union in its first computation calculated dividend on the entire capital, ordinary and preference, at six per cent. and arrived at the figure Rs. 46.18 lakhs but in its second computation it arrived at the figure Rs. 48.25 lakhs, after having excluded the capital in two subsidiary companies invested by Hindusthan Motors Ltd. The Company, on the other hand, in its computation calculated at the rate of six per cent. return on ordinary share capital and arrived at the figure Rs. 29.89 lakhs and at the contractual rate of 8.5 per cent. on the preference share capital and arrived at the figure Rs. 27.55 lakhs, the two making up a total of Rs. 57.44 lakhs. It appears from the balance-sheet Ext. 1 that the ordinary share capital, fully subscribed, amounted to Rs. 4,96,13,250. It further appears from schedule B to the balance-sheet that Hindusthan Motors Ltd. had invested in 130,000 ordinary shares of Rs. 10 each of Hindusthan Motor Corporation Ltd. and in 325 ordinary shares of Rs. 100 each of the Pakistan Motors Ltd., the total investment of Hindusthan Motors Ltd. in these two subsidiary companies being thus Rs. 13,37,102. These subsidiary companies are undoubtedly independent entities but in those independent entities Hindusthan Motors Ltd. have invested a good deal of its own capital. The report of the Directors of Hindusthan Motor Corporation Ltd. which is printed as part of Ext. 1, the balance-sheet of Hindusthan Motors Ltd. shows that there was a profit of Rs. 1,98,222 for the year 1960-61 in this subsidiary Company but no dividend was paid and the entire profit was carried forward. In the case of the Pakistan Motors Ltd., the balance-sheet which has been printed at the end of the balance-sheet and the profit and loss account of Hindusthan Motors Ltd. for the year 1960-61 disclosed a net loss of Rs. 402.65 only, transferred to balance-sheet. In the report of the Directors of Hindusthan Motors Ltd. at pages 8-9 of Ext. 1, it is stated that the entire capital of the Hindusthan Motor Corporation Ltd. as on 31st March 1961 was held by Hindusthan Motors Ltd. and the profits of the said subsidiary Company for the last as well as the previous financial years (which have not been dealt with in, or for the purpose of, the accounts of Hindusthan Motors Ltd.) concern wholly the members of Hindusthan Motors Ltd. and that as regards the Pakistan Motors Ltd. 65 per cent. of the paid-up share capital of the said subsidiary Company, as on 31st March 1961, was held by the Hindusthan Motors Ltd. and a proportionate part accordingly of Rs. 402.65 representing loss for the year and of Rs. 33,185.04 being net aggregate loss for the previous financial years of the Pakistan Motors Ltd. which have not been dealt with in or for the purposes of the accounts of Hindusthan Motors Ltd. concern members of Hindusthan Motors Ltd. Although the capital invested in these two subsidiary Companies by Hindusthan Motors Ltd. does not appear to have earned any dividend during the year in question, there is no doubt that this capital also represents the capital of Hindusthan Motors Ltd. and as such it is entitled to a return under the Full Bench Formula for the computation of the available surplus. As regards the percentage of this return there is no doubt, for six per cent. has now become the normally accepted return on such capital. As regards preference shares the Company has to pay at the contractual rate of 8.57 per cent. There is hardly any reason why the return on the preference share should not be calculated at the contractual rate of 8.57 per cent. In the circumstances, I accept the Company's computation under this head, namely, Rs. 29.89 lakhs at the rate of six per cent. on the ordinary share capital and Rs. 27.55 lakhs at the rate of 8.57 per cent. on the preference shares making a total of Rs. 57.44 lakhs.

The next item for consideration is the return on reserves used as working capital. In the first computation filed by the Union the figure under this head was left blank. Even in its second computation it was left blank on the ground that the Company had not proved the actual use of the reserves as capital. The Company, on the other hand, in its first as well as its second calculation puts this figure at Rs. 17.23 lakhs at the rate of four per cent. The questions for consideration here are first, whether it has been proved that the Company used all the reserves that were available for use as working capital during the year, and secondly what should be the return on such reserves used as working capital. The Company seeks to prove the amounts, the availability and the use of the reserves during the year in question by Ext. 1 the balance-sheet, the affidavit of its Commercial Manager Shri Satya Narayan Murarka, Ext. 41, his evidence before the Tribunal as witness No. 5 for the Company and by Ext. 45. Exhibit 45 is really a chart prepared by the Company to show its calculation of the reserves used as working capital during the year. All these items except working income during the year have been taken from the balance-sheet. Shri Sen argued at one stage that the provision for depreciation is not available as liquid cash. This is obviously not so. Though depreciation is depreciation in value, provision is made for it by setting off a part of the profits for the purpose, so that it is really available in cash. The reserves, etc., said to have been used as working capital during the year must be the reserves, etc., available at the beginning of the year for use during the year. In other words these reserves then must be, except the unspent provisions taken to profit and loss account which obviously relate to this year 1960-61, reserves of the previous year. It appears from page 14 of Ext. 1 that the reserve for contingencies at the beginning of the year in question or at the end of the previous year was Rs. 10 lakhs as shown in Ext. 45. Similarly, the development rebate reserve at the beginning of the year appears to Rs. 39,51,000 and the forefeited dividend Rs. 450 only. From pages 14 and 23 of the balance-sheet, Ext. 1 and from pages 14 and 18 of Ext. 19, the balance-sheet of the year preceding,

Rs. 3,63,217 lakhs appears to be figure available at the beginning of the year or at the end of the previous year as profit and loss account balance. From page 16 of Ext. 1 and page 18 of Ext. 19 the proposed dividend on ordinary and preference shares at the end of the previous year appears to be Rs. 70,65,563, but as this dividend was not declared till the 21st of December 1960 it was available to the Company up to that date for any use to which it might like to put it. In Ext. 45, therefore, the Company has taken the proportionate average of this amount and put down the figure at Rs. 51,10,434. The accuracy of this figure has not been challenged. The provision for depreciation at the end of the previous year appears from schedule A of page 24 of the balance-sheet, Ext. 1, to be Rs. 3,25,48,254 which is also the figure put down in Ext. 45. Shri Murarka explains in his affidavit, Ext. 41 at pages 6-7, what it all means and how it was available for use as working capital during the year. This does not appear to have been seriously challenged in cross-examination. Unspent provisions taken to profit and loss account appear at page 21 of the balance-sheet under the heading "provisions no longer required" at Rs. 5,61,977. This is for the year 1960-61. Shri Murarka in his affidavit, Ext. 41, states that this amount is the balance of provisions which were no longer required. Every year in order to ascertain the liability at the end of the year a sum of money is provided towards expenses, goods, etc., for which full details are not available. After obtaining full details when such liabilities are paid off it is sometimes found that some balance is available against the same which is no more required to be paid (which has been written back to the profit and loss account). In other words, an amount to the extent of such excess provision was in use in the business of the Company fully and throughout the year towards day-to-day working. In his examination-in-chief Shri Murarka merely refers to Exts. 41 and 45. In his cross-examination he is minutely questioned about the registers and the system of accounting followed by the Company in relation to its reserves but no question appears to have been put to him specially with regard to the provisions no longer required. I shall deal with the evidence regarding the accounting of the reserves when I deal with the question whether the Company has proved its use of these reserves as working capital during the year. In the circumstances I take the provisions no longer required at Rs. 5,61,977 as shown at page 21 of the balance-sheet, Ext. 1. All these amounts add up to Rs. 4,35,332.

To this the Company had added a further sum of Rs. 1,76,74,364 under the heading working income, during the year. On this point Shri Murarka's affidavit, Ext. 41, runs as follows:

> "By working income which accrues by day-to-day working of the business of the Company..... every time finished goods are sold it brings in a certain amount of profit to the Company (unless the products are sold at a loss). This profit, therefore, goes some way in financing the day-to-day working of the business. Had the product been sold on cost or at loss the Company would have certainly borrowed the money from other sources and in that case the Company would have paid interest. I have taken average of the amount which constitutes profit of the Company during the year under question and I claim four per cent. interest of the amount."

Shri Murarka does not however explain what he meant by taking the average of the amount of the profit for the year nor does he appear to have been questioned on this point in his cross-examination. There is, however, a calculation of the average working profit attached to Ext. 45 signed by Shri Murarka, Commercial Manager. What he appears to have done there is to add up the figures under the heading as per profit and loss account reserves for depreciation, development rebates and discarded fixed assets written off amounting to a total figure of Rs. 3,52,48,728. He appears to have taken 50 per cent. of this amount as the average working income employed as working capital during 1960-61. In other words, he has taken a half of the amount under all these four heads as having been working income available for use as working capital throughout the year. During the first half of the year the amount available under these heads is likely to have been less than 50 per cent. whereas in the second half it is likely to have been more so that on the whole the assumption behind this calculation does not appear to be altogether unreasonable. I, therefore, accept the Company's calculation of the working income durng the year as per Ext. 45 to be correct. The total amount thus arrived at is Rs. 6,12,09,696. Out of this the Company has deducted in Ext. 45 a sum of Rs. 1,81,25,000, being the average amount kept by the Company in a fixed deposit account as per Ext. 46. Exhibit 46 of course does not give the average, it merely gives the amount that stood to the credit of the Company at the beginning and at the end of every month from the 1st of April 1960, to the 31st of March 1961. The average kept in fixed deposit account was worked out by the Company in Ext. 51 and this average is Rs. 1,81,25,000. The amount kept in the Bank in a fixed deposit account could not certainly have been used as working capital and the Company has therefore, rightly excluded this from its computation of the reserves, etc., used as working capital. The amount thus arrived at is Rs. 4,30,84,696.

The question arises how the Company has proved that this amount of Rs. 4 crores and odd was actually used as working capital during the year, for it is on this point that the Union has very seriously questioned the Company's claim. Shri Murarka in his affidavit, Ext. 41, says as follows:

> "These reserves and surpluses are, as a matter of fact, profits earmarked for specific purposes or profits undistributed which were available for use for the purpose of the Company in the year under reference..... At the end of the year, the Directors and the Shareholders earmark or provide a portion of such gross profits for certain specific purposes, for example, Reserve for Contingencies. Reserve for Depreciation, Provision for Dividends, etc. Such reserves until spent for the said specific purposes are available in the business for the purpose of its day-to-day use."

Then he speaks of the different items of reserves, etc., and adds that these items were available and actually used for the purpose of the current business of the Company during the year in question. In his examination-in-chief apart from proving the specific statements bearing on this head he has not added much. In his cross-examination he states as follows on this question:

"Development rebate is considered as a concession for the purpose of the calculation of Income Tax. Every year some allocation is made for reserves and provisions out of profit. These allocations, as a matter of fact, are finally passed by the shareholders in the general meeting and passed by the Board of Directors. So far as reserves are concerned all the reserves are shown on the liability side of the balance-sheet. The Company maintains separate account in the ledger for each reserve. This I have also stated in my affidavit Ext. 41. Reserves are shown under separate heads of account in the ledgers. Development rebate reserve is allowed on the machines newly added. So far development reserve is concerned it is as created by the Income Tax Act. If it is a replacement reserve, it will be for replacement purpose. Reserves are created under different heads for specific purposes as well as for general purpose. I have got our main ledger which will prove that the reserves have been utilised in the working of the Company. The general ledger shows how the reserves are utilised. Apart from the general ledger there cannot be and there is not a separate account to show the utilisation of reserves as working capital. We do not maintain any separate ledger for each kind of reserve. Under the system of accounting which we follow the reserve is not shown as depleted to the extent that money is drawn from it for utilisation as working capital. In other words, the reserve will be shown as being intact even when money has been drawn from it for utilisation as working capital, because this will be represented by a corresponding debit account on the right-hand side. The mere entry of a particular reserve on the credit side of the main ledger would show that the reserve is being utilised as working capital. The entry on the credit side of a reserve or a surplus would show that that is existing in the business and being used in the Company's business. In the main ledger there cannot be any specific entry into a particular reserve account and there is not any specific entry showing the utilisation of a particular reserve as working capital. In the other words, we are going on making debit entries as money is withdrawn without showing from what source the money comes. I do not agree that in a particular year all the reserves may not be required in the working capital. The reserves and the surplus are always used as the working capital of the Company. The reserves which are available in the beginning of the year are used at a time in the working of the Company. If a particular reserve is required in the middle of the year then I have to reduce the corresponding assert on the right-hand side and/or borrow."

This is all the evidence on the side of the Company. It is fairly obvious from the evidence that the amount already specified under different heads was actually available for use by the Company and that it was available as liquid cash not having been invested in securities of any kind. If it was available as liquid cash the chances are that it was used as part of the working capital unless it was allowed to remain as idle money without earning any return whatever or unless any part of it was specifically used for any of the purposes for which a particular reserve may have been earmarked. That such a large amount of money would be allowed to remain idle without any attempt at earning any return on it evidently goes against all canons of business prudence. If any part of the money was used for the specific purpose, for which the reserve was earmarked, then to that extent the reserve would be depleted but no such depletion of any of the reserves has been proved. Besides, if the money was available as liquid cash it must have formed part of the general fund of the Company although in its accounts it was shown under different heads. If these reserves and surpluses entered the general accounts of the Company on one side one may well presume that these were used as part of the working capital during the year, for otherwise the two sides of the accounts could not balance. In this context, the question becomes pertinent in what manner the accounts could be kept so as to show what head of account any item of expenditure was drawn from. It is just possible that certain basic alterations in the method of keeping the accounts can show this, but the way in which the accounts appear to be kept in this concern hardly makes it possible. In any event, I do not quite see what tangible evidence short of the massive day-to-day accounts of a big enterprise like this, the Tribunal could demand, even if it had the requisite machinery for an effective check on it, which it has not.

The Company's figure of the reserves, etc., used as working capital on which it claims a return, namely, Rs. 4,30,84,696 appears to me to receive a good deal of indirect confirmation from certain entries in the balance-sheet Ext. 1. The value of the fixed assets at page 13 and in schedule A is Rs. 4,98,55,890. This is of course the written down value in 1960-61. The total investment in such assets may be arrived at by adding to this written down value the depreciation provided up to the end of 1961, i.e., Rs. 3,84,91,947 as in schedule A. In this way the total investment comes to Rs. 8,83,47,837. The paid up capital as at page 12 is Rs. 8,19,59,981. The total investment, therefore, in the acquisition of the fixed assets of the Company exceeds the share capital by Rs. 63,87,858. In other words, no part of the working capital could come from the share capital which was more than exhausted in the acquisition of the fixed assets. At page 4 of Ext. 1 under the main heading "Highlights of the year" and under the sub-heading investment as at 31st March, the net working capital is shown to be Rs. 4,59,31,193. The figure is evidently derived from the balance-sheet proper in Ext. I by a deduction from the total value of the assets, of the written down value of the fixed assets, the unsecured loans and the current liabilities and provision for taxation. The total value of the assets as at page 17 is Rs. 14,11,45,783. The written down value of the fixed assets, as already found, is Rs. 4,98,55,890; the unsecured loans as at page 14 amount to Rs. 37,11,941 and the current liabilities and provision for taxation as at page 16 come to Rs. 4,16,46,759. The total of the three items is Rs. 9,52,14,590. If this total is deducted from Rs. 14,11,45,783, the balance is

Rs. 4,59,31,193, the figure shown at page 4 of Ext. 1. This is the total working capital used during the year. But the company has claimed a return on only Rs. 4,30,84,696 out of this, for it is this amount only which it leaves to its reserves and surpluses, available during the year for use as working capital.

On behalf of the Union and on behalf of the Company a number of cases of the Labour Appellate Tribunal and the Supreme Court has been cited to show what kind of proof is needed as to the working capital. The cases cited on behalf of the Union are the Labour Appellate Tribunal case between Alcock Ashdown and Company Limited versus Their workmen 1952, L.A.C. 310, and the Supreme Court cases between Textile Machineries Corporation Ltd. versus Their workmen 1960, II, L.L.J. 34, Cannanore Spinning and Weaving Mills Ltd. and their workers' Union 1960, II, L.L.J. 43, Khandesh Spinning and Weaving Mills Company Ltd. and Rashtriya Girni Kamgar Sangh and others, 1960, 1, L.L.J. 541, Pierce Leslie & Co. Ltd. and their workmen 1960, I. L.L.J. 809. On behalf of the Company reliance was placed on the Supreme Court decisions in the case of Tixtile Machinery Corporation Ltd. which is also relied on by the Union in Anil Starch Products Ltd. versus Ahmedabad Chemical Workers' Union and others 1960, II, L.L.J. 88 and the Tata Oil Mills Ltd. 1959, II, L.L.J. 250.

In the Labour Appellate Tribunal case relied on by the Union, namely, in the case of Alcock Ashdown and Co. Ltd., the Labour Appellate Tribunal observes as follows at pages 313-14:

> "To begin with, in order to earn a flat rate of interest during the whole year, it must be shown that the fund was wholly employed for that purpose, and if employed for a period the return must necessarily be restricted to that period (as pointed out in Rashtriya Mill Mazdoor Sangh versus Millowners' Association, 1952, L.A.C. 148), there must be sufficient evidence before a Tribunal as to the utilisation of a fund, and the period thereof, if a claim for a return is to succeed. A fund like the equalization of dividend fund or the taxation reserve or the reserve for bad debts must, from their very nature, fluctuate duirng the course of a year, and it is not sufficient for a Company to come before a Tribunal and say that these were the reserves they had at the commencement of a year and therefore must be deemed to have continued as such throughout the period."

In the Texmaco case, relied on by both the parties, the Tribunal found that there was no evidence to show that the reserves had been either partly or wholley used as working capital during the year and yet allowed the Company 4 per cent. on the general reserve only. The Supreme Court in dealing with the question whether the Tribunal was right in holdin that there was no relevant evidence on the point refers to the argument before it on behalf of the Company that there was an affidavit of the financial officer of the Company in which it had been averred that the details showing that the reserves were fully utilised in the business under the heads mentioned were as shown in the audited balance-sheet tendered, that there was thereafter a statement of the reserves, and that there was a similar statement in the Company's written statement, and then goes on to observe as follows:

> "We are unable to hold that the statement made in the affidavit can be treated as evidence of the fact that the reserves in question had in fact been used as working capital. What the statement purports to do is merely to collate the relevant figures and set them out as deduced from the balance-sheet and nothing more. It has been held by this Court that before any employer can claim any return on liquid reserves by way of interest, he must lead evidence to show that the reserves in question have been used as working capital during the relevant period. We are satisfied that the Tribunal was right in holdng that no evidence in fact had been produced before it by the appellant in that behalf."

In the case of the Cannanore Spinning and Weaving Mills Ltd., the Supreme Court held that before an analysis of the statement of the balance-sheet for estabishing the use of the reserves as working capital could be undertaken it was necessary for the employers to establish that the statements in the balance-sheet were in fact correct and in the absence of any evidence to show this the correctness of such statement could not be presumed. In the case of Anil Starch Products Ltd., the Supreme Court refers to its own decision in the Tata Oil Mills case. The relevant facts of the Tata Oil Mills case are that an affidavit was made on behalf of the Union that it had used its reserve funds for a variety of purposes as working capital. The Tribunal, however, allowed return at 4 per cent. on working capital of a certain amount excluding the depreciation reserve but including all other reserves which had been claimed by the Company as having been used as working capital, but gave no reason why the depreciation reserve was excluded from the reserves used as working capital. The Supreme Court then observes as follows (page 258):

> "Return is allowed on the reserves used as working capital on the ground that if these reserves are not used for this purpose the concern would have to borrow money and pay interest on that, this being the basis on which a return on reserves used as working capital is allowed, there is no reason why, if there is in fact money available in the depreciation reserve and if that money is actually used during the year as working capital, a return should not be allowed to such money also. Further, if the money has been converted into such assets as stock-in-trade and stores, etc., i.e., other than capital or fixed assets, it will be obviously available from year to year to that extent as working capital subject to adjustment on account of loans, secured or otherwise. Learned counsel for the respondents wanted to contest that the whole amount in the depreciation reserve was not available for being used as working capital. It is enough to say that the affidavit of the Chief Accountant filed on behalf of the Company was not challenged before the Industrial Tribunal on behalf of the respondents. It would, therefore, be impossible for us now to overlook that affidavit, particularly when the Tribunal gave no reason why it treated the working capital as Rs. 31.88 lakhs only. So far, therefore, as the present year is concerned, we must accept the affidavit and hold that the working capital was Rs. 139.09 lakhs. It will, however, be open to the workmen in future to show by proper cross-examination of the Company's witness or by proper evidence that the amount shown as the depreciation reserve was not available in whole or in part to be used as working capital and that whatever may be available was not in fact so used in the sense explained above."

In the case of Khandesh Spinning and Weaving Mills Company Ltd., and Rashtriya Girni Kamgar Sangh and others, the question of the method of proving the reserves as working capital cropped up somewhat indirectly. The surplus in that case was ascertained by the Tribunal on the basis of the Full Bench Formula to be Rs. 2.20 lakhs after deducting the prior charges from the gross profits of the Company, but it did not give any credit to the rehabilitation amount apart from the statutory depreciation. It estimated the amount required for rehabilitation at Rs. 60 lakhs; out of this amount it deducted Rs. 51 lakhs, representing the reserves and the balance of Rs. 9 lakhs spread over a period of fifteen years gave the figure of Rs. 60,000 as the amount that should be set apart for the year in question for rehabilitation. As the statutory depreciation was Rs. 83.639, it came to the conclusion that the Company would not be entitled to any allocation as a prior charge for rehabilitation. After excluding the said item of rehabilitation it fixed the surplus in a sum of Rs. 2 lakhs and awarded to the empoyees four months' basic wages as bonus. The Supreme Court found that the Industrial Court was in error in its view that it was immaterial whether reserves were used as working capital or not; and observed that in ascertaining the surplus for the purpose of fixing the bonus for a particular year the state of affairs of that year is the guiding factor and that if in any subsequent year, any part of the reserves used as working capital is released, that amount will not be taken into account in ascertaining the surplus for that year and so on for subsequent years. Having said this the Supreme Court went on to say that this result did not advance the case of the Company unless it was able to prove that it had used the reserves as working capital during the year in question. In connection with this, it pointed out first that the accounts of a Company, its balance-sheet and profit and loss account are prepared by the management and labour has no concern in it and secondly that when so much depends on it, the principles of equity and justice demand that an industrial court should insist upon a clear proof of the same and also give a real and adequate opportunity to the labour to canvass the correctness of the particulars furnished by the employers. In the case of Pierce Leslie & Co. Ltd. the Supreme Court found the balance-sheet, etc., unacceptable on certain points because of certain discrepancies between them and certain other exhibits. The principles that emerge from these decisions may be summed up as follows:

(1) All important matters which call for proof and of which the burden of proof is on the Company must be properly proved and it is not enough for the Company merely to say by an affidavit that a particular state of affairs exists and even the statements in the balance-sheets cannot be presumed to be correct unless there is proper evidence to that effect, and (2) as an employer's accounts including his balance-sheets and profit and loss accounts are prepared by his own men and as labour has no part in it, it is only fair that the witnesses for the Company should be tendered for cross-examination on behalf of labour, (3) it follows further from this that the documentary evidence by which the employer seeks to prove any particular item should be open to proper scrutiny on behalf of the workmen.

The question now is whether the Company has satisfied these requirements laid down by the Supreme Court. In this case I have already said there is an affidavit on behalf of the Company by its Commercial Manager Shri Murarka. He has stated in it that the printed balance-sheet and the profit and loss account and all other accounts such as block statements and statements given in the form of schedules A to C therewith represent a true and correct state of affairs of the Company and then it makes specific statements about the particular reserves. This Commercial Manager was placed in the witness stand on behalf of the Company, examined-in-chief and cross-examined by Shri Ram Sen on behalf of the Union. Then the Company has put in a number of documents to which I have already referred. These documents after having been disclosed beforehand to the Tribunal and to the other side which was furnished with copies were all marked on admission for the purpose of dispensing with formal proof. Of course, by such admission the Union did not accept the correctness of the contents of the documents but then unless there was any reason to disbelieve the statements to be inaccurate, it is difficult for the Tribunal to say that they were so. In these circumstances, and having regard to the facts that the reserves and surpluses which form part of the general fund of the Company, although shown in their accounts under certain specific heads, were available as liquid cash during the year and that there is no evidence to show that any part of these reserves and surpluses lay idle, or that any part of any of these reserves was spent during the year for the purpose for which it was set apart, it has got to be held that the entire amount of the reserves and surpluses amounting to Rs. 4,30,84,696 was actually used as working capital during the year. The rate of interest or return on the amount so used is now normally taken to be 4 per cent. in such calculations. I, therefore, accept the Company's figure of Rs. 17.23 lakhs as return on reserves and surpluses used as working capital during the year.

Next I come to the notional and normal depreciation. In the first computation filed on behalf of the Union the figure was left blank with the remark "not known." In its second computation, however, the Union fixes it at Rs. 63.07 lakhs, while in the Company's computation this figure was Rs. 69.26 lakhs, the difference between the two computations being Rs. 6.19 lakhs. The Union evidently took this figure in its second computation from the corresponding figure under depreciation at page 20 of the profit and loss account forming part of the balance-sheet Ext. 1 for the year ending on the 31st of March 1961. This is evidently depreciation as calculated under the Income Tax Act whereas it is now settled law that what the Company is entitled to take into account in determining the available surplus is only the normal and notional depreciation and not the depreciation allowed under the Income Tax Act. Under the Income Tax Act a heavy depreciation is allowed in the first year and additional depreciation is allowed for the first few years and in addition there is a normal depreciation with the result that the employer gets cent. per cent. depreciation in course of a number of years, but in view of the fact that the heavy depreciation allowed in the first few years unduly reduces the available surplus during these years even though these might be years of prosperity, the Full Bench of the Labour Appellate Tribunal in the U.P. Electric Supply Co. Ltd. versus Their workmen, 1955, II, L.L.J. 431 laid down that in determining the available surplus under the Full Bench formula normal depreciation including multiple-shift depreciation but not initial or additional depreciation should be allowed and this was followed by the Labour Appellate Tribunal in the case between Surat Electric Supply Co. Staff Union and Surat Electricity Co. Ltd. and others 1957, II, L.L.J. 648. In this case the Tribunal showed how depreciation initial, additional and normal was calculated under the Income Tax Act and the assessee was allowed cent. per cent. depreciation in the course of a number of years, depending on the rate permitted by that Act. It also made clear that what was to be taken into account for the determination of the available surplus under the Full Bench formula was only normal depreciation. The Full Bench of the Supreme Court in the case of Associated Cement Ltd. and their workmen 1959, I, L.L.J 644 has apporved of the decision of the Labour Appellate Tribunal in the Surat Electricity Co. case. Of course, this normal depreciation means normal depreciation as understood under the Income Tax Act. Under rule 8 of the Indian Income Tax Rules, 1922, a schedule is provided of the rates for different classes of assets. Shri Sen on behalf of the Union asked Shri Murarka in his cross-examination whether he calculated the depreciation at the general rate or the special rate and Shri Murarka's answer was as follows :

> "I do not think that there are two rates of depreciation namely general rate and special rate. I have calculated the depreciation on the rates as prescribed under the Income Tax Act."

Shri Sen has also argued that in calculating normal depreciation it is this general rate and not the special rates which should be taken into consideration, specially because if the written down value is to be arrived at after deduction of only the normal depreciation, it would exceed the written down value arrived at after deduction of the initial, additional and the normal depreciation, and the notional normal depreciation would exceed the statutory depreciation. An examination of rule 8 of the Income Tax Rules, 1922, shows that for buildings of different classes there are certain rates, for each class of building there being only one rate. The same remark holds good about furniture and fittings. Therefore for machinery and plant there are apparently two rates. One is called the general rate and the other the special rates. As far as I can make out from the rule, the special rates are the rates to be applied to the whole of the machinery and plant in a number of concerns specified and grouped under the letters A.-U. What are called the special rates are really the rates prescribed for specified categories or "special" categories. What is called the general rate becomes thus the rate for the residue of machinery and plant which are not covered by the concerns mentioned under the heading "special rates." Thus although the rule uses the expressions "general rate" and "special rates," there are really different rates for the machinery and plant of different kinds of concerns and there is one rate for machinery and plant not covered by the special rates, prescribed for specific kinds of concerns. There is thus only one rate present for machinery and plant of each kind of concern and another rate prescribed for machineries and plants not covered by the concerns specified under the heading "special rates". Clearly therefore Shri Sen and Mr. Murarka are both partly right and partly wrong.

It was argued by Shri Sen on behalf of the Union that the notional normal depreciation in any particular year could not exceed the depreciation under the Income Tax Act. That is an assumption which is hardly warranted by the methods laid down in the two cases of the Labour Appellate Tribunal. It has been made celar in the Surat Electricity Co. case that the Full Bench in the case of the U.P. Electric Supply Co. Ltd. postulated for a mere even distribution of depreciation over a number of years and that there was at no time any intention to deprive the employer of his full depreciation. It has also made it clear that for the bonus formula, the initial and additional depreciation must be ignored in fixing the written down value and in determining the period over which the normal depreciation will be allowed. In other words, the written down value must according to it be determined every year only by a deduction of the normal depreciation permissible under the Income Tax Act. That being so, the written down value calculated under this method by deducting only the normal depreciation must be always more than that calculated under the Income Tax Act and consequently the normal depreciation is bound to exceed the statutory depreciation. Shri Sen asked for the calculation of the normal depreciation at the general rate rather than at the special rate on this ground, but I do not think this is permissible, according to the prescribed mode of calculation or in all fairness. If the rate of depreciation on which to calculate be what is prescribed in the Income Tax Act, as it is agreed that it should be, it should be the rate prescribed for each category of machinery and plant specified there. Not to do so will amount to giving the workmen an advantage both ways, first in enlarging the period over which the depreciation is to be distributed and secondly in lowering the rate of depreciation of a good many categories of plant and machinery. The documentary evidence relating to the calculation of normal and notional depreciation by the Company consists of Ext. 43, which is for the year 1960-61, of Exts. 3 to 14 which are for the years 1959-60 backwards down to 1948-49. Then Ext. 15 is a tally of fixed assets for the year ending on the 31st of March 1960, Ext. 16 gives the details of building during the year ending on the 31st of March 1961, and Ext. 17 gives details of furniture and fittings for the year 1960-61. Exhibit 18 shows the additions to the plant and machinery from 1947-48 to 1960. It appears from Ext. 43 that what the Company has done in calculating the depreciation for the years 1960-61 is to take the written down value of buildings of different classes and machinery, plant, furniture, etc., of different classes as on 1st April 1960 at the commencement of the year in question and then to apply to each category the rate of normal depreciation presumably under the Income Tax Act and that is how the Company has arrived at the figure of Rs. 69,25,622.

The accuracy of the calculations according to the rates shown therein has not been called in question on behalf of the Union and Shri Ram Sen's only argument is that the rate should have been the general rate and not the special rates. This, as I have already said, is not quite correct and the rates must be the rates as prescribed in rule 8 of the rules under the Income Tax Act, 1922, for each category of plant and machinery and then instead of determining the written down value by deduction of the initial, additional and normal depreciation, what one has to do is to arrive at the written down value by deducting only the normal depreciation and then by allowing depreciation at this rate over a number of years so as to give the employer the full depreciation during the period. The one little snag in the method of calculation suggested by the Labour Appellate Tribunal in the case of the Surat Electricity Co. Ltd. is that the employer never gets cent. per cent. depreciation at this rate even in the last year, however long the period, unless when the written down value becomes less than a hundredth part of the original price, the entire written down value in the last year is taken to be the normal depreciation for that year, because the normal depreciation being a fraction of the written down value in a particular year, the written down value in any particular year will always be reduced to the extent of only the fraction which is the rate of depreciation so as to leave every year a residue. For example in the calculation given by the Labour Appellate Tribunal in that case it appears that in the 28th year the written down value will be .09 which is less than a hundredth part of the original price in that case. Unless therefore the entire written down value amounting to .09 or the written down value at any later stage be taken to be the entire normal depreciation for that year, the employer can never get his cent. per cent. depreciation. Even a hundredth part of the original price may be counted in lakhs when the original price runs into crores, but if less than a hundredth part is taken, it naturally means that the period during which the plant and machinery earns depreciation under the bonus formula is correspondingly increased. While under the Income Tax Act the depreciation is spread over 10 years only, under this method of calculation of the notional normal depreciation this period is extended to 28 years and even then the employer does not get cent. per cent. depreciation unless the method suggested above is adopted. It is further extended by taking less than a hundredth part. After all, even a notional thing can hardly afford to be so unrelated to facts as to be more or less fictional. A much easier rule to apply would probably be to take the life of plant and machinery as provided in rule 8 of the Income Tax Rules under the Act of 1922 and to allow every year the same depreciation in terms of the original price instead of calculating it at the same percentage of the written down value every year. Even then, as seen in the specific case of the Surat Electricity Co. Ltd., the period for recovery of the full value in the form of depreciation is nearly thrice that allowed by the Income Tax Act and to that extent and that extent alone, depreciation allowed under the bonus formula becomes notional. But as the Supreme Court has approved the mode of calculation adopted by the Labour Appellate Tribunal in the Surat Electricity Company's case, I have no option but to follow that. After arguments I asked the Company's representative Shri Bose to show in a separate statement the specific part of rule 8 each particular category of plant and machinery dealt with in Ext. 43 comes under and to give Shri Sen a copy of that statement so as to enable him to see if it is accurate. Shri Bose has filed this. It is kept on the record as annexure to Ext. 43, and Shri Sen tells me this is correct. The figure, therefore, as given by the Company in Ext. 43, namely, Rs. 69,25,622 is taken to be correct. The deductions to be made under these prior charges, namely, notional normal depreciation, Income Tax liability for the year, 6 per cent. return on capital, 8.57 per cent. return on preference share capital and 4 per cent. return on working capital employed in industry are respectively as follows: Rs. 69.26 lakhs, Rs. 110.74 lakhs, Rs. 29.89 lakhs, Rs. 27.55 lakhs and Rs. 17.23 lakhs, i.e., a total of Rs. 254.67 lakhs. The surplus, as found after adding back certain items to the gross profits as in the profit and loss account amounts to Rs. 349.14 lakhs. I have already found that after deduction of certain amounts under the headings "Income pertaining to previous years and provisions no longer required", "surplus on sale of fixed assets, home delivery commission," "interest on fixed deposits," the amount of gross profits is reduced to Rs. 341.85 lakhs as in the Company's computation. If out of this amount further prior charges amounting to Rs. 254.67 be deducted, the amount available comes to Rs. 87.18 lakhs, as per Company's computation.

The Company further shows in its computation under the heading "the requirements for rehabilitation of plant, machinery and buildings, etc.", during the year a sum of Rs. 633.37 lakhs, so that there would be a deficit of Rs. 550.89 lakhs according to this calculation. It filed another calculation on 22nd November 1962 which really consists of two sets of calculations for plant and machinery and one set for buildings. It is quite clear that the price factors or the mutlipliers are the same in the third calculation filed already along with the second as in the first. In the second calculation, the year's rehabilitation requirement goes up to Rs. 1,278.41 lakhs and this minus a proportion of the depreciation accumulated during the years will be much higher than in the first computation. In the third computation it is less than the second but higher than the first. In other words, there would be on the basis of any of these three calculations no available surplus at all for distribution to the workmen as bonus. This is the whole case of the Company. The questions to be considered here are first how far the figure of Rs. 633. 37 lakhs may be taken to be reasonably accurate and secondly what, if it may not, should be taken to be the year's requirements for rehabilitation. In connection with these two questions, another of basic importance arises, namely, the question of the normal life of plant, machinery and buildings and it is really on the decision of this question that the answer to the first question depends.

The Company has led evidence on the life of its buildings but there is no evidence on the side of the Union on that point at all so that this part of the evidence on the side of the Company is really ex-parte. Both the Company and the Union have, however, led evidence about the life of the plant and machinery.

About the life of the buildings, the sole witness examined on behalf of the Company is Shri Ganesh Das Arora P.W. 4 who joined in the month of August 1961 as a Civil Engineer. He had retired as a District Officer in Class I of the Indian Railway Service of Engineers and then joined the Company's service. According to him the soil on which the buildings were put up is marshy and mostly this is filled up earth and accordingly he says that the foundation of these buildings was not on firm ground. He further says that although the buildings are of bricks and cement plaster and the roofs are of cement concrete, the material used was not used in good proportion and the bricks are of inferior quality, that the walls of the factory buildings were built with the inferior quality of bricks and in the cement plaster there was a large proportion of sand and the floor was also of inferior bricks. The walls are not also sufficiently thick. The roof of the factory buildings is of asbestos sheet, cracked in a majority of cases and northlight glasses also have been broken in large quantities and need replacement. He says even in his examination-in-chief that he was called upon to submit a report about a couple of days after he had joined, i.e., sometime in August 1961 and Ext. 37 is the report he submitted. This report Ext. 37 is a copy of the original but it does not bear any date. In the list of documents filed on behalf of the Company the report appears to have been dated 19th September 1961. The first part of this report deals with his own qualifications and a short history of his services. He first points out that the buildings were not on firm ground and although they should have been built on piles or on rafter foundation, that was not done and he also certifies that the materials used were not of the proper quality nor used in proper proportion and consequently the life of the buildings which according to Government standards should be 30 to 35 years is only about 20 years. In his cross-examination he says that the factory buildings are of steel structure with roof of asbestos sheets and some brick walling. He has examined the bricks as well as the plaster and he has also seen that for building the roof, jhama bricks, cheap stones and not stone chips were used and the untested steel bars used were not sufficient. Doors also were made of pine-wood of inferior quality. He admits that he was not ordered in writing to submit a report and that he was asked to do so orally. He further says in his cross-examination that if the foundation, cement and steel proportion used are of good quality, the buildings can last 50 years or more. The factory buildings cannot last 40 years because the roofs and asbestos sheets and northlight glasses cannot last for 40 years due to storms or other accidents. This is the entire evidence as regards the life of buildings. It seems to me somewhat strange that although the buildings were constructed when the factory was started and at different stages thereafter, no enquiry as to the condition of the buildings was ordered till this officer joined sometime in August 1961 and his report was not submitted till September 1961. This reference was made on the 9th of November 1961 and it appears from the Company's written statement that there was a strike in the factory with effect from the midnight of the 10th of October 1961 and further that this strike was the result of the Union's demand for bonus on the basis of six months' basic wages sometime before the Pujas of 1961, i.e., the middle of October 1961. The enquiry and the report therefore of Shri Arora seem to have preceded the commencement of these troubles in the factory by not more than a few weeks. To that extent both the enquiry and the report of Shri Arora justly arouse a certain amount of suspicion. It is also clear from what he says in his evidence and his report that nothing about these buildings appears to have been done properly. That goes to strengthen the suspicion and naturally I find it difficult to accept his evidence at its face value, but then there being no evidence on the other side at all, the question arises on what basis the life of the buildings should be estimated. I do not think I shall be justified in rejecting completely the Company's claim of rehabilitation for buildings because I cannot rely on the evidence it has produced. In the absence of any other materials, I am inclined to think that a proper basis will be that laid down in rule 8 of the Income Tax Rules. Although the percentages prescribed by that rule were prescribed in a different context and for a somewhat different purpose, namely the determination of the rate of depreciation, the purpose is similar to what rehabilitation has in view and from that point of view it may reasonably be taken to be the yard-stick laid down by the legislature for the purpose of determining the economically useful life of buildings, plant and machinery in connection with the question of deciding on the period over which their rehabilitation should be deemed to extend in the application of the bonus formula. In the absence of any reliable evidence, I am inclined to take this as a better guide than any standard of my own which may be wholly arbitrary.

Exhibit 38 is Shri Arora's report regarding the cost of replacement of the factory buildings put up in 1948 as the life of the buildings according to him is finished. This estimate comes up to Rs. 31,13,000. The Company has however attached to its computation of the available surplus several schedules including schedule B which relates to its estimate of the rehabilitation cost for 1960-61 of different types of buildings namely non-factory, second class factory buildings and water works and other buildings. This schedule B takes the life of non-factory buildings to be 30 years, of second class factory buildings 25 years and water works and other buildings 10 years and makes its calculation on that basis. The maximum multiplier in the case of factory buildings is 2.25 reduced in its second calculation to 2 and the minimum is 1.10 in both. In the case of second class non-factory buildings the maximum multiplier is 2.25 in the first calculation and 2 in its second and the minimum 1.10 in the first and in the second and in the case of water works the maximum multiplier is 2.70 both the first and the second calculations and the minimum 1.25 in both. In view of the rise in the cost of materials and construction the multipliers do not seem to me to be unreasonable and are actually taken to be the average of the two figures as shown below (Table 1 in the Appendix to the award).

The question still remains whether the estimate of the life of different classes of buildings is accurate. I have already said that it is dffiicult to rely on the evidence of Shri Arora and his report, although there is no evidence on the other side to rebut the same. The life of non-factory buildings for the purpose of depreciation under rule 8 of the Income Tax Act, 1922, is taken to be 40 years but in the Company's calculation it is 30 years as already stated. In the case of second class factory buildings the life under the rule of the Income Tax Rules is only 10 years but it is 20 years in the case of offices, godowns, officers' and employees' quarters but the Company has taken the life to be 25 years. The Company's estimate of rehabilitation cost for this class of buildings for the year may accordingly be allowed to stand unchanged. There is no indication in the evidence what was the nature of the structures classified under the heading water works and others and yet their life has been taken to be only 10 years. Such buildings are not obviously subjected to the same wear and tear as factory buildings. As these are not classed as factory buildings, there is hardly any reason why their life should be taken to be 10 years only and not 40 years as in the case of first class non-factory buildings under the Income Tax Rules. The total requirement for rehabilitation for the year for these three classes of buildings amounts in the Company's calculation to Rs. 20.05 lakhs. If its calculation is revised in the light of what I put the life of these classes of buildings namely that fixed by rule 8 of the Income Tax Rules except in the case of second class factory buildings for which I accept the Company's estimate, the amounts will be Rs. 11.963 lakhs or Rs. 11.97 lakhs (as per Table I Appendix). In this Table I exclude the year 1960-61 because that is the year in question in this reference and the question of rehabilitation of the buildings constructed during that year cannot arise till the next year.

The next question is as to the rehabilitation requirement for the year in respect of plant and machinery. The Company in schedule 1(A) attached to its computation of the available surplus has divided machinery and plant according to the year of their installation. From 1942-43 to 1946-47 the original cost of total machinery, etc., installed was only Rs. 2.17 lakhs. Then thereafter year after year the value of the machinery, etc., installed has been shown. Then in the second column the value of the machinery discarded and written off from the books is also shown year by year, the total value of plant and machinery, etc., thus reduced by the value of the discarded plant and machinery, comes to Rs. 6,38.46 lakhs. The Company has taken the normal life of the machinery and plant to be six years with the result that it has shown as the residuary life of the machinery installed up to 1955-56 as being nil and thereafter except in the case of machinery and plant installed in the year 1957-58 and 1958-59, the residuary life was shown and having regard to the recent quotations regarding the price of the machinery and plant to be replaced, the Company adopted suitable multipliers and arrived at the figure Rs. 9,22.74 lakhs in schedule 1(A). In schedule D, however, attached to the computation rehabilitation requirement per year for plant and machinery has been shown at Rs. 6,86.53 lakhs and schedule 1(A) has been referred to. The explanation is that the depreciation available in Rs. 3,03.71 lakhs had to be deducted from the whole of cost of rehabilitation amounting to Rs. 11,86.41 lakhs. Thus only a proportion of Rs. 3,03.71 lakhs was available for deduction from the year's cost of rehabilitation. This is according to the principle laid down by the Appellate Tribunal in the case of Saxby and Farmer Ltd. 1955 L.A.C. 707, because this depreciation reserve has to be distributed over the whole period during which the old machinery and plant referred to here has to be replaced. This proportion, however, works out at Rs. 2,36.61 lakhs, the resulting figure being Rs. 6,86.53 lakhs, as shown in the Company's calculation in schedule D. In its calculation schedule 1(A) it has taken certain multipliers according to some of the quotations exhibited in this case. The Company filed another set of calculations during arguments, supplying the other side with copies. In this new set of calculations, the total cost of rehabilitation for the year went up from Rs. 7,02.63 lakhs as per its original schedule D to Rs. 12,78.41 lakhs as per its new schedule D. In its new schedule 1A, the multipliers also went up. It was submitted that these new schedules were based on the new quotations filed before the Tribunal. In the second set of calculations filed on behalf of the Company on 22nd November 1962, there are two schedules 1A. The first schedule 1A, filed with the computation of the available surplus, differs from the first schedule 1A of the second set of calculations in two respects, namely, first that its multipliers are lower than those of the other schedule and secondly that it does not classify plant and machinery under the Automobile and Heavy Engineering Divisions as the second does. The second schedule 1A of the second set of calculations retains the classification of the first schedule 1A of this set of calculations and the multipliers of the original schedule 1A, except in the case of plant and machinery of the Heavy Engineering Division in respect of which its multipliers are the same as in the first schedule 1A of the second set of calculation, for, as stated already, the original schedule 1A did not contain any such classification. As the Heavy Engineering Division machinery appear to have been installed in three years only, namely, 1957-58, 1958-59 and 1959-60 and as the original schedule 1A does not mention this classification at all, the average multipliers for these three years should be arrived on the basis of the figures for these years given in the original schedule 1A, and in the Automobile Division and the Heavy Engineering Division in the first schedule 1A of the second set of calculations. The multipliers arrived at in this way will be as follows:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1942-43 to 1946-47 | $\frac{2\cdot80+3\cdot70}{2}$ | 3·25 |
| 1947-48 | $\frac{2\cdot80+3\cdot70}{2}$ | =3·25 |
| 1948-49 | $\frac{2\cdot50+3\cdot70}{2}$ | =3·10 |
| 1949-50 | $\frac{2\cdot30+4\cdot00}{2}$ | =3·15 |
| 1950-51 | $\frac{2\cdot40+3}{2}$ | =2·70 |
| 1951-52 | $\frac{2\cdot70+2}{2}$ | =2·85 |
| 1952-53 | $\frac{2\cdot50+1\cdot70}{2}$ | =2·10 |
| 1953-54 | $\frac{1\cdot50+2\cdot70}{2}$ | =2·10 |
| 1954-55 | $\frac{1\cdot90+2\cdot70}{2}$ | =2·30 |
| 1955-56 | $\frac{1\cdot80+2\cdot70}{2}$ | =2·25 |
| 1956-57 | $\frac{1\cdot60+1\cdot50}{2}$ | =1·55 |
| 1957-58 | $\frac{2+3\cdot50+2\cdot50}{3}$ | =2·66 |
| 1958-59 | $\frac{1\cdot25+1\cdot25+1\cdot35}{3}$ | =1·28 |
| 1959-60 | $\frac{1\cdot15+1\cdot15+1\cdot15}{3}$ | 1·15 |
| 1960-61 | $\frac{1\cdot10+1\cdot10}{2}$ | =1·10 |

Shri Ram Sen has also filed a calculation chart after arguments. He has also taken certain multipliers which are less than the multipliers taken by the Company in its original schedule 1A and still less than those in its second schedule 1A. It is the contention of Shri Ram Sen that the multipliers have been reduced by him because it is in evidence that modern machinery generally has increased productive capacity. The annual cost of rehabilitation depends mainly on three factors, namely, the price factor or multipliers, the average life and the residuary life, the divisor being the number of years of the residuary life. It is therefore of the utmost importance to find out what should be the multipliers and the divisors. About the original cost of the machinery there is no dispute nor is there any dispute about the value of the machinery and plant discarded and written off from the books. The quotations filed on behalf of the Company are Exts. 31 series and 36 series. Exhibits 36 series are all in original but Exts. 31 series are all copies. The Company was asked to produce the originals of those copies for verification by the other side. The Company produced the originals of all the documents except three in respect of which what the Company produced were not originals but letters marked duplicates. The Company's explanation is that they received only these duplicates and as far as they are concerned these duplicates are the originals. I allowed these documents to be marked and ordered the duplicates to be kept on the record. It is not Shri Ram Sen's contention that the Company was wrong in taking the multipliers in its schedule 1(A) as originally attached to their computation of the available surplus nor in its new schedule 1A but his contention is that these multipliers should be reduced in view of the increased productive capacity of new machinery and plant and he accordingly in his calculation reduced the multipliers to some extent, e.g., for the machinery for the year 1942-43 to 1946-47 the Company's multiplier is 2.80 whereas that of Shri Ram Sen is 2 only. Similarly for the next year the Company's multiplier is 2.80 whereas Shri Ram Sen's is still 2 and so on. It has now to be seen whether there is any evidence to show that all modern machinery has an increased productive capacity. On this point Shri Bansal was questioned in his cross-examination and his answer is as follows:

> "Production capacity of these new machineries mentioned in Ext. 29 is very much the same as would be on a new machine that is now in our plan. These new machines will produce exactly the same number of pieces as these original machines when they were new."

Elsewhere in his cross-examination he says:

> "The production capacity of the new machines does not necessarily increase over the old ones if these are exactly similar machines. They have improved design features regarding the rigidity of the machine, feasibility of proper maintenance and with more ease to the operator and better safety precautions. It may not give any increased production. ..... If modern design with entirely new feature and new production capability is purchased which will cost much higher than the exact replica as is shown in Ext. 29, improvement in production can be achieved. For example, we can buy very special purpose machine and get higher production but in that case, it will not be a replica to the old machines."

In this part of his evidence, Shri Bansal obviously tries to negative the possibility of increased production from the machines by which the old ones are to be replaced, though reading between the lines, one can hardly miss the existence of such a possibility, subject of course, to certain conditions according to him. The specific evidence on the side of the Union is that of Shri Sunil Kumar Das examined as S.P.W. 1. He says in his examination-in-chief "Machines of the new design have got more productive capacity than the machines of the old design." In his cross-examination on this point he says as follows:

> "When the machines get old and new design is brought out in the market, the new design is purchased as far as possible. In the new design machine there is centralised lubrication system which will not be in old design machine. Sometimes in new design machines we have better safety devices for the protection of workmen. There is no rated or full capacity of any grinder indicating the capacity operation-wise of the grinder; according to job it will vary. Therefore unless there is a work study, there cannot be any rating of capacity. When a new machine with a new design is installed unless work study operation-wise is made, it is not possible to say if it has a better capacity or not."

Now this witness after having passed the Intermediate Science Examination of the Calcutta University in 1948 has been serving the Textile Machinery Corporation Ltd., Belghoria, since 1952. But before that he was employed for one and half years in that concern as an apprentice. He admits that he worked only as a grinder from 1952 to 1961 and since February 1961 he has been working as a setter. This is all his experience. Evidently therefore he is at best qualified to speak of machines, the working of which he has himself seen in the Textile Machine Corporation Ltd., Belghoria, and when he speaks of all machines of new designs a good deal of allowance has to be made for what he says. Then it appears from his cross-examination that what he says in his examination-in-chief is not really worth much. The other witness for the Union who is an employee of Hindusthan Motors Ltd., does not say anything on this point. The witnesses for the Company other than Shri Bansal do not appear to have been questioned on this point at all. It is, therefore, hardly possible to hold on the evidence that all machinery and plant of new design have greater productive capacity than the old ones, although it is just possible that in designing new machinery and plant the manufacturers try to see that the improvements effected in the new designs in various directions might lead to increased productivity as far as possible, but that would not necessarily mean that all new designs in all kinds of machinery would have an increased productive capacity. At the same time one cannot lose sight of the fact that there is a constant natural tendency among manufacturers to design machinery and plant in such a way that they can yield the maximum possible production as far as is possible to ensure it without sacrificing considerations of economy or their efficiency in other directions. It will thus probably be not unreasonable to decrease the multipliers worked out by me on the average of the figures given in Company's schedule 1A filed with its computation and the new schedule 1A filed during the argument on 22nd November 1962. The rate of this decrease must also decrease with the passage of time, for the simple reason that productive capacity of machinery installed in 1942-43 which it may be less than that of machinery installed, say in 1944-45, will be much less than that of machinery installed, say in 1958-59, or in 1959-60. Consequently I reduce the average multipliers arrived at already by .75 up to 1951-52, by .55 from 1952-53 to 1955-56 and by .35 from 1956-57 to 1960-61. The multipliers will, therefore, be as follows:

|---|---|---|---|
| 1942-43 to 1946-47 | 3·25—·75 | = | 2·50 |
| 1947-48 | 3·27—·75 | = | 2·50 |
| 1948-49 | 2·10—·75 | = | 2·35 |
| 1949-50 | 3·15 ·75 | = | 2·40 |
| 1950-51 | 2·70—·75 | = | 1·95 |
| 1951-52 | 2·85—·75 | = | 2·10 |
| 1952-53 | 2·10—·55 | = | 1·55 |
| 1953-54 | 2·10—·55 | = | 1·55 |
| 1954-55 | 2·30—·55 | = | 1·75 |
| 1955-56 | 2·25—·55 | = | 1·70 |
| 1956-57 | 1·55—·35 | = | 1·20 |
| 1957-58 | 2·66—·35 | = | 2·31 |
| 1958-59 | 1·28—·35 | = | ·93 |
| 1959-60 | 1·15—·35 | = | ·80 |
| 1960-61 | 1·10—·35 | = | ·75 |

The next important question is about the life of the plant and machinery. On this point there is on the side of the Company the evidence first of Mr. Joseph Joyce, witness No. 1, Mr. Girish Chandra Bansal, witness No. 2 and Atul Chandra Bhargava, witness No. 3, and on the side of the Union there is the evidence of Shri Sunil Kumar Das and Bidyut Kumar Saha. Apart from this there is on the side of the Company the evidence of Mr. Gerald Waplington marked Ext. 58 in another case between the Hindusthan Motors Limited and their workmen before another Tribunal on the 15th of November 1961. This deposition was taken in under section 33 of the Indian Evidence Act (vide Order No. 37, dated 20th November 1962). Mr. Waplington is an engineer of 30 years' experience, a senior member of Production Engineers and a senior member of the Institute of Mechanical Engineers, England, and a senior member of the American Society of Tool Manufacturing Engineers. He has been 23 years in the field of machine tools and during this period he built machines, carried out research on development of machine tools and designed machine tools and he was the technical manager of an import house importing American Machine Tools into U.K. He is also the founder-member of the Excelle Corporation and served as the Chief Engineer and Works Manager of its British Plant situated in Leicester and was responsible for the design, manufacture, installation and service of the machine tool products which include general purpose machines, special purpose machines and highly automatic transfer machines. He said the equipment manufactured and designed under his guidance had been supplied to all the automatic (automotive) companies in U.K. including Morris Motors, Austin Motors, Ford Motors, Vauxhall Motors, Rolls Royce Motors, etc. His company is an American concern specialising in precision machining on a high production basis and he visited India on an assignment as Technical Adviser in the building of Excelle Plant in Bombay. His opinion on machine tools is evidently of a general nature. He starts by saying that there is a marked difference between the economic life and the useful life of the machine tools and the useful life of the machine tools is itself self-explanatory and as to economic life, he can only give an opinion from his experience. He divides machine tools into two classes for the purpose of establishing their economic life and these two broad groups are general purpose machine tools and special or single purpose machine tools. Before examining these two groups he explained what he meant by the economic life of machine tools. He tests the economic life of a machine tool with reference to three principles, namely, (1) that the machine should be capable of producing a component to the required dimensions and accuracy, (2) that it should be capable of maintaining pre-determined rated production, and (3) the performance of the machine in the above two cases should remain comparable with whatever current equipment is available for performance of each operation. As to the general purpose machine which is designed for flexibility of operation and which always includes movements, feeds and speed capable of handling a variety of works and in which these facilities are designed into the smallest possible economic space so that the machine might be sold at a competitive price, he says that when such a machine is subjected to a single piece operation of high production nature, the wearing surface, and the size of bearing and the gears used in the construction, prove to be generaly light for the operation of each performance and this means that the rate of wear in the machines would be accelerated and the machine will develop inaccuracies, poor finish of the work and considerable vibration will be set up inside the machine which both accelerates the wear and tear of the machine and shortens the life of the cutting tools. A special purpose machine which is, according to him, designed to perform a single operation continuously under normal production and which does not need to contain flexibility, designed into the general purpose machine and as such has more rigidity, maintains accuracy for a longer period and gives more consistent tool performance, and he sums up by saying that he would feel it safe to suggest that the life of a general purpose machine tool working under the same condition of single part production will be in the order of 50 per cent. In other words, according to him the life of general purpose machine tool of high productivity is a half of that of a special purpose machine of like productivity. Of course he qualifies this statement still further by saying that the life of machine tools will be subject to the type of their handling and maintenance for poor maintenance can seriously affect the life of the machine. He further mentions the high humidity and wide temperature variation in India as additional factors affecting the wear and tear of the machine and its accuracy. He also lays down certain conditions observed in the United Kingdom and U.S.A., namely, first, use of the expensive special purpose machine which gives an advantage in economic life, secondly, the stringent maintenance of the standard of accuracy of the work piece so as to exact the best performance from the machine tools at all times; thirdly, the fact that one machine which falls short in production jeopardises the performance of the whole unit, and fourthly, the vital need of preventive maintenance of the equipment. According to him special purpose machine tools giving production of high accuracy by working 400 hours a month become uneconomical after a period of 5/7 years. These machines are capable of being rebuilt and reinstalled. However, the companies invariably reintroduce a new model of product every six years, so that the money required to rebuild all the equipments may be invested in the latest equipment producing new product. He further says that special purpose machines performing work of less accuracy may have an economic life of 7 to 10 years and these machines are normally retained as stand-by equipments in order to maintain production in case of failure of any item of the new installation. He puts the life of general purpose machines on work of high accuracy to be from 2 to 3 years, provided the machines are properly maintained and handled. About the life of the general purpose machine on less accurate work of repetitive nature working 400 hours a month, he says that such machines may be expected to have an economic life up to five years. The special purpose machine on high accuracy work should have an economic life in the order of 5 to 6 years. The special purpose machine on work of low accuracy may have economic life up to 10 years. He further says that the economic life would be only one-third of the useful life of the machine and these two terms should be very clearly understood. Thus, according to him, if the economic life of a particular machine is two years, its useful life would be six years. It appears that before him a list marked Ext. K was produced and by looking at that list he said his first impression was that it would not be a very economical line of machines for producing motor cars and the every high preponderance of general purpose machines would indicate that the work was being executed largely on what is known as open set. He also said that except 50/60 machines mentioned in the list, Ext. K, the rest were general purpose machines. This list is not produced in this case. In his cross-examination Mr. Waplington says that he visited the Hindusthan Motors and certain other Motor Engineering concerns in India in connection with deciding which of their many products would be manufactured in their Bombay Plant, and he visited the Hindusthan Motors Factory only on one day. In his cross-examination he further says that the general purpose machine and special purpose machine tools are found in other engineering concerns also, that the cheaper class of machine tools cannot be normally expected to maintain their accuracy over a longer period, as the machines costing more money have necessary refinements and as improvements in the nature of maintenance may improve the life of the machines. He says also that there is very little likelihood of the original purchaser of a machine to continue with it for 40 years, that the machine may be handed down to other companies at a much reduced price and that it usually finishes up in a concern where extreme small over-heads permit the company to remain in existence. He concludes his cross-examination by saying that it would be correct to say that a machine is capable of running for 40 years but the maintenance and replacement would be expensive and prohibitive.

Evidently, therefore, the evidence of this engineer is generally that general purpose machine tools on work of high accuracy for 400 hours a month will have an economic life of about 2 to 3 years, those on less accurate work of repetitive nature working 400 hours a month an economic life up to 5 years while special purpose machines on high accuracy work have an economic life of 5 to 6 years and special purpose machines working on low accuracy may have an economic life up to 10 years and that although a machine can run for 40 years, the cost of its maintenance and replacement would be excessive and prohibitive.

The first witness, examined on behalf of the Company, Mr Joyce, is a manufacturing engineer with approximately 30 years of experience in the Machine Tool Industry, Aircraft and Auto Motor. He held several supervisory positions up to 1955 in different American concerns and then in 1955 he rejoined the Ford Motor Company as Senior Manufacturing Engineer, Central Staff, where he had his original training. In September 1961 he joined the Hindusthan Motors as General Master Mechanic where he is still operating in that capacity. He is a senior member of the American Manufacturing Tool Engineers. He states in his examination-in-chief that he finds, after a tour and investigation of the plant and machine equipments, the machines in a very deplorable condition by which he means that by 1960, 70 per cent. of the machines would have been conceded to have exceeded their economic useful life and almost at that time under normal conditions these would have been declared scrap or obsolete. He divides the machinery into two categories, roughing machines and finishing precision machines. According to him the roughing machines have a longer life than the finishing precision machines because the tolerance of the roughing operations are rather liberal and for these machines he considers 10 years to be the maximum economic life. As far as precision machines are concerned the tolerance of these operations are very close and as they are measured in a 10th of a thousandth of an inch, they are very sensitive and very accurate and do not stand any abuse and as a general rule these machines are supplied with sealed spindles and their diaphragm is hydraulically operated. If such a machine develops a run out the diaphragm becomes hard, the cams lose their control, the hydraulic system becomes sluggish and pumps are worn out and clutch starts level, with the result there is a mass of cast iron which is useless within the precision components that go into the machine and these according to him cannot have more than six years of economic life. He also says like Mr. Waplington that the climate because of high humidity and heat is all against the machines and he again says that 6 to 10 years is the life of the machines according to American standards. He says in his cross-examination that he has not worked in any other Engineering concern in India and by repairing the machines their efficiency does not improve but they are merely put back to work. He further says that he studied the conditions of the machines of Hindusthan Motors because it is his responsibility. He admits that other engineering concerns produce products similar to those produced by the Hindusthan Motors and that in engineering concerns for the production of wagons or structural things, these operations of the machines are not all there or 70 per cent. not there. He also says that most of the machines still operating in Hindusthan Motors are machines originally installed and that some of the machines originally installed have been replaced. According to him the economic life is the economically useful life by which he means the period of time when a machine is producing economically. The useful life, according to him, depends on manufacture on the product and on the precision of the product produced. He further says that if the precision or the quality is not of vital importance, then the machine may be used longer, and the useful life of the machine is longer than its economic life. He also says that if the price factor or the quality of precision machines is not considered it may be used for 20 years. He says that the Company has hand and machine moulds. These operations are found basically in all foundries. Thus, according to him, roughing machines which have a longer life, than the precision machines have a maximum of 10 years' economic life whereas the precision machines also have a life of 6 to 10 years. On his own showing then roughing machines should have a longer life than 10 years because they have according to him a longer life than precision machines, the outer limit of the economic life of which is 10 years. This estimate of Mr. Joyce is based on the assumption of the plant and machinery being worked 400 hours a month, i.e., roughly in two shifts of 16 hours a day. It is however, in evidence that the mills have been working in three shifts during the last two years or so. But the evidence is uncertain as to the exact perio during which these have been worked in three shifts and there is no evidence at all to show how this extra burden of work has affected the life of the plant and machinery. The Company's case, as put through its witness, Mr. Joyce, may be taken to be as already given. Witness No. 2 for the Company Shri Girish Chandra Bansal is a graduate in Mechanical Engineering from the Indian Institute of Technology at Kharagpur and right after his graduation he was appointed as a Mechanical Engineer and he was appointed as a Planning and Designing Engineer in Hindusthan Motors Ltd. in July 1955. He received a certain amount of training abroad after being in Hindusthan Motors for two and half years and came back to India in December 1959 and was employed as Master Mechanic in Hindusthan Motors. His duties in that capacity include specifying machines for each production operation, laying out process sheets, designing of jigs and fixtures, drawing these jigs and fixtures on the machines specified for making these jigs and fixtures in the tool room and finally repairing and maintaining the machine tools in the Automobile Division. These duties familiarised him with the machinery and plant used in the factory and he had a number of statements about the plant and machinery exhibited on behalf of the Company prepared under his supervision. According to him, about 80 per cent. of the machineries mentioned in Ext. 34 are precision machines and according to him, the condition of all of them, particularly those installed before 1955, is deplorable from the point of view of their useful economic life, and he submitted a number of reports about their condition. Exhibit 20, dated 20th March 1960, is a report by him to the Works Manager enclosing a list, prepared by Shri Rao of the Maintenance Department of obsolete machines in spare line and saying these are in bad shape and need immediate replacement. Exhibit 21 is another report of a similar kind in which all the items have been marked with the letter 'S' denoting that they are to be scrapped. Exhibits 22-26 are breakdown records. Ext. 22 of electrical breakdowns from 13th September 1961 to 24th May 1962, Exts. 23, 24 and 25 of machine-shop breakdowns from 1st September 1962 to 25th October 1962, from September 1961 to July 1962 and from July 1962 to October 1962 and

Ext. 26 is a summary of breakdowns from January to September 1962. According to Shri Bansal, the normal breakdown in a plant of the size of Hindusthan Motors Ltd. should be 400 hours per month at the most, but the number of breakdowns appears to have varied between 6,871 to 19,129. There is no indication, however, in the evidence, as far as I can see, what is the number of breakdown hours per month, though Shri Bansal seems to suggest that the breakdowns far exceeded the normal. He estimates the efficient economic life of machinery at 6 to 10 years on the basis of 16 hours of work per day, but he says clearly that at the moment most of the machineries were working in three shifts of 24 hours. Though he cannot say from what date the machines were working in three shifts, he says that they have been so working for the last 2/3 years. Obviously, therefore, there is an unmistakable ring of uncertainity in this evidence, first, which of the machineries were being worked in three shifts and secondly, how long exactly each of them has been so worked. He says no doubt the life would be proportionally reduced but this is evidently useless in the absence of clear evidence on the two material points on which he speaks in an uncertain voice and without any definite date. I, therefore, have no option but to disregard this part of his evidence as being of no real value and to take his evidence on the efficient economic life of machineries, etc., to be 6 to 10 years. Then he speaks of the bad system of maintenance in the factory as lowering the life of the machinery. He was subjected to a lengthy cross-examination as regards certain details of certain types of machinery, but nothing substantial on the life of the machinery as given by him appears to emerge from it. Thus, Shri Bansal's evidence follows the lines of that of Mr. Joyce whose statements are more specific and clear than his.

Next there is the evidence of Shri Atul Chandra Bhargava, Chief Engineer, Heavy Engineering Division of Hindusthan Motors Ltd. since June 1961. He joined after the year in question in this reference, but that would not affect the value to be attached to his opinion about the economic life of the machinery in his department, which handles three types of machineries, namely, (1) General purpose structural machineries with an efficient economic life of 12 to 15 years depending upon the type of equipment; (2) General purpose semi-precision machines, with an efficient economic life of 8 to 10 years; and (3) General purpose electrical machineries with an efficient economic life of 4 to 6 years. He also says that 70 per cent. of the machinery in his department are in the first category. Exhibit 35 is a statement prepared under his direct supervision of the comparative original cost price and the price on the basis of present quotation. Most of the items according to this statement are to be replaced. As regards some, no quotations were available up to the time when the statement was prepared. As regards items not to be replaced at once, efficient economic life was taken to vary between 10 and 4 years. There is, however, no indication in the statement when these were installed and how many years of efficient economic life each of them is normally taken to run. Besides, even in their case, only the hour limit and not the higher has been taken into consideration. Thus Ext. 35 is not really as helpful as it might have been. Nothing substantial transpires from his cross-examination.

These are all the witnesses for the Company on the question of the useful or efficient economic life of plant and machinery. There are two witnesses for the Union, Shri Sunil Kumar Das, S.P.W. 1 whom I have already mentioned in another connection and Shri Bidyut Kumar Saha, S.P.W. 2. The first, as already stated, passed his I.Sc. examination and then put in one and a half years as an apprentice and 10 years as a workman in the Textile Machinery Corporation Ltd. Out of these 10 years, he was a grinder for nine and for only one year he has been working as a setter. Even as a grinder he was earning less than other grinders. The second is a workman in the Hindusthan Motors Ltd. for the last eight years. He read up to only class VI, entered the factory as a mazdoor and became an operator in 1955, when he began to work as a grinder and was transferred to the machine shop, section 5, about three months ago. Here also he has been working on a grinding machine. Clearly then, these two witnesses have not a background of either a technical education or of a long course of practical experience in handling machines about which they speak, so as to be entitled to credit as experts.

Their evidence has now to be examined. Shri Sunil Das, working in the Spindle and Ring Department of the Textile Division, says that spindle blades are made in his department, that this is a high precision job and that there are precision machines in this department. Then he goes on to say that these precision machines have an effective life of about 30 years. In his cross-examination he says that in the machine shop of the Textile Division there are more than 300 grinding machines. Thus on his own showing, his experience is limited only to grinding machine and that also only to ten years. How he is in a position to say that even such machines will have an effective life of 30 years he does not care to explain:

> "If for any reason the condition of the machine deteriorates, the time taken for the purpose of any given operations to designed limits will not be decreased, because there will not be any production. On the other hand, if the machine is repaired, then it is restored to its proper operation."

Evidently he seems to think that whatever the nature of the deterioration, the machine would go out of commission at once and that however long the machine may have worked, every time it is repaired, it returns to its original condition. These are obviously unwarranted assumptions. He admits the unsoundness of the second assumption when in the next sentences he denies that a machine if repaired with spare parts replacing old parts will run indefinitely and give normal performance indefinitely and says that even if parts are replaced and the machines kept in repair, the normal performance of a grinding machine will deteriorate after a given period. If this part of the evidence is taken with his statement that the effective life of precision machines is 30 years, evidently the gist of his evidence would seem to be that the given period after which a machine will not give normal performance is thirty years. On the face of it, this is an unacceptable exaggeration.

The next witness Shri Bidyut Kumar Saha is a member of the Executive Committee of the Union.

This may add to his interest in the case but not to his qualifications as an expert on the economic longivity of machines. He questions the correctness of the statements in Ext. 28 specially with reference to the machine, namely, 1611 mentioned there. He says it is still working and the number of this machine he has himself verified. The other machines mentioned in Ext. 28 are also working according to them but he has not verified their numbers. How without a verification of the number of each machine in the machine shop he can say that such machines are actually working, it is difficult to say. He admits in his cross-examination that he has looked at the machines mentioned in page 2 of Ext. 28 and with the exception of machine No. 1611, he cannot say what work is done on each of the other machines mentioned at pages 1 and 2 clearly, therefore, he does not himself appear to be certain as to the other machines mentioned in Ext. 28. It appears from the second page of Ext. 28 that machine No. 1611 is a thread-milling machine which is the only one of that kind in Ext. 28. In his cross-examination further on this point, he says:

> "The number of the thread-milling machine in my section is 1116. I have performed thread-milling operation for three or four days. I have seen this machine No. 1116 which they are operating now."

This would go to suggest a certain amount of confusion on the part of the witness between machine No. 1611 and machine No. 1116, but this appears to have been due more to an attempt on the part of the Company's lawyer to create confusion by putting before him a wrong number of the machine, as I shall show later. But Ext. 34 itsetlf shows that this is not really so and the witness was telling the truth when he said machine No. 1611 was still being used though Ext. 28 shows it has been discarded since February 1954. Exhibit 34 is according to Shri Bansal a list of machineries which were in use in 1960-61, unless otherwise specified. Item No. 35 in page 2 of Ext. 28 is a Wickman Thread Milling Machine bearing the number 164, installed in July 1949 and discarded in February 1954. The last but two items at page 29 of Ext. 34 is a Wickman Moulton No. 1B std. Thread Mill installed in July 1949 and in the Remarks Column the number entered is 1611. Evidently the number of the machine as given in the first column is the number stamped in it by the manufacturers and the number put on it by the Company. From this entry, it is clear that this machine was installed in section 5. It is the evidence of Shri Bidyut Saha that he has been working in section 5 since 1955 and the number of the thread milling machine in his section is 1116. Exhibit 34 shows that there is no thread milling machine of that number in the factory and as a matter of fact it shows there is no machine of any kind bearing the number 1116. This suggests that the number 1116 was deliberately put to the witness just to trap him into an unguarded answer for neutralizing his damaging statement that machine No. 1611 was still in use, though shown as discarded in Ext. 28 with effect from February 1954. Item No. 2 of the Index portion of Ext. 34 shows at pages 20-31 thread milling and other machines. The list of thread milling machines begins with the last but two item at page 29 and ends with the second item at page 30. According to Ext. 34, there were thus five thread milling machines only at work and as there is nothing in Ext. 34 to show otherwise, it must be held, on Shri Bansal's own evidence, that it was still being worked in 1960-61 as stated by Shri Saha in his examination-in-chief and Ext. 28 to that extent at least was untrue. This goes a long way to bring into doubt the correctness of the statements prepared on behalf of the Company.

The other part of Shri Saha's evidence is about the effective life of machinery. His title to the postiion of an expert witness on the point is even less than that of Shri Das. He speaks of the effective life of only the grinding machines which he worked as being 30 years and according to him it can work even after that period with proper repairs. He heard that it was installed in 1950 and he has worked on it for eight years and thus considers himself qualified enough to say that it has an effective life of thirty years. He also says in his examination-in-chief that breakdown occur both in old and new machines and that when the defects responsible for such break-down are removed, the machines become as effective as before, presumably irrespective of their age. It appears, however, from his cross-examination, he worked on quite a number of machines—centre-less grinding machine No. 1832 for 3 to 4 years, circular grinders and surface grinder and lately he has been transferred to section 9(b) with thread grinding machine No. 1723. Practical experience of work on more than one machine adds to his qualifications as an expert instead of taking away from them. He admits, however, that serious breakdowns occur more often in old machines than in new ones but would not admit that as a machine grows old, its efficiency decreases. In the very next sentence, however, he has to modify this statement to some extent when he says that the efficiency of a machine which has worked for 30 years will be of lightly less than that of a new machine. In the next sentence, he modifies even this a little further by saying that a machine can run with slight decrease of efficiency for 30 years. In other words, even before its full shape of longevity as given by him is reached by a machine, it will begin to be less efficient. At what time it begins its decrete along that shape he does not, however, say evidently because the question was not pressed any further. He admits that after 40 years, after repair, the products of the machine may not be so accurate. Then there follows the following passage:

> "If he desires the accuracy of the products, a machine can run 50 years. After 50 years, if the machine runs, the job will not be accurate. The usefulness of a machine depends on the desired accuracy of the job it is required to perform."

Elsewhere in his cross-examination he says:

> "The machine shop is run on the mass-production basis. It is not a fact that if one machine breaksdown for any reason and does not perform its job accurately, the subsequent operations in other machines will be affected..... The machines can run 30 years or 40 years or 50 years as I have stated before and this experience is based on working on the grinding machine only for seven years.
> There are over 100 fast-moving parts in a motor engine. The workmen of a fast-moving motor car parts is 5/10th of a thousand parts of an inch. When a machine gets older, even then it maintains the tolerance limits of its products."

The evidence of the witness speaks for itself and needs little comment beyond this that by no means an expert in such matters, he has not imposed in any way the quality of his evidence in the role of such an expert by his undisguised attempt at an over-statement of the effective life of the machines he has handled.

Compared to the evidence on the side of the Union, that on the side of the Company as already analysed by me is certainly more impressive because it is from witnesses with a distinct background of technical education and experience in the line. Even then, as far as I have been able to judge, their evidence also is not quite far from a point of interestedness; and in our case at least, a definite contradiction between Ext. 34 and Ext. 28 caught my eyes because of the evidence of the second witness of the Union. In these circumstances, I find it impossible to take the evidence adduced on behalf of the Company at its full face value.

The burden of proving the rehabilitation cost for the year is on the Company. It has led evidence which I cannot fully accept; nor can I fully accept the evidence led on behalf of the Union. Is it then open to me to reject the Company's claim for a deduction of the rehabilitation cost from the surplus available without this deduction and to award to the workmen a bonus on the basis of that surplus? An affirmative answer does not commend itself to me and for the following reasons: first, that I have not been able to accept the Company's evidence in full, means that I have not completely rejected it and have accepted it in part, and the same remark holds good about the evidence on the side of the Union. In other words, the truth in my view lies somewhere between these two extremes. Secondly, the plant and machinery in use for a number of years has to be replaced in due course and it may be that some have already entered their utility for the type of work they were designed for and need to be replaced without delay, so that to deny the Company anything by way of the year's cost of rehabilitation in the computation of the available surplus for determining the permissible quantum of bonus would be to handicap the business seriously. This to my mind is definitely undesirable in this national emergency in which it has an important roll to play in the maintenance of communication and supplies. It is also undesirable because of its ultimate effect on the earnings of labour.

The question, therefore, boils down to this: how I should fix the point at which the truth in this matter rests. Should I take the average of the periods of longivity as given by the Company and the Union, or should I take some other standard? The first method is not likely to lead correct results for the simple reason that it is almost impossible to find out in what proportions the self-interest of the two parties involved have inflated and deflated the truth. An external standard, therefore, is preferable. In the case of buildings, I adopted the standard afforded by rule 8 of the Income Tax Rules, 1922, because that appeared to me to be an objective standard prescribed by the legislature for another purpose but a purpose not altogether dissimilar. When I tantatively made this suggestion to the parties during the preparation of this award, Shri Ram Sen for the Union and if I remember right Shri Bose also for the Company reminded me that this had never been done before and Shri Ram Sen suggested something like a notional average. I am inclined to think that any such notional average which introduces an entirely subjective element can never be as good as the yardstick prescribed by the legislature for an analogous purpose.

During the preparation of the award, I asked the Company's counsel Shri Bose to have two calculations prepared in consultation with Shri Ram Sen or his representative, one on the basis of the effective economic life of machinery being the outer limit of 10 years for precision machinery and 16 2/3rd years for roughing machinery with multipliers arrived at on the average of the two schedules 1A of the Company, dated 31st May 1962 and the other dated 22nd May 1962, and reduced further by .75 up to 1951-52, by .55 from 1952-53 to 1955-56 and by .35 from 1956-57 to 1960-61. The other statement was to be prepared on the basis of the life of plant and machinery according to rule 8 of the Income Tax Rules, and of the multipliers arrived at as in connection with the first statement. For this second statement, plant and machinery which cannot be brought under any part of rule 8III(2) according to the description in the Company's paper exhibited must be placed under rule 8III(1) (vide orders No. 46, dated 13th December 1962 and No. 47, dated 15th December 1962).

A statement supposed to be as per order No. 46, dated 13th December 1962, was filed by the Company in duplicate on 28th December 1962 and one copy of it was handed over to Shri Ram Sen on the same day. Shri Ram Sen filed on 4th January 1963 a petition in reply stating his point of view in presence of a Company's representative Shri V. N. Khandelia. In the statement filed by the Company the multipliers have been taken to be those in the Company's first schedule 1A minus the decimal figures mentioned in order No. 47, dated 15th December 1962, but not the average of the figures in its first and second schedules 1A minus those decimal figures as directed in order No. 47. The statement based on the life of plant and machinery as per rule 8 of the Income Tax Rules, in pursuance of Order No. 47, has also not been filed. Under rule 8III(1) the percentage under the heading "General Rule" is 7, so as to make the life of machinery and plant coming within its purview 14 2/7 years or 15 years. Under rule 8III, N(5) and (6), for "Automatic or semi-automatic machine tools" and "precision machine tools", the percentage is 12, so as to make their life 8⅓ years or 9 years. The average life therefore of non-precision machines is two years less under rule 8 than the outer limit of that life as indicated in the evidence of Mr. Joyce; and that of precision machines one year less under rule 8 that the outer limit as indicated in the evidence of Mr. Joyce. The cost of rehabilitation therefore under rule 8 is found to be more than what it is under the outer limit of the life of the machines as indicated in the evidence of Mr. Joyce. Even there the two figures are likely to be fairly accurate index of the two points between which the cost or rehabilitation of plants and machinery for the year 1960-61 will lie. The figure of rehabilitation under rule 8 is shown in Table II in the Appendix and that according to the outer limit of the life indicated in the evidence of Mr. Joyce, in Table III in the appendix. In both of these tables, I have left out of account, the plants and machinery installed in 1960-61, for the simple reason that the question of their rehabilitation could not arise till 1961-62. In both again, I have left out of account machinery shown in the Company's schedule 1A as discarded or written off, up to 1957-58 first because I cannot fully rely on the Company's statement as to the machinery discarded or written off and secondly because there is no evidence to indicate that a substantial part of the machinery shown as discarded or written off really either needs being replaced at all or if it needed being replaced, has not been already replaced by new machinery purchased during the period from 1947-48 to 1958-59 as shown in Ext. 48 (pages 283-328) and also in 1960-61, as shown in column 3 of Ext. 43. The original cost, however, that is taken into account is the original cost minus the value of the machinery discarded or written off during the year. The non-precision machinery of the value of Rs. 2.17 lakhs, shown in Company's schedule 1A as having been installed between 1942-43 and 1946-47 has not been shown year by year, but the residuary life of the machinery installed in the first of these years is necessarily less than that of the machinery installed in the second and so on. It has had thus to be assumed that the machinery installed in each of these years was approximately of the same value and the entire amount of Rs. 2.17 lakhs has been distributed equaly over these five years, Rs. .434 being the value for each of these five years.

In Shri Ram Sen's petition of the 4th of January 1963 it is stated inter alia that the cost in 1959-60 of cranes, compressors, press machines, drilling machines and air-receivers which are not precision machines was about Rs. 60 lakhs and this cost was arbitrarily put into the precision category. These machines are certainly not precision machines by any standard, even though drilling machines may include multipurpose and special purpose drilling machines, as stated by Shri Khandelia and should not be classified as such. The Company's representative present, Shri V. L. Khandelia verified the figure and told me the amount was exactly Rs. 57.28 lakhs and Shri Ram Sen accepted it as correct (vide order No. 53, dated 4th January 1963).

In this connection, Shri Ram Sen points out that the Company in its first schedule 1A and also in its second schedule 1A showed the original cost of plant and machinery for the year 1959-60 to be Rs. 140.15 lakhs on the basis of its balance-sheet, Ext. 19, but this figure was inflated to Rs. (144.02+27.58) or Rs. 171.60 lakhs in the statement filed by the Company on 28th December 1962. The Company's representative Shri Khandelia merely says that this figure was compiled in the presence of the Union's representative from the exhibits in Court. That would only go to show that the figures in these exhibits are not altogether reliable and cannot be accepted in the face of the figure in the balance-sheet, Ext. 19.

The cost, therefore, of the precision machinery for the year 1959-60 should be Rs. (125.72+13.85—57.28) lakhs or Rs. 82.29 lakhs; and that of non-precision machinery for the year should be Rs. (.58+Rs. 57.28) lakhs or Rs. 57.86 lakhs. Tables II and III in the Appendix are prepared accordingly. According to Table II, the rehabilitation cost of plant and machinery for the year 1960-61 comes to Rs. 385.027 lakhs and according to Table III, it comes to Rs. 363.647 lakhs, the difference between the two figures being Rs. 21.380 lakhs only.

In addition the Company's schedule IC filed with its computation of the available surplus shows year by year the cost of type-writer, office machinery, electric fans, furniture and refrigerators from 1942-43 to 1960-61 to be Rs. 19.88 lakhs, but if the value of these items for the year 1960-61 be left out of account, as it should, it comes to (Rs. 19.88—9.75) lakhs or Rs. 10.13 lakhs. In Schedule IC, the Company has taken certain multipliers on the basis of Ext. 50, a statement of the rise in the index of prices; it has also taken the life of different items differently. But no evidence has been led about either the price or the life of these things. Consequently, though the Company is undoubtedly entitled under the bonus formula to a certain amount of the cost of their rehabilitation for the year, I am compelled to leave them out of account.

The total cost of rehabilitation of buildings and plant and machinery minus their breakdown value thus comes to Rs. 232.142 lakhs (vide Table I), plus Rs. 872.343 lakhs (vide Table II or III, the total rehabilitation cost under Tables II and III being the same) or Rs. 1,104.985 lakhs.

The year's cost of rehabilitation of buildings and plant and machinery is Rs. 11.97 lakhs (vide Table I) plus Rs. 385.027 lakhs under Table II i.e., Rs. 396.997 lakhs or Rs. 397 lakhs; the same under Table I and III is Rs. 375.62 lakhs.

The total depreciation available up to the end of 1960-61 is Rs. 3,84,91,947 (page 24 of Ext. 1) or Rs. 384.92 lakhs; the general reserve provided for the first time in 1960-61 was Rs. 50 lakhs, and the development rebate reserve is Rs. 75.51 lakhs (page 14 of Ext. 1) and not Rs. 135.51 lakhs as Shri Ram Sen in his application of 4th January 1963 states. The reserves for contingencies and the taxation reserve earmarked for special purposes are not to be taken into account here. The total amount available for rehabilitation thus comes to Rs. (384.92+50+75.51) lakhs, i.e., Rs. 410.43 lakhs. It is to be distributed over the total cost of rehabilitation, i.e., Rs. 1104.985 lakhs and proportionately the amount available from these sources for meeting the years's cost of rehabilitation will be Rs. 139.52 lakhs, if the year's total cost of rehabilitation be taken to be Rs. 375.62 lakhs and Rs. 149.45 lakhs if the year's total cost of rehabilitation be taken to be Rs. 397 lakhs. In the first case, the vear's cost of rehabilitation to be met from the amount available under the calculation, i.e., Rs. 87.18 lakhs is Rs. 236.10 lakhs and in the second case it is Rs. 247.55 lakhs. In either case, therefore, the vear's cost of rehabilitation of buildings and plant and machinery far exceeds the amount found already to be available under the bonus formula, so that there is no surplus left for distribution to the workmen as bonus under that formula.

It is pertinent to refer here to the Company's evidence relating to its negotiations for a foreign loan with the permission of the Government of India. Exhibit 32 is a letter, dated 14th July 1960, from Mr. Rowell of Hindusthan Motors Ltd. to the Deputy Secretary, Government of India. Out of the foreign exchange of Rs. 774 lakhs asked for in this letter Rs. 410 lakhs represent the cost of replacement. Exhibit 33 is an earlier letter from Shri Churiwala to the Deputy Secretary on the same subject. Exhibit 52 is another letter, dated 26th July 1961, from Mr. Rowell to the senior Industrial Adviser to the Government of India on the same subject and Ext. 53 is the permission of the Government of India, dated 16th February 1962, for carrying on the negotiations for the loan directly with the Development Loan Fund. This correspondence shows first that the Company is badly in need of its plant and machinery being replaced and secondly that it is not in a position to finance its replacement programme from its own available funds. To that extent, therefore, the correspondence lends a certain amount of support to the Company's claim for rehabilitation, though it seems to have greatly inflated this claims. Within the four corners of the Full Bench Formula, therefore, the workmen are not entitled to any bonus for 1960-61 and I am bound in law not to go beyond that formula by the decisions of the Supreme Court, particularly in the A.C.S. case in which Their Lordships considered and rejected the suggestion of a Tribunal in Bombay that the Full Bench formula stood in need of revision. My award accordingly must be that the workmen are not entitled to any bonus for the year 1960-61.

Before however I conclude I think I shall be failing in my duty as a Judge, entrusted with the duty of dispensing social justice, if I do not say that this strikes me as one of the few cases where the workmen deserve from the amount of gross profits earned during the year a reasonable bonus as a partial adjustment of the difference between their actual wages and what should be their living wages, and yet under the Full Bench formula, as applied by me on such materials as I could properly use, they are entitled to no such bonus. The item of prior charges which is responsible for this is the heavy one of rehabilitation cost. I have tried to bring down what strikes me as an inflated claim on the part of the Company within reasonable limits but even after I have done so, the figure is large enough to defeat the workmen's claim for a bonus for 1960-61. For some years to come, this figure is not likely to be low enough to permit any available surplus under the Full Bench formula and if the foreign loan in process of negotiation materialises any improvement in production for any new machinery may be more than off-set by the annual cost of rehabilitation of that new machinery and a substantial part of the Company's income will have to be earmarked for servicing this loan, so as to lower the gross profits to a figure which, though sufficient for some return on the capital invested, may be insufficient for any bonus to the workmen. In other words, for some years to come, the workmen can hardly look forward to any bonus. Yet, the statements filed by the Company under my directions during arguments on 24th November 1962, and marked A for identification show first that the number of cars produced increased in 1960-61 to 10,344 from 2,782 in 1951-52, that of trucks to 6,726 in 1960-61 from 1,343 in 1952 and the value of cars and trucks produced in 1960-61 rose to Rs. 28,67,25,778 from Rs. 4,39,47,336 in 1951-52. The number of permanent workmen increased in 1960-61 to 4654 from 1133 in 1952-53. The casual or temporary workmen also increased from 350 in earlier years to 864 in 1960-61 and during the last three years, work is said to have been going on in three shifts. The gross profits for the year 1960-61, as alredy stated, rose to Rs. 2,49,71,127. The dividend for the year on ordinary shares was paid at 12 per cent. and that for previous year was paid at 9 per cent. on the gross profits of Rs. 1,37,10,049. The total capital invested in ordinary and preference shares is Rs. 8,17,61,850. The gross profits, therefore, in 1959-60 come to nearly 17 per cent. of the capital outlay and in 1960-61 to little above 30 per cent. That this improvement in the gross profits was due largely to the efforts of the workmen seems to be fairly obvious from the figures given. The prospect of a heavy rehabilitation cost, while it enables the Company under the Full Bench formula to defeat the workmen's claim for a bonus does not appear, however, to have deferred it from the payment to its ordinary shareholders of a substantial bonus of 9 per cent. in 1959-60 and 12 per cent. in 1960-61. The fact that in earlier years when the Company either ran at a loss or made only nominal profits, the shareholders were not either paid any dividend at all or paid at nominal rates only may well be set off against the fact that the workmen did not earn any bonus during those years. What however, happened in 1959-60 and again in 1960-61 when the Company earned a substantial gross profits, as compared to its capital outlay, is in my opinion definitely detrimental to industrial peace. The strike over the workmen's unfulfilled expectation of a bonus which led to this reference appears to be a sufficient justification of this view. The main driving force, behind this strike must have been the workmen's sense of frustration, born of the management's refusal to declare a profit bonus even in years of reasonable prosperity till 1959-60 and 1960-61. The management's refusal to concede the workmen's demand for a bonus again may have been due to a genuine belief on its part that under the Full Bench formula no such bonus is payable at all for the year. This makes it fairly clear that the Full Bench formula which it works reasonably well in most cases does not do so in certain cases where the annual cost of rehabilitation is too large to leave any surplus for distribution to the workmen as bonus.

In such exceptional cases, the formula far from ensuring industrial peace seems rather to ieopardise it. If I am correct, it is probably time for second thoughts in the matter. What requires specific consideration is not whether the Full Bench formula which works reasonably well in ordinary cases needs a general revision but whether it should continue to govern all types of cases of profit bonus or it should be allowed to be suitably modified or supplemented by Tribunals so as to enable them to dispense what they consider to be social justice in any particular case, specially where the comparatively short economically useful life of plant and machinery makes their annual rehabilitation cost too large to leave any surplus for distribution to the workmen as bonus even in a year of reasonable prosperity.

The rise in index for the last five months was mainly due to rise in prices of rice, paddy, sugar, mustard oil, some items of vegetables and occasional fluctuation in prices of some clothing articles including blanket.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

Public Health

NOTIFICATION

No. P.H./442/2R-7/63.—1st February 1963.—Whereas the Governor is satisfied that the district of Burdwan excluding the municipal areas is threatened with an outbreak of small-pox;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by section 2 of the Epidemic Diseases Act, 1897 (III of 1897), the Governor is pleased to prescribe the following temporary regulations for the prevention and control of small-pox and for the medical inspection, isolation, observation and surveillance of persons suffering from, or suspected of being infected with, small-pox in the said district for a period of six months:—

TEMPORARY REGULATIONS FOR THE PREVENTION AND CONTROL OF SMALL-POX.

1. In these regulations unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "Health Officer" means the Health Officer of the district appointed by the State Government, the Chief Medical Officer of Health of the district, or the Subdivisional Health Officer of any of the subdivisions of the district within their respective subdivisions;

(b) "Sanitary Inspector" means a Sanitary Inspector appointed by the State Government;

(c) "Small Pox" means any disease accompanied by an eruption of vesicles or pustules;

(d) "Patient" means a person suffering from or suspected to be suffering from small-pox;

(e) "Medical practitioner" means any person practising the medical profession.

Notices

2. If in any case the Health Officer considers that the issue of a notice under these regulations is likely to lead to such an amount of delay as might facilitate the spread of small-pox he may forthwith take such steps as he may think fit for carrying out the work, and shall thereafter, as soon as possible, issue a notice on the person concerned stating the reasons why such work has been carried out.

3. If any measure which the Health Officer has by a notice issued under these regulations, required to be carried out, be not carried out to his satisfaction within the time stated in the notice the Health Officer shall be entitled to carry out the measure.

Costs and compensation

4. (1) All expenses incurred in carrying out any work in pursuance of an order issued under these regulations shall be paid by the State Government except in any case where the order directs a person to carry out any work in relation to property in his possession, in which case the expenses shall be paid by such person:

Provided that where the conditions which led the Health Officer to pass such an order, are not attributable to any act or default of the person in possession of the property, the State Government may pay to such person the whole or a part of the expenses incurred by him in carrying out the order.

(2) The State Government may recover all expenses incurred by the Health Officer in carrying out the measure under regulation 3 from the person or persons to whom the notice was originally issued.

5. The State Government shall pay adequate compensation to any person who has sustained substantial loss or damage by reason of anything done under these regulations:

Provided that no person shall receive any compensation for anything done or suffered under these regulations if he has failed to carry out an order issued under these regulations. He shall not direct the patient to be removed from the house unless it is, in his opinion, impossible to make proper arrangements for his isolation therein within the time specified in the order and to the satisfaction of the Health Officer.

Location of disease and any such investigation, legal proceeding or remedy may be instituted, continued or enforced, and any such penalty, forfeiture, or punishment may be imposed as if this Act had not been passed.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Experience of the operation of the Bengal Money-lenders Act, 1940, during the last two decades suggests that in order to protect the borrower more effectively from exploitation by unscrupulous money-lenders it is necessary to enlarge the scope of the Act, to strengthen the safeguards against the malpractices and machinations resorted to by certain money-lenders as well as to amend the Act in some other respects.

It is, accordingly, proposed to bring within the ambit of the Bengal Money-lenders Act transactions such as deposit of money or other property, loans to or by a registered society, loans to purchase or to build a house within Calcutta or any other municipal area and commercial loans up to Rs. 10,000. These are outside the scope of the present Act.

The definition of "Bank" in the Act has been modified in consonance with the provisions of the Banking Companies Act, 1949.

For more effective supervision of money-lenders and for regulation and control of money-lending in accordance with the statutory provisions it is proposed to appoint an Inspecting staff.

The rupee has depreciated considerably since the passing of the Bengal Money-lenders Act, 1940. It is proposed to raise the rate of interest from 8 per cent. simple to 10 per cent. simple on secured loans and from 10 per cent. simple to 12½ per cent. simple on unsecured loans. It is also proposed to prohibit compound interest.

The discrimination between pre-Act loans and post-Act loans regarding payment of interest in section 31 of the Act is proposed to be abolished; and section 36 is being amended in the light of judicial decisions on the subject.

It is also proposed to relax the provisions of the proviso to section 58(c) of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, on mortgage by conditional sale in the case of a loan against mortgage to give an opportunity to a borrower to prove that the transaction was in substance a mortgage by conditional sale.

The borrower is sometimes compelled by circumstances to agree to an inflated amount being shown as the principal in the instrument creating the loan. As section 92 of the Indian Evidence Act is a bar to oral evidence to show that the principal advance is different from that stated in the instrument, the borrower is helpless in fighting the machinations of the money-lenders. It is proposed to enact provisions making oral evidence admissible in any suit or criminal proceedings instituted under the Bengal Money-lenders Act.

In order to avoid multiplicity of statutes it is proposed to repeal the Usury Laws Repeal Act, 1855 and the Bengal Money-lenders Act, 1933, fully, and the Usurious Loans Act, 1918, partially.

The Bill has been drawn up to legislate for such purposes as are indicated above.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM.

The Bill itself does not make any expenditure obligatory. So no estimate is possible. If and when appointments of Inspecting staff are made, there will be expenditure after necessary provision is made in the budget.

NOTIFICATION

No. 497L.—4th February, 1963. — The Governor aving been pleased to order, under rule 66 of the Rules of Procedure and Conduct of Business in the West Bengal Legislative Assembly, the publication of the following Bill, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons which accompanies it, in the Calcutta Gazette, the Bill and the Statement of Objects and Reasons are accordingly hereby published for general information :—

THE COURT-FEES (WEST BENGAL AMENDMENT) BILL, 1963.

A

BILL

to amend the Court-fees Act, 1870, in its application to West Bengal.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Court-fees Act, 1870, in its application to West Bengal, for the purposes and in the manner hereinafter appearing; 7 of 1870

It is hereby enacted in the Fourteenth Year of the Republic of India, by the Legislature of West Bengal, as follows :—

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Court-fees (West Bengal Amendment) Act, 1963.

(2) It extends to the whole of West Bengal.

Application of the Act.

2. The Court-fees Act, 1870 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), shall, in its application to West Bengal, be amended in the manner hereinafter provided.

Amendment of section 7 of Act 7 of 1870.

3. In section 7 of the said Act,—

(1) in clause v, after the words "In suits for possession of land, buildings or gardens", the words ", not being suits referred to in clause vA," shall be inserted;

(2) after clause v, the following clause shall be inserted, namely :—

vA. In a suit for recovery of possession of immovable property from—

(a) a trespasser, where no declaration of title to the property is either prayed for or necessary for disposal of the suit —according to the amount at

The Court-fees (West Bengal Amendment) Bill, 1963.

(Clause 4.)

(b) a licensee upon revocation or termination of his license,—

(i) where a license fee is payable by the licensee in respect of the immovable property to which the suit refers, according to the amount of the license fee of the immovable property payable for the year next before the date of presenting the plaint, or

(ii) where no such license fee is payable by the licensee, according to the amount at which the relief sought is valued in the plaint subject to the provisions of section 8C:".

Amendment of Schedule I.

4. In Schedule I to the said Act, article 2 shall be omitted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

It has been held by a Special Bench of the High Court, Calcutta, in a recent case that while an owner wanting to evict a licensee in respect of immovable property has to pay a larger amount of court-fees on the basis of the value of the property under section 7(v) of the Court-fees Act, a landlord wanting to evict a tenant has to pay a smaller amount of court-fees, on the basis of the annual rent payable for the year next preceding the suit under section 7(vi)(c) of the Act. In order to remove this anomaly, it is proposed to amend the Act so as to enable the owner in a suit against a licensee to pay court-fees according to the amount of license fee, or, according to the amount at which the relief sought for is valued, when no license fee is payable.

Further, to give relief to an owner of immovable property, who wants to sue merely for recovery of possession against a trespasser, by enabling him to pay court-fees on the basis of his own valuation, and not on the basis of the value of the property, as at present, it is proposed to insert a new provision.

As a consequence of the proposed provision relating to suits against trespassers, article 2 of Schedule I of the Court-fees Act is proposed to be deleted.

GOVERNMENT OF WEST BENGAL

DEPARTMENT OF LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT AND PANCHAYATS

RESOLUTION

No. 464/M3L-14/60. — 5th February 1963. — The administration of the Bankura municipality in the district of Bankura has been engaging the attention of Government for some time past. The municipality was inspected by the Additional District Magistrate, Bankura, in September last and his report reveals an extremely unsatisfactory position in regard to the general financial position of the municipality. The following are some of the instances of incompetency and default shown by the commissioners of the municipality in the performance of their duties:—

(1) The municipal commissioners have shown utter incompetency by mismanagement of the finances of the municipality and unreal budgetting. The outstanding liabilities of the municipality for the years 1960-61 and 1961-62 were as high as Rs. 1,41,232 and Rs. 1,40,738, respectively, in addition to an outstanding loan of over Rs. 2 lakhs. The municipal commissioners have allowed a sum of nearly Rs. 1½ lakhs to remain outstanding on account of arrear electric charges payable to the West Bengal Power Supply Co. Ltd., although they have been receiving electric energy from the said Company for their Waterworks and street lighting. The present financial position of the municipality is such that there is no prospect of payment of these outstanding liabilities unless the financial condition is substantially improved. The municipality is practically in a state of bankruptcy.

(2) The Health Officer of the municipality who should render fulltime services to the municipality has taken up part-time employment elsewhere without the permission of the municipal commissioners. This indicates that the municipal commissioners have failed to control the Health Officer and thereby shown their incompetency.

(3) The municipal commissioners have failed to maintain the municipal roads in a proper condition and have also failed to avail of the financial assistance offered by Government under the Municipal Development Scheme for this purpose.

(4) The closing balances at the end of 1959-60, 1960-61 and 1961-62 were Rs. 12,888, Rs. 22,670 and Rs. 25,238, respectively which were much below the prescribed minimum of two months' monthly recurring expenditure. The commissioners of the municipality have thus persistently made default in maintaining the statutory minimum closing balance prescribed under rule 28 of the Municipal Account Rules.

(5) The municipal commissioners have taken recourse to sale of roadside lands to meet current expenditure of the municipality. This shows municipality's desperate financial position and may be regarded as an instance of abuse of power.

2. After a very careful consideration, Government have come to the conclusion that the commissioners of the Bankura municipality have shown their incompetency to perform and have persistently made default in the performance of duties imposed on them under the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932, and the rules framed thereunder relating to the administration of the said municipality and that the present state of affairs cannot be allowed to continue without serious detriment to the interests of the inhabitants of the municipality.

3. In exercise of the power conferred by sub-section (1) of section 553 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932 (Bengal Act XV of 1932), the Governor is, therefore, pleased to declare commissioners of the Bankura municipality to be incompetent and in default and to supersede them for a period of two years, with effect from 7th February 1963.

Ordered that this resolution be published in the "Calcutta Gazette".

By order of the Governor,

A. K. DATTA,
Jt. Secy. to the Govt. of West Bengal.

NOTIFICATION

No. 465/M3L-14/60. — 5th February 1963. — In exercise of the power conferred by clause (bb) of sub-section (1) of section 554 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932 (Bengal Act XV of 1932), hereinafter referred to as the said Act, the Governor is pleased to direct that all the powers and duties which may, under the provisions of the said Act or any other Act or any Ordinance or any Regulation or any rule, by-law, order, notification, or subsidiary legislation made under the provision of the said Act or such other Act or such Ordinance or such Regulation, be exercised and performed by the Chairman and the commissioners, whether at a meeting or otherwise, of the Bankura municipality who have been superseded by resolution No. 464/M3L-14/60, dated the 5th February 1953, shall be exercised and performed by Shri Nitish Chandra Mukherjee, Deputy Maigstrate, Bankura, in addition to his own duties, with effect from 7th February 1963, until further orders.
